President Will Emphasize U.S. Determination

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko will discuss the Berlin crisis with President Kennedy here Thursday before returning to Moscow to report to Premier Khrushchev.

Kennedy reportedly plans to emphasize to Gromyko United States determination to defend West Berlin and its access routes against expected new Communist pressures — and to tell him the Nov. 6 congressional elections will make absolutely no difference in U.S. policy.

Must Convince Khrushchev

The administration has been attempting to convince Khrushchev of the danger of nuclear war if Khrushchev presses too hard later this year in attempting to force the Western powers out of Berlin.

West German Foreign Minister Gerhard Schroeder is conferring here now with Secretary of State Dean Rusk on what response the West should make to challenges the Soviets and East Germans present.

And U.S. Ambassador Foy D. Kohler had a three-hour conference in Moscow Tuesday with Khrushchev, his first official call on the Soviet premier. There has been no announced report on what they discussed.

Bonn Has Confidence In U. S.

Schroeder told a luncheon meeting of newsmen his government has "unlimited confidence" in determination of the United States not to permit the Soviet Union "to violate the freedom of the people of Berlin."

Schroeder and Rusk began their talks Sunday. The West German leader is expected to confer with Kennedy before ending his Washington consultations Wednesday.

It is understood that Rusk and Schroeder are substantially agreed the Western powers cannot permit any deterioration of their Berlin position or any new gains for the Soviets by what diplomats call "salami tactics" — slicing away the Western position a little at a time.

Grand Jury Charges S&L Case Payoffs

Ala. Rep. Boykin Also Accused Of Selling Influence

BALTIMORE (AP)—Two Democratic congressmen, Thomas F. Johnson of Maryland and Frank W. Boykin of Alabama, were indicted Tuesday on charges of receiving compensation for interceding in behalf of an accused mail fraud operator.

A special federal grand jury sitting since last December returned the indictments charging a conspiracy in behalf of J. Kenneth Edlin, 63, of Miami.

Edlin was released last week from the federal institution at Tallahassee, Fla., after serving five months of a six-month sentence in connection with operation of savings and loan associations in Maryland.

Johnson, 53, is a candidate for re-election to his third term in the general election three weeks from Tuesday. Boykin, 77, lost out May 29 in a primary bid for his 15th term.

Johnson is running in the 1st District, on Maryland's Eastern Shore, in the Nov. 6 general election. Boykin's district in Alabama also was the 1st.

Thursday has been proclaimed "Frank Boykin Day" in Mobile and downtown merchants had planned a $25 dinner for him that night. More than 500 had been expected. Boykin was scheduled to receive a "Mobile Citizens Award" and scroll signed by more than 2,000 residents of the Alabama city.

News "Surprise" To Boykin

Boykin was reached by a reporter for the Washington Post moments before he boarded a commercial plane at Washington for a flight to Mobile, Ala. He said he had "been before the grand jury voluntarily last week."

He said he learned of his indictment from a newspaper reporter.

"You'd have thought," he said, "they (Justice Department officials) would have told that to me first. The news comes to me as a complete surprise. No, I don't know about it at all."

Boykin said he would return for the arraignment and, he said, "the sooner the better."

"I'm anxious for the trial to come real quick," he added. "I have never had a nickel's worth of business with the savings and loans in my life."

William L. Robinson, 37, of Miami was indicted as a conspirator along with the U.S. representatives and Edlin. Robinson was identified as legal adviser and vice president of First Continental Savings and Loan Association of Chevy Chase, Md.

U.S. District Judge Edward S. Northrop set bail at $10,000 each at the request of Joseph S. Tydings, district attorney. Tydings immediately began telephoning the defendants to arrange for posting.

All four were charged with conspiring to defraud the United States of the right to have affairs of the Department of Justice conducted without fraud, undue pressure and influence and also for congressmen to perform their official duties uninfluenced by payment of money.

75 Overt Actions Listed

Johnson was named as defendant alone in seven counts for alledgedly receiving $17,550 specifically for interceding with the Department of Justice to have Edlin's trial postponed and the indictment eventually dismissed.

The other three were named as aiding and abetting Johnson. In 75 listed overt actions tending to show conspiracy, Johnson also was listed as receiving $7,368 and a lease at $200 a month by First Continental for space in his Snow Hill law office.

The acts also listed $250,000 paid to Tensaw Land and Timber Company, which the indictment charged Boykin controls.

Third U.S. Aircraft Downed In Viet Nam

Three Killed In Spotter Plane Crash

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Another American spotter plane went down Tuesday in South Viet Nam's rugged central highlands where Viet Cong ground gunners earlier had shot down two U.S. planes. Three American fliers died in one plane supporting an intensive government raid.

It was not known whether the third plane fell victim to Communist fire.

The American pilot of the third plane was reported injured.

In ground action, an American major was wounded severely in an explosion.

The toll of Americans killed in action in Viet Nam has reached 24.

Air Force Capt. Herbert W. Booth, the pilot, of Sarasota, Fla.

Army Capt. Terry D. Cordell, of Sanford, Fla.

Air Force T. Sgt. Richard L. Fox, of Estero, Fla.

They went down in the jungle with their spotter plane.

The action between government troops and guerrillas for the last four days has been centered about 220 miles north of this city.

The Communists are believed to have moved an antiaircraft team into the area.

The second spotter plane—third victim in two days—crashed north of Pleiku.

The pilot was reported taken to a hospital in the coastal city of Nha Trang.

The American major and three Vietnamese troops wounded in an explosion near Quang Ngai were flown to the same hospital.

A big U.S. Army H21 helicopter, one of several that went down due to mechanical trouble Monday, was destroyed deliberately Tuesday. Repairs would have taken too long, it was reported.

Aerial A-Shot Rescheduled After Failure

HONOLULU (UPI)—The United States announced Tuesday it will attempt another high altitude nuclear explosion this weekend following an unsuccessful shot that dropped fragments of radioactive debris back on Johnston Island.

Joint Task Force 8 said no injuries were reported and none was anticipated as the result of the deliberate destruction of a Thor rocket and its nuclear payload moments after it was launched Monday night.

It was the fourth failure in five U.S. attempts this year to explode a nuclear device high over the Pacific. The four were destroyed without a nuclear blast, either on the launching pad or in flight after mechanical defects developed.

Another low-yield, high-altitude nuclear test was scheduled Friday night or early Saturday. It is to be detonated at an altitude of tens of kilometers (a kilometer is five-eighths of a mile) and the flash will be visible to Hawaii.

If the shot is not held during the five hour period beginning at 9:30 p.m. Oct. 19 (3:30 p.m. EDT Saturday), it will be postponed.

Monday night's explosion was expected to take place at an altitude of between 30 and 40 miles. The Atlas lifted off the pad on the concrete-covered islet 800 miles southwest of Honolulu at 9:15 p.m. HST (3:15 a.m. Tuesday EDT.)

Moments later, trouble developed in the rocket and the task force safety officer elected to destroy it and its nuclear device.

Congo Truce Hailed As Step Toward Unity

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The United States and Britain welcomed a cease-fire agreement signed Tuesday between Katangan and Congolese armed forces as a step toward implementation of Acting Secretary - General U Thant's unity plan for the Congo.

U.N. sources close to Thant said the agreement signed in Elisabethville, capital of secessionist Katanga Province, was an encouraging sign. But they cautioned also against making too much out of it at this stage.

The agreement provides for a freezing of troop movements by the central Congolese army and the Kantangan gendarmerie of President Moise Tshombe pending arrangements for their integration.

Under the agreement both sides will receive medical supplies, fuel and food supplies under U.N. guarantee. It calls also for an exchange of prisoners. It ends year-old sporadic hostilities in northern Katanga that were a major source of friction in the Congo.

Still to be worked out is a means of obtaining a pledge of allegiance by the Katangan gendarmerie to the Conglese army. U.N. military observers on the scene said they were hopeful this could be put on the dotted line Wednesday.

A spokesman for the U.S. delegation hailed the agreement as a hopeful development that might pave the way for the long-sought unification of the Congo. He noted that there is still a long way to go before that is achieved.

British reaction was similar. Both the United States and Britain along with Belgium support Thant's plan for Congo unity.

Tax Revamping Bill Signed By Kennedy

Chief Executive Praises Measure

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy Tuesday signed the trimmed down tax revision bill and praised its $1 billion a year tax credit as a stimulant for business.

"This is an important bill, one possessing many desirable features which will stimulate the economy and provide a greater measure of fairness in our tax system," the President said in a statement.

The bill, which had a stormy course through Congress, includes the administration's plan for a tax incentive for business to spur investments in new machinery and equipment, and a tightening of rules governing expense account spending.

The far-ranging legislation also closes a number of existing tax loopholes, but fails to carry Kennedy's original request for a 20 per cent withholding tax on income from dividends and interest.

Pointing to the investment credit, he said that it, in combination with the new depreciation formulas, would stimulate purchase of machinery and equipment "and give American firms tax treatment which compares favorably with their competitors in world markets."

Kennedy said the measure also included several provisions to reduce tax avoidance and thus would make the distribution of tax burdens more fair and increase tax revenue from these sources.

He noted that the bill did not include his recommendation for the withholding levies, but said it did provide new interest and dividend reporting requirements which would help bring greater compliance among taxpayers as the Internal Revenue Service installs additional automatic data-processing equipment.

17 Persons Hurt In Boat Explosion

DALLAS (UPI) — A pleasure boat filled with visitors to the State Fair of Texas exploded and broke into flames Tuesday night on a lagoon at Fair Park in Dallas. Seventeen persons were injured.

Federal Judge Calvin Chesnut Dies At Age 89

BALTIMORE (AP) — Federal Judge W. Calvin Chesnut, who at 89 was one of the oldest active jurists in the country, died Tuesday night.

Death came as he took his usual nap before dinner. Chesnut was a veteran of 31 years on the U.S. District Court bench in Baltimore.

In 1953—at the age of 80—Chesnut asked President Eisenhower for permission to give up full-time duty but retain full judicial authority.

He remained active in the court until his death. Earlier this year when other federal judges and prosecutors from the 4th Judicial District were attending a meeting in Richmond, Va., Chesnut was hearing cases in his court room.

Chesnut was appointed a federal judge in 1931, and one of his first acts was the sentencing of a great-grandson of Thomas Johnson, first governor of Maryland, to jail on a bootlegging charge. That was in Cumberland on May 18, 1931.

Chesnut was admitted to the bar in 1893.

Funeral services will be held Thursday at 11 a. m. (EDT) from St. David's Episcopal Church here. Burial will be in Druid Ridge Cemetery.

Schirra Family Is Entertained At White House

WASHINGTON (AP)—In a homey, relaxed fashion, President Kennedy played host in his office Tuesday to Cmdr. Walter M. Schirra Jr., the six-orbit astronaut's pretty blonde wife and their two red-haired children.

The President, sitting in his rocking chair, swapped small talk with the youngsters and discussed with the 39-year-old commander his nine-hour space flight as the four Schirras sat on a white sofa.

This was the windup of the glory days Schirra has been enjoying since his whirl around the earth two weeks ago. It's back to work now.

But the quiet presidential welcome for Schirra, whose feat surpassed all previous U.S. man-in-space efforts, was in contrast to the excitement of the official visits to the national capital of his fellow space travelers. The fanfare has been reduced sharply as space flight grows in reality.

The Schirras came here for the brief White House visit and for the astronaut to receive the Navy's astronaut wings at the Pentagon from Secretary of the Navy Fred Korth.

Schirra enjoyed celebrations in Honolulu and in Houston, Tex., where he now lives and got a wild, confetti ride through a string of towns in his native New Jersey on Monday.

Twelve-year-old Walter M. Schirra III left the White House with a presidential tieclip as a gift. His sister, Suzanne, 5, got a new chain bracelet.

At the start of the visit, Suzanne looked shyly at Kennedy and said, "I know who you are." The President asked her if she watched her father's space flight and she nodded yes. Kennedy asked her age and she held up five fingers of her left hand.

At one point, Kennedy asked Suzanne if she had seen the ponies kept at the White House for the two Kennedy children. Suzanne shook her head, no. The President took her and the other Schirras out to see the ponies.

Castro Blasts U.S. In Greeting Algeria Leader

HAVANA (UPI)—Algerian Premier Ahmed Ben Bella arrived Tuesday for a 24-hour state visit and Premier Fidel Castro welcomed him with a speech heaping abuse on the United States.

Castro told the Algerian neutralist, a guest of President Kennedy at the White House only 24 hours earlier, that his visit to Cuba in the face of "Yankee imperialist hostility" was an act of courage and a "gesture we shall never forget."

Castro flayed the United States in the bitterest terms he has used since he seized power in Cuba in 1959 in his brief speech at the airport welcoming the Algerian. The Cuban premier turned out his entire cabinet and thousands of workers mustered specially for the occasion to provide Ben Bella with a bigger welcome in Cuba than he received on his arrival in the United States.

Ben Bella replied in French with a high personal tribute for Castro and his revolution. Every Algerian, he said, "knows, has lived and admired" the various phases of the Castro revolution, including its "extraordinary advances and progress in the face of the maneuvers of the enemy forces . . ."

Storm-Hit Oregon Gets Federal Help

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy Tuesday authorized the immediate allocation of $1 million in federal funds to assist areas of Oregon hit by severe storms late last week.

In a message to Gov. Mark O. Hatfield of Oregon, Kennedy said he had declared Oregon a "major disaster" area qualifying it for assistance from the Office of Emergency Planning.

The President authorized the funds for Oregon at Hatfield's request. He extended his "sympathy to all the persons in your state affected by this severe storm."

Negro Coed Quits U. Of Va. Branch

MARTINSVILLE, Va. (UPI)—A Negro coed who breached the color line at a branch college of the University of Virginia abruptly withdrew Tuesday after attending classes for only one day.

University officials said the girl, 17-year-old Hazel Ruth Adams, wrote a letter of withdrawal in which she said she discovered after enrolling that classes she had been taking at Virginia State were better for her course of study. Virginia State is located at Petersburg and is an all-Negro school.

Miss Adams, seeking a degree in commerce, was admitted to the university's Patrick Henry branch here after she charged in federal court that she had been barred because of her race. The suit was dropped after the university denied the charge and agreed to admit her, although she was late in registering.

"Ella" Gains Strength; Florida Coast Warned

MIAMI (UPI) —Tropical storm Ella built to near - hurricane strength Tuesday and residents of the southeast Florida coast were warned to be ready to take "quick precautions" Wednesday morning.

The area immediately endangered was between Palm Beach and Daytona Beach. The U.S. missile test center at Cape Canaveral is centered in the danger zone.

The Miami Weather Bureau said Ella's highest winds were between 60 and 70 m.p.h. in gusts. The storm's center was located about 350 miles due east of Palm Beach, moving at 8 m.p.h. on a course between west and west-northwest.

Forecasters would not pinpoint a possible spot where the storm might move inland, but advised residents along the South Atlantic Coast to watch for further advisories.

"All persons and interests along the Florida coast from Palm Beach to Daytona Beach should be ready to take quick precautions tomorrow morning if it should become necessary to issue hurricane warnings for portions of this area," the weather bureau said.

A 6 p.m. EDT Miami Weather Bureau advisory located Ella, fifth tropical storm of the season, about 350 miles east of Palm Beach and 150 miles east of Great Abaco Islands in the Bahamas.

"Slow intensification is expected to continue with Ella reaching hurricane intensity tonight," the advisory said.

GOP Leaders Call Cuba No. 1 Issue Of Campaign

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Republican leaders Tuesday proclaimed Cuba the No. 1 issue of the congressional campaign and charged the Kennedy administration with "tragic irresolution" in dealing with it.

Rep. William E. Miller, R-N.Y., Republican national chairman; Chairman Barry M. Goldwater, R-Ariz., of the GOP Senatorial Campaign Committee, and Chairman Bob Wilson, R-Calif., of the Republican Congressional Campaign Committee, made the charges in a joint statement issued by the GOP National Committee.

It brought an immediate counterblast from Democratic National Chairman John M. Bailey, who said the Republicans need reminding that Fidel Castro "took power in Cuba in 1958 — during the Republican administration."

"I would suggest," Bailey said in a statement, "that national security problems be left to those with the competence and knowledge to deal with them."

The GOP statement said "administration spokesmen are avoiding the dominant issue of the 1962 campaign.

"If we were asked to state the issue in one word, that word would be Cuba—symbol of the tragic irresolution of the administration."

The three GOP leaders said "past mistakes toward Cuba could be forgotten if the administration now showed itself willing to face reality." But, they said, "there is little evidence of willingness to recognize the developing danger and to move resolutely to cope with it."

Moon Shot Postponed For At Least Month

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — U. S. scientists Tuesday night postponed their Ranger-5 shot at the moon for at least a month because of the threat of tropical storm Ella.

The shot, which had been set for 11:20 a.m. EDT Wednesday, was called off following a hurriedly called meeting of scientists and technicians at Cape Canaveral Tuesday night.

The federal space agency's official announcement said the shot was "postponed for the month of October due to predicted adverse weather conditions." It was reported that the moon would not be back in proper position for another attempt until about the middle of November.

This was the windup of the glory days Schirra has been enjoying since his whirl around the earth two weeks ago. It's back to work now.

But the quiet presidential welcome for Schirra, whose feat surpassed all previous U.S. man-in-space efforts, was in contrast to the excitement of the official visits to the national capital of his fellow space travelers. The fanfare has been reduced sharply as space flight grows in reality.

The Schirras came here for the brief White House visit and for the astronaut to receive the Navy's astronaut wings at the Pentagon from Secretary of the Navy Fred Korth.

Schirra enjoyed celebrations in Honolulu and in Houston, Tex., where he now lives and got a wild, confetti ride through a string of towns in his native New Jersey on Monday.

Twelve-year-old Walter M. Schirra III left the White House with a presidential tieclip as a gift. His sister, Suzanne, 5, got a new chain bracelet.

At the start of the visit, Suzanne looked shyly at Kennedy and said, "I know who you are." The President asked her if she watched her father's space flight and she nodded yes. Kennedy asked her age and she held up five fingers of her left hand.

At one point, Kennedy asked Suzanne if she had seen the ponies kept at the White House for the two Kennedy children. Suzanne shook her head, no. The President took her and the other Schirras out to see the ponies.

Castro Blasts U.S. In Greeting Algeria Leader

HAVANA (UPI)—Algerian Premier Ahmed Ben Bella arrived Tuesday for a 24-hour state visit and Premier Fidel Castro welcomed him with a speech heaping abuse on the United States.

Castro told the Algerian neutralist, a guest of President Kennedy at the White House only 24 hours earlier, that his visit to Cuba in the face of "Yankee imperialist hostility" was an act of courage and a "gesture we shall never forget."

Castro flayed the United States in the bitterest terms he has used since he seized power in Cuba in 1959 in his brief speech at the airport welcoming the Algerian. The Cuban premier turned out his entire cabinet and thousands of workers mustered specially for the occasion to provide Ben Bella with a bigger welcome in Cuba than he received on his arrival in the United States.

Ben Bella replied in French with a high personal tribute for Castro and his revolution. Every Algerian, he said, "knows, has lived and admired" the various phases of the Castro revolution, including its "extraordinary advances and progress in the face of the maneuvers of the enemy forces . . ."

Negro Coed Quits U. Of Va. Branch

MARTINSVILLE, Va. (UPI)—A Negro coed who breached the color line at a branch college of the University of Virginia abruptly withdrew Tuesday after attending classes for only one day.

University officials said the girl, 17-year-old Hazel Ruth Adams, wrote a letter of withdrawal in which she said she discovered after enrolling that classes she had been taking at Virginia State were better for her course of study. Virginia State is located at Petersburg and is an all-Negro school.

Miss Adams, seeking a degree in commerce, was admitted to the university's Patrick Henry branch here after she charged in federal court that she had been barred because of her race. The suit was dropped after the university denied the charge and agreed to admit her, although she was late in registering.

Third U.S. Aircraft Downed In Viet Nam

Three Killed In Spotter Plane Crash

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) —Another American spotter plane went down Tuesday in South Viet Nam's rugged central highlands where Viet Cong ground gunners earlier had shot down two U.S. planes. Three American fliers died in one plane supporting an intensive government raid.

It was not known whether the third plane fell victim to Communist fire.

The American pilot of the third plane was reported injured.

In ground action, an American major was wounded severely in an explosion.

The toll of Americans killed in action in Viet Nam has reached 24.

Air Force Capt. Herbert W. Booth, the pilot, of Sarasota, Fla.

Army Capt. Terry D. Cordell, of Sanford, Fla.

Air Force T. Sgt. Richard L. Fox, of Estero, Fla.

They went down in the jungle with their spotter plane.

The action between government troops and guerrillas for the last four days has been centered about 220 miles north of this city.

The Communists are believed to have moved an antiaircraft team into the area.

They shot down a U.S. Air Force fighter plane flying over the wreckage of the spotter plane Tuesday. The fighter pilot escaped with minor injuries.

The second spotter plane—third victim in two days—crashed north of Pleiku.

The pilot was reported taken to a hospital in the coastal city of Nha Trang.

The American major and three Vietnamese troops wounded in an explosion near Quang Ngai were flown to the same hospital.

A big U.S. Army H21 helicopter, one of several that went down due to mechanical trouble Monday, was destroyed deliberately Tuesday. Repairs would have taken too long, it was reported.

Storm-Hit Oregon Gets Federal Help

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy Tuesday authorized the immediate allocation of $1 million in federal funds to assist areas of Oregon hit by severe storms late last week.

In a message to Gov. Mark O. Hatfield of Oregon, Kennedy said he had declared Oregon a "major disaster" area qualifying it for assistance from the Office of Emergency Planning.

The President authorized the funds for Oregon at Hatfield's request. He extended his "sympathy to all the persons in your state affected by this severe storm."

Aerial A-Shot Rescheduled After Failure

HONOLULU (UPI)—The United States announced Tuesday it will attempt another high altitude nuclear explosion this weekend following an unsuccessful shot that dropped fragments of radioactive debris back on Johnston Island.

Joint Task Force 8 said no injuries were reported and none was anticipated as the result of the deliberate destruction of a Thor rocket and its nuclear payload moments after it was launched Monday night.

It was the fourth failure in five U.S. attempts this year to explode a nuclear device high over the Pacific. The four were destroyed without a nuclear blast, either on the launching pad or in flight after mechanical defects developed.

Another low-yield, high-altitude nuclear test was scheduled Friday night or early Saturday. It is to be detonated at an altitude of tens of kilometers (a kilometer is five-eighths of a mile) and the flash will be visible to Hawaii.

If the shot is not held during the five hour period beginning at 9:30 p.m. Oct. 19 (3:30 p.m. EDT Saturday), it will be postponed.

Monday night's explosion was expected to take place at an altitude of between 30 and 40 miles. The Atlas lifted off the pad on the concrete-covered islet 800 miles southwest of Honolulu at 9:15 p.m. HST (3:15 a.m. Tuesday EDT.)

Moments later, trouble developed in the rocket and the task force safety officer elected to destroy it and its nuclear device.

"Ella" Gains Strength; Florida Coast Warned

MIAMI (UPI) —Tropical storm Ella built to near - hurricane strength Tuesday and residents of the southeast Florida coast were warned to be ready to take "quick precautions" Wednesday morning.

The area immediately endangered was between Palm Beach and Daytona Beach. The U.S. missile test center at Cape Canaveral is centered in the danger zone.

The Miami Weather Bureau said Ella's highest winds were between 60 and 70 m.p.h. in gusts. The storm's center was located about 350 miles due east of Palm Beach, moving at 8 m.p.h. on a course between west and west-northwest.

Forecasters would not pinpoint a possible spot where the storm might move inland, but advised residents along the South Atlantic Coast to watch for further advisories.

"All persons and interests along the Florida coast from Palm Beach to Daytona Beach should be ready to take quick precautions tomorrow morning if it should become necessary to issue hurricane warnings for portions of this area," the weather bureau said.

A 6 p.m. EDT Miami Weather Bureau advisory located Ella, fifth tropical storm of the season, about 350 miles east of Palm Beach and 150 miles east of Great Abaco Islands in the Bahamas.

"Slow intensification is expected to continue with Ella reaching hurricane intensity tonight," the advisory said.

GOP Leaders Call Cuba No. 1 Issue Of Campaign

Rep. William E. Miller, R-N.Y., Republican national chairman; Chairman Barry M. Goldwater, R-Ariz., of the GOP Senatorial Campaign Committee, and Chairman Bob Wilson, R-Calif., of the Republican Congressional Campaign Committee, made the charges in a joint statement issued by the GOP National Committee.

It brought an immediate counterblast from Democratic National Chairman John M. Bailey, who said the Republicans need reminding that Fidel Castro "took power in Cuba in 1958 — during the Republican administration."

"I would suggest," Bailey said in a statement, "that national security problems be left to those with the competence and knowledge to deal with them."

The GOP statement said "administration spokesmen are avoiding the dominant issue of the 1962 campaign.

"If we were asked to state the issue in one word, that word would be Cuba—symbol of the tragic irresolution of the administration."

The three GOP leaders said "past mistakes toward Cuba could be forgotten if the administration now showed itself willing to face reality." But, they said, "there is little evidence of willingness to recognize the developing danger and to move resolutely to cope with it."

Moon Shot Postponed For At Least Month

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — U. S. scientists Tuesday night postponed their Ranger-5 shot at the moon for at least a month because of the threat of tropical storm Ella.

The shot, which had been set for 11:20 a.m. EDT Wednesday, was called off following a hurriedly called meeting of scientists and technicians at Cape Canaveral Tuesday night.

The federal space agency's official announcement said the shot was "postponed for the month of October due to predicted adverse weather conditions." It was reported that the moon would not be back in proper position for another attempt until about the middle of November.

Tawes Has No Comment On Johnson Indictment

BALTIMORE (AP) — Democratic Gov. Tawes said Tuesday it would not be fitting for him or any other candidate to comment before trial of Rep. Thomas F. Johnson of Maryland who was indicted by a federal grand jury.

Tawes is a candidate for reelection Nov. 6 as is the Democratic congressman from the governor's home Eastern Shore.

Johnson was indicted together with three others on a conspiracy charge of trying to influence the Department of Justice in a pending criminal case.

"I know nothing of the merits of this case," Tawes stated, "but under our system of government every person is entitled to a fair and impartial trial by a jury of his peers.

"Accordingly, it would not be becoming for me or any other candidate to issue a statement that may affect his constitutional right."

Tawes mentioned that Johnson had been renominated May 15 for his third term "by a substantial majority of the voters of the 1st Congressional District.

"It was, therefore, with regret that I learned of his indictment."

Johnson polled 14,000 more votes than the nearest of three Democratic challengers in the primary.

Just last Wednesday, President Kennedy in a Baltimore appearance mentioned Johnson by name in urging the election of Democrats to Congress.

The President's brother, Atty. Gen. Robert, was among those Johnson allegedly tried to influence.

It had come out as early as last January that Johnson had dealings with J. Kenneth Edlin, the savings and loan figure for whom he allegedly interceded with the Justice Department.

Johnson asked the Justice Department to investigate the published reports which he called a malicious smear campaign. He claimed it was being used as a "political football" in his intention to seek re-election.

The Justice Department never has replied to Johnson's request for an investigation of his complaint.

Rogers C. B. Morton, Johnson's Republican opponent and brother of Sen. Thruston B. Morton, R-Ky., declined comment other than to say he was shocked by the indictment of Johnson.

Silence Kills Arundel Move To Ban "Slots"

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — A resolution to abolish slot machines in Anne Arundel County was killed by silence Tuesday at a meeting of the Board of County Commissioners.

No one would formally introduce the resolution, which Board President Frank W. Wilde had drafted. Wilde, as chairman, was not able to introduce it.

Wilde told the commissioners he thought it proper they consider such a resolution in light of Gov. Tawes' pledge to outlaw slot machines statewide and recent criticism of slot operations in Anne Arundel by U.S. Atty. Joseph D. Tydings and the county grand jury.

He had the board clerk read the resolution, calling for abolishment of slot machines and pinball devices as of Jan. 1, 1965. Silence greeted the resolution.

Finally, Commissioner Carl P. Russell, who has advocated more stringent controls over slots and distributorships but not abolishment, said he was "befuddled" by the resolution. He said he was not consulted about its drafting.

Then a motion was made to adjourn and it passed unanimously.

Anne Arundel is one of four Southern Maryland counties where slots are legal. The others are St. Marys, Calvert and Charles. In both Anne Arundel and St. Marys the county commissioners have the power to abolish slot machines by administrative action.

Grand Jury

spiracy existed from April 1, 1960 to Dec. 31, 1961.

Edlin was indicted Nov. 17, 1959 and sentenced last May 14 in connection with operation of First Colony Savings and Loan Co. of Prince Frederick and Elkton, Md. The indictment charged Edlin controlled First Continental as well as First Colony.

All of the alleged payments to the congressmen were made either by First Continental or Robinson, the indictment charged.

Both of the savings and loan associations have been placed in receivership and conservatorship since Maryland passed its first law regulating the industry last year.

Edlin previously had been sentenced to four years in Chicago for violation of Security Exchange Commission violations. He also is under indictment in Montgomery County, Md., as is Robinson, in connection with savings and loan operations where a circuit court grand jury also heard from Reps. Johnson and Boykin.

The four defendants face a maximum penalty of five years in prison on the conspiracy count. Each of the seven other counts against Johnson calls for a maximum penalty of two years' imprisonment, $10,000 fine and loss of right to public office.

The indictments listed eight visits by Boykin and Johnson to the Justice Department, three by Johnson alone and numerous telephone calls in addition to letters.

All were intended to bring "the prestige, weight and influence of their said offices to bear upon the officials" of the Department of Justice, the indictment claimed.

Pollack Hurls Vote Challenge

BALTIMORE (AP) — Taking a cue from Hyman Pressman, Democratic boss Jack Pollack challenged Tuesday the right to vote of 4,720 persons registered in Baltimore's 4th District.

Pollack, who lives in the 4th District and is considered strongest there politically, marched into the Board of Election Supervisors' office with two attorneys and placed a huge pile of pink forms on the counter.

For each of the 4,720 persons, Pollack said, he had two affidavits swearing that they do not live at the address under which they are listed in the registration books.

One of the attorneys accompanying Pollack, Alan H. Murrell, said that "in view of the agitation about the voting lists in the precinct in which Mr. Pollack lives, we thought it might be instructuve to take a look at a few more precincts."

Pressman, political watchdog and Baltimore attorney; had earlier challenged 417 names in the 35th precinct where Pollack lives. The elections board subsequently removed the names from the registration lists.

Yugoslavia Urges A-Test Cutoff Jan. 1

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) — Communist Yugoslavia proposed Tuesday that the General Assembly call for an end to all nuclear testing by Jan. 1.

Furthermore, Yugoslav delegate Vladimir Popovic proposed that the 17-nation disarmament commission, scheduled to resume discussions in Geneva Nov. 14, report progress to this end not later than the beginning of December.

The proposal for a New Year's cut-off date was put before the Geneva conference several weeks ago by Mexico, but no action was taken.

Small Misquote Is Corrected

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — The state president of the Maryland League of Women Voters said Tuesday a questionnaire being circulated by the league in Baltimore City inadvertently misrepresents Republican Frank Small Jr.'s position on desegregation of public places.

Mrs. Edward J. Satterthwaite said that two words, "law and", were dropped out of Small's statement by typographical error, creating an erroneous impression that he does not favor equal accommodations legislation.

She said the Republican gubernatorial candidate's correct reply to the question on how he thinks Maryland should approach the problem of the desegregation of public places should read:

"The constitution provides equal rights for all citizens, and I shall endeavor to uphold the constitution. I pledge every effort to advance and secure by law and moral suasion, equal rights, opportunities, and privileges for all citizens, including specifically, equal accommodations, educational opportunities, jobs, housing, and access to capital."

Mrs. Satterthwaite said the answer was printed correctly in published questionnaires being circulated by the league in the Washington, D.C. area.

Youngster Drowns In Baltimore Harbor

BALTIMORE (AP) — A nine-year-old Baltimore boy drowned Tuesday when he tumbled into Baltimore Harbor while playing on the bulkhead at the end of Phillpot St.

The victim, Jacob Haas, was pronounced dead at Church Home Hospital.

Two boys saw the youngster fall into the water and notified authorities, but a fireboat arrived too late to save the child.

Grove Low Bidder

BALTIMORE (AP(— M. J. Grove Lime Co., of Lime Kiln in Frederick County, submitted the low bid of $630,105 Tuesday for surfacing 2.2 miles of relocated Maryland 32 in the Sykesville area of Howard and Carroll counties.

"Slot" Removal Study Group Named

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Gov. Tawes completed appointment Tuesday of a seven-member committee to recommend procedures for removal of legalized slot machines in Maryland.

It includes one member each from the four Southern Maryland counties where the slots are now legal.

Named to serve with Richard W. Emory, Baltimore attorney who heads the study committee, were:

P. D. Brown of La Plata, Charles County historian and civic leader and former county agricultural agent.

William Aleck Loker of Leonardtown, former president of the St. Marys County Bar Association.

Dr. George J. Weems of Huntingtown, member of the Tidewater Fisheries Commission, chief of staff of the Calvert County Hospital and chairman of the county's Democratic State Central Committee.

Henry J. Tarantino of Annapolis, former president of the Anne Arundel County Bar Association and former city attorney for the City of Annapolis.

Dr. Paul D. Nystrom, of College Park, director of the agricultural extension service, University of Maryland.

Charles W. Woodward Jr. Rockville, former member of the House of Delegates from Montgomery County.

U.S. Berlin Garrison To Hold War Games

BERLIN (UPI)—The United States Tuesday ordered its entire 6,000-man Berlin garrison into the field for a four-day training exercise next week to underscore anew its readiness to defend embattled West Berlin.

The U.S. Army said the war games, named "On Guard," will last four days and will include the three infantry battle groups stationed in Berlin. Tanks and helicopters will support the mock battle units in Berlin's Grunewald Forest.

The town of Greenwich, England, was the birthplace of Henry VIII, Queen Mary and Queen Elizabeth.

MASQUERADER HELD — Still dressed in the feminine attire he wore when arrested in New York yesterday, a man who identified himself as John Covino, 27, of Milltown, N. J., weeps on the police station desk after being booked. The man was carrying a loaded revolver when picked up and police reported he had newspaper clippings concerning the strangling of Betty Gail Brown, 19, a Lexington, Ky., coed, on Oct. 31, 1961. He was charged with carrying an illegal weapon and masquerading as a woman. (AP Photofax)

Newspaper's Role In Johnson Indictment Praised

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Washington Post was credited Tuesday by U.S. Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy with assisting in grand jury indictment of two Democratic congressmen.

"The investigation stemmed from outstanding efforts of postal inspectors and reporters for the Washington Post," Kennedy said in a news release distributed by the district attorney for Maryland.

The special grand jury indicted Reps. Thomas F. Johnson of Maryland and Frank W. Boykin of Alabama along with two others after 10 months of investigation.

The representatives were indicted on charges of conspiring to accept money and participating in real estate deals "in exchange for attempting to influence the Department of Justice to dismiss an indictment against J. Kenneth Edlin, a Maryland savings and loan association figure," Kennedy stated.

"The indictment was not dismissed."

Bonn Plans To Boost Air Defense Spending

BONN (UPI)—West Germany was reported Tuesday to be planning to spend more next year on the purchase of military aircraft and missiles in direct reply to Washington demands that the European allies assume a greater burden of free world defense.

Parliamentary sources said the West Germans would also spend more on intelligence operations under the planned 1963 budget.

Students Stay Home

GRENOBLE, France (UPI) — Some 600 students stayed home from classes in three schools Tuesday in a protest strike against traffic hazards on a highway passing through the city. The move followed the death of a 6-year-old girl when a driver ignored a traffic light.

In approximately 30 countries throughout the world the death penalty has been eliminated by law or tradition.

Maryland News In Brief

FREDERICK (AP) — An annual fall regional meeting of the Maryland Library Association will be held here Oct. 26.

Carlyle J. Frarey, dean of the Library School at the University of North Carolina, will speak at a morning session. A report also will be given by a committee studying the feasibility of establishing a similar school at the University of Maryland.

Another regional meeting will be held in Oxford, Talbot County, on Nov. 9.

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) — More than 25,000 University of Maryland alumni are expected to return to the College Park campus Oct. 27 for the annual homecoming festivities.

The activities will include camtours, a luncheon, a football game with South Carolina, crowning of the homecoming queen and a dance.

EMMITSBURG, Md. (AP) — A new dial telephone system, comparable to the central office of a small community, has been installed at Mount Saint Mary's College.

All numbers on campus can now be dialed directly, and certain nonrestricted stations can place their own outside calls. Previously, all calls had to be placed through a switchboard operator.

The system has about 80 telephones, and can be expanded to care for the growth of the college's needs.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Paul Morris, 66, died at City Hospitals Tuesday of head injuries received when he fell through a garage ceiling.

Police said Morris apparently stepped through a false section of an attic Monday, and fell nine feet to the cement floor of the garage.

BRIDGEVILLE, Del. (AP) — Delaware recorded its 78th traffic fatality of the year Tuesday with the death of Paul Smack, 25, who lived near Bridgeville.

State Police said Smack died when his car failed to make a curve on Delaware 42, went off the road and overturned twice. He was pronounced dead at Nanticoke Memorial Hospital in Seaford.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Herbert W. Brown of Washington, D.C., 53-year-old real estate operator, faces up to eight years imprisonment and a fine of up to $7,000 on his conviction of impersonating a federal employe.

Brown, also accused of falsifying FHA documents in a scheme to bilk a Bethesda bank, was convicted in U.S. District Court Monday after a four-hour trial. Judge W. Calvin Chesnut deferred sentencing.

BALTIMORE (AP) — The State Roads Commission proposed Tuesday a pay raise for 1,440 of its employes. Sarting and maximum levels for the 60 job classifications would be raised by amounts ranging from $300 to $2,000 annually.

SRC Chairman John B. Funk said low pay in engineering and technical areas has kept his agency from obtaining and keeping top personnel. He proposed making the raises effective Jan. 1.

The pay plan costing an estimated $984,000 annually was approved immediately by the commissioner of personnel.

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — The annual meeting of the Association of Naval Reserve Officer Training Corps Colleges will be held at the U.S. Naval Academy Wednesday and Thursday.

Seventy-five persons, including presidents, deans and senior faculty members from some 50 major colleges and universities in the country, are expected to attend the meeting.

Activities at the conference will include business sessions, attendance at a dress parade of the brigade of midshipmen and a closing luncheon.

After chopping a two-foot hole in the brick rear wall of the tavern, the intruders found the back of a piano blocking their entry.

Search For Ship

TAIPEI, Formosa (UPI) — An extensive air-sea search was conducted Tuesday for a Nationalist Chinese freighter that disappeared mysteriously on a trip from one end of Formosa to the other. The Hai Chang vanished in calm Formosa Strait waters after sailing from Kaohsiung in the south Sunday en route to Keelung in the north with a cargo of iron ore.

Nicaragua Lake in the Republic of Nicaragua, Central America, is 100 miles in length, 45 miles in breadth. The city of Granada is situated on the lake.

Jarman Urges Stiff Penalties For Speeders

BALTIMORE (AP) — The superintendent of State Police, Col. Carey Jarman, recommended Tuesday stiffer penalties for drivers who wilfully exceed the speed limits.

Jarman said speeding has been a contributing factor in 49 per cent of the 180 traffic fatalities on Maryland highways the past 14 weeks.

"The enforcement of the speed laws," Jarman said, "must be such to deter the small percentage of operators who wilfully violate the law.

"It does not make sense to me to permit, as we are now doing, the flagrant speeder to get by with paying the minimum fine of $10, the same minimum that existed when the law was first enacted 25 years ago. There's not much deterrence to this."

The superintendent said alcohol was a contributing factor in 49 per cent of the fatalities during the 14-week period.

"From an enforcement standpoint," he said, "we are badly in need of legislation that will enable us to deal effectively with the drinking driver."

Jarman reported that alcohol, speed and driver error were the contributing factors in the deaths of 18 persons on Maryland highways last week.

The Maryland Traffic Safety Commission, meanwhile, announced plans for an intensive safety campaign against the spiraling 1962 traffic toll.

The campaign to remind motorists to drive with care is slated for Armistice Day through Thanksgiving.

The statewide highway death rate for 1962 was 446 Tuesday, compared with 345 for a corresponding period last year.

SUNNY SAYS: "Serve Schenley's sunny morning flavor
For tastier drinks your guests will savor!"

Schenley RESERVE

Schenley is a surprise to most people. It's a whisky that's light as any—but there's a subtle and likeable difference in flavor. That's because Schenley's straight whiskys are mellowed 8 full years before blending with grain neutral spirits. The taste is tastier. The drink more satisfying. Change to Schenley . . . it's a wise way to put flavor back in your drinks.

Sorority Has Surprise Party

Alpha Alpha Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, entertained with a surprise house warming party for Mr. and Mrs. Edward O'Rourke, Henry Drive, Saturday evening.

Appropriate games were played and a tour of the house featured the entertainment. The Halloween motif was carried out in the decorations and refreshments.

Attending were Mr. and Mrs. Merle Barnes, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Billingsley, Mr. and Mrs. Harry DeVore, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hines, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hixson, Mr. and Mrs. James Latta, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Moran, Miss Judy Matt, Mr. and Mrs. William Russell, Mr. and Mrs. Angelo Samson, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Schelble, Miss Betty Stegmaier, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Walsh and Mr. and Mrs. Martin Geyer.

The regular chapter meeting will be held tonight at the home of Mrs. Billingsley, Frostburg.

COOKING SCHOOL CROWD — The lobby of the Strand Theatre was packed last night as a standing-room only crowd converged for the first session of the four-day Times-News Cooking School. The second session will be at 1:30 p. m. today at the Strand. Morning session will be held Thursday and Friday. A number of men were among those attending the opening of the cooking school.

Grove 11 To Elect Friday

Supreme Forest Woodman Circle, Queen City Grove 11, will hold its regular meeting Friday at 8 o'clock, at which time election of officers will be held and plans to attend the district convention will be formulated.

Mrs. Alberta Lindner will conduct the meeting in the WOW hall, 144 Union Street. The convention will be held in Keyser, October 21.

Candy and fruit cake for Christmas sales will be distributed.

Hostesses for the evening are Mrs. Eleanor Crabtree and Miss Orlean Haines.

The Alberta Lindner drill team will practice following the meeting. It will participate in the ritualistic work at the convention.

Mapleside Club To Mark Achievements

The Mapleside Homemakers Club will hold its annual Achievement Day covered dish luncheon, Thursday at noon, in the First EUB Church. Each member is to bring a covered dish, place setting, achievements for display and a sunshine gift.

Mrs. Marie Smith will preside at the business session at 1:30. Mrs. Mary Settle is in charge of arrangements.

Silver Spring Woman Heads District LWML

Officers were elected and projects selected at the 21st annual convention of the Chesapeake District Lutheran Women's Missionary League, which was held at Clarysville Inn, last weekend.

Mrs. Edward Cockrell, Silver Spring, was elected president; Mrs. Charles Pfaff, Baltimore, recording secretary; and Mrs. Clarence Gonnermann, Washington, treasurer.

Zone projects were presented for the mission work and three home missions were selected to receive financial aid, including a new one in Virginia.

It was decided to hold the next convention in Zone 6, which is in the northern Virginia area. It will be in October 1963.

Approximately 325 members attended. Mrs. Cloid True was in charge of registrations. Other members of the convention committee were Mrs. C. L. Warnick, Rev. John C. Polk, Mrs. Robert Bealkey, Mrs. Ernest Schaidt, Mrs. William George, Mrs. Charles Wilt, Mrs. Brooks Joy, Mrs. F. H. Knippenberg and Mrs. William Eyler. Trinity Lutheran Church was host for the convention.

W. Va. Court Transferred To Maryland

Miss Margaret J. Buckley, national supreme regent of the Catholic Daughters of America and past state regent, presided at the transfer of Court Sancta Maria, 485 from West Virginia to Maryland. It was the first transfer of a court since the CDA was organized 60 years ago.

Mrs. John Victory, Colorado Springs, Colo., wrote the ritual for the transfer. The ceremony was held in Gunter Hall, Frostburg State Teachers College, Saturday. Mrs. Catherine McGinnis, member of the national directorate and state regent for West Virginia, requested the transfer. Miss Mary Murray, Maryland regent, accepted. Officers of the Maryland State Court conducted the ritual.

Two selections were sung by Mrs. Wilbur Logsdon and Mrs. Joseph Carter of Court Theresa, accompanied at the piano by Miss Kathleen Doyle, Court Baltimore.

Rev. George Paugh, assistant pastor at St. Peter's Church, Westernport, and chaplain for Court Sancta Maria, spoke. Brief remarks also were made by Mrs. Buckley, Mrs. Victory and Miss Murray.

Honor guests included Mrs. Samuel Brown, Mrs. James Garvey, past state regent of Maryland; Miss Philomenia Kerwin, national editor; Miss Agnes Wall, W. Va., state secretary; Mrs. Norbeteene Overholt, president of the past grand regents; district deputies and past grand regents. Over 250 attended.

After the transfer, refreshments were served. Mrs. Kenneth Logsdon, Court Theresa, and Mrs. William Norris, Court Cardinal Gibbons, presided at the punch bowl.

Sunday 100 past grand regents attended mass at St. Patrick's Church, followed by breakfast at the Ali Ghan Shrine Club. Miss Buckley conducted the business session, at which time, Mrs. Overholt and Miss Margaret Wonderly were re-elected president and secretary-treasurer, respectively. Mrs. William McCleary was general chairman. A tour to Blackwater Falls and dinner at the inn preceded the ceremonies, Saturday.

Marriage Announced

Mrs. Alda Young announces the marriage of her sister Miss Sarah Bell Wells, to Cecil Robinette. The marriage was performed at First Baptist Church, October 3, by Rev. Clifford T. Johnson.

The reception was held at the home of another sister, Mrs. Betty Rose, 727 Fayette Street. The couple is residing in Manns Choice, Pa.

Railettes Sponsor Supper

Plans for a covered dish supper were formulated at the meeting of the Railettes, held Monday evening at the American Legion home. Mrs. Chloe Reynolds presided.

The supper will be held November 19 with Mrs. Pauline Shaffer chairman. It will be at 6 p.m. Each member was asked to bring her husband or a guest.

Following the opening prayer by Mrs. Hallie Tracy, the pledge to the flag was given and "America" sung by the group. It was reported that Mrs. Anna Stewart and Mrs. Josephine Shanski are ill. Mrs. Ada Wilt was appointed corresponding secretary, to fill the vacancy made by the resignation of Mrs. Amanda Vanelli, who is unable to attend, because of illness in the family.

It was announced that the bakeless bake sale will continue through the month.

Pumpkins, fall leaves and vases of fall flowers decorated the tables. Mrs. Myrtle Brode was chairman, assisted by Mrs. Margaret Baker and Mrs. Wilt. Twenty-two members attended.

Representative Appointed

The Women's Guild of St. Matthew's United Church of Christ named Mrs. Glen Johnson representative to the Council of Churches at the meeting at the church. Mrs. T. L. Grove and Mrs. Ramhoff will attend the area meeting of the United Church Women.

Devotionals were led by Mrs. Richard McIntyre, who spoke of the World Community Day observance November 2. Sewing bags to be contributed for the observance were displayed. Announcement was made of the thank offering service November 18, with Mrs. Paul Ross leader; and the Christmas candy project, which will begin next week; and the congregational dinner will be October 23, at 6 p. m.

Class Has Program

"The Four Gospels" was the topic of the program by Mrs. Jesse Weaver at the meeting of the Semper Fidelis Sunday School class of First EUB Church. Others taking part were Mrs. Elmer Freeland, Mrs. Russell Hasenbuhler, Mrs. Delores Cole, Mrs. Robert Meyers, Mrs. Fred Beaman and Mrs. Edgar Shoemaker.

Routine reports were given. The harvest motif was carried out in the table decorations. Mrs. Arnold Twigg, Mrs. Earl Zembower and Mrs. Carrie Tettenburn were cohostesses.

Others present were Mrs. Melvin Wharton, Mrs. Gladys Fuller, Mrs. Chester Chabtree, Mrs. Nettie Borst, Mrs. Grace Wolford, Mrs. Edgar See, Mrs. Catherine Wilson, Mrs. Walter Long, Miss Charlotte Wolford, and three guests, Miss Elaine Beaman, Mrs. Carl Lohr and Earl Zembower.

Amazing New Medical Discovery Helps You

Lose 2-7 lbs. of Bloating 'Water-Weight' to Feel Your Best... Look Your Best Both Before and During Your Period!

New Formula Acts on a Basic Cause of Pre-Menstrual Distress, to Relieve Abdominal Swelling, Pelvic Pressure, Dizzy Spells, Pain and Its Moodiness, Nervous Tension, Fatigue

Do you dread 10 to 12 days every month . . . because periodic bloating and swelling make you feel so unattractive and depressed . . . you look so tense and tired? Do you dread the cramps, headache and backache that make you feel and look so "dragged out"? Then discover Trendar®! This amazing new tablet acts on a basic cause of your distress to help you feel your best and look your best . . . both before and during your period.

Here's how: Doctors know, that in the days before your period, harmful excess fluids build up in your system causing a sudden gain of from 2 to 7 lbs. of 'water-weight.' This puts pressure on sensitive tissues. Result? Pressure, tension, pain. Then more pressure, tension, pain. But Trendar's unique formula helps prevent the build-up of harmful excess water and so eliminates the bloating weight. Swelling and puffiness are reduced. You feel slim and attractive again! At the same time, Trendar relieves dizzy spells, headache, backache, cramps and accompanying tension depression.

So don't wait to discover the effective new way to feel your best and look your best . . . both before and during your period. Get Trendar Tablets today!

W. Va. Court Transferred To Maryland

Miss Margaret J. Buckley, national supreme regent of the Catholic Daughters of America and past state regent, presided at the transfer of Court Sancta Maria, 485 from West Virginia to Maryland. It was the first transfer of a court since the CDA was organized 60 years ago.

Mrs. John Victory, Colorado Springs, Colo., wrote the ritual for the transfer. The ceremony was held in Gunter Hall, Frostburg State Teachers College, Saturday. Mrs. Catherine McGinnis, member of the national directorate and state regent for West Virginia, requested the transfer. Miss Mary Murray, Maryland regent, accepted. Officers of the Maryland State Court conducted the ritual.

Two selections were sung by Mrs. Wilbur Logsdon and Mrs. Joseph Carter of Court Theresa, accompanied at the piano by Miss Kathleen Doyle, Court Baltimore.

Rev. George Paugh, assistant pastor at St. Peter's Church, Westernport, and chaplain for Court Sancta Maria, spoke. Brief remarks also were made by Mrs. Buckley, Mrs. Victory and Miss Murray.

Honor guests included Mrs. Samuel Brown, Mrs. James Garvey, past state regent of Maryland; Miss Philomenia Kerwin, national editor; Miss Agnes Wall, W. Va., state secretary; Mrs. Norbeteene Overholt, president of the past grand regents; district deputies and past grand regents. Over 250 attended.

After the transfer, refreshments were served. Mrs. Kenneth Logsdon, Court Theresa, and Mrs. William Norris, Court Cardinal Gibbons, presided at the punch bowl.

Sunday 100 past grand regents attended mass at St. Patrick's Church, followed by breakfast at the Ali Ghan Shrine Club. Miss Buckley conducted the business session, at which time, Mrs. Overholt and Miss Margaret Wonderly were re-elected president and secretary-treasurer, respectively. Mrs. William McCleary was general chairman. A tour to Blackwater Falls and dinner at the inn preceded the ceremonies, Saturday.

Marriage Announced

Mrs. Alda Young announces the marriage of her sister Miss Sarah Bell Wells, to Cecil Robinette. The marriage was performed at First Baptist Church, October 3, by Rev. Clifford T. Johnson.

The reception was held at the home of another sister, Mrs. Betty Rose, 727 Fayette Street. The couple is residing in Manns Choice, Pa.

Railettes Sponsor Supper

Plans for a covered dish supper were formulated at the meeting of the Railettes, held Monday evening at the American Legion home. Mrs. Chloe Reynolds presided.

The supper will be held November 19 with Mrs. Pauline Shaffer chairman. It will be at 6 p.m. Each member was asked to bring her husband or a guest.

Following the opening prayer by Mrs. Hallie Tracy, the pledge to the flag was given and "America" sung by the group. It was reported that Mrs. Anna Stewart and Mrs. Josephine Shanski are ill. Mrs. Ada Wilt was appointed corresponding secretary, to fill the vacancy made by the resignation of Mrs. Amanda Vanelli, who is unable to attend, because of illness in the family.

It was announced that the bakeless bake sale will continue through the month.

Pumpkins, fall leaves and vases of fall flowers decorated the tables. Mrs. Myrtle Brode was chairman, assisted by Mrs. Margaret Baker and Mrs. Wilt. Twenty-two members attended.

Representative Appointed

The Women's Guild of St. Matthew's United Church of Christ named Mrs. Glen Johnson representative to the Council of Churches at the meeting at the church. Mrs. T. L. Grove and Mrs. Ramhoff will attend the area meeting of the United Church Women.

Devotionals were led by Mrs. Richard McIntyre, who spoke of the World Community Day observance November 2. Sewing bags to be contributed for the observance were displayed. Announcement was made of the thank offering service November 18, with Mrs. Paul Ross leader; and the Christmas candy project, which will begin next week; and the congregational dinner will be October 23, at 6 p. m.

Woman To Woman

By PATRICIA MCCORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI) — If you want action—or reaction — when writing a note or check, depart from the black and white.

That is—black or dark blue ink on white paper. If you use a typewriter, color the ribbons and even the machines in ways approved by color psychologists. Stock up on red, yellow, bright blue and green ink.

Color associations, it turns out, can put people in moods they did not really expect to be in. What's more, it can make them do things. So why not use it when writing?

Knute Rockne used to have his Notre Dame locker room painted red to stimulate his team. He painted the visitor's locker room —often full of old grads—a serene, relaxing blue, the color said to denote philosophy.

Howard Ketchum, an internationally acknowledged expert on color psychology, wasn't consulted. But he says Rockne had the right idea.

Ketchum, full of scientifically proved oddments about color, says further it's gospel that a charity appeal mailed in a light blue-green envelope will pull better than one in a white envelope.

Through the years, Ketchum has found, too, that flies hate blue and mosquitos hate orange; that magenta lights at a dinner party equals the effect of a couple of cocktails.

He says, also, that dark and neutral colors are best sellers during a period of economic depression, while people turn to bright, clear colors during good times.

The law governing finding of hidden pirate treasure in the Virgin Islands stipulates that the finder negotiate directly with the U. S. secretary of the treasury as to how much taxes should be paid.

Do You Suffer From Sick, Throbbing Migraine Headaches?

New Medical Discovery Never Before Available
Now Released To Public. No Prescription Needed.

Today, science has announced a doctor's new formula which has been especially developed to relieve both the throbbing pain and sickish feeling of migraine-type headaches. Tests conducted by a practicing New York physician showed that in patient after patient—pain-relief and comfort were obtained in minutes. And all without the use of narcotics, codeine or ergot remedies which may upset the stomach and so further aggravate the condition.

This remarkable new formula is called Duplexin®. It is the first headache discovery in the history of medicine with this exclusive formula, (a unique 2-layer pink and white tablet). It relieves both headache pain and a sick, upset stomach with this exclusive formula.

Here are the medical facts why Duplexin is safer, faster, more effective—why it's unlike the usual headache remedies. Only Duplexin unites powerful doctor-approved pain relievers with this special stomach-soothing antacid. In seconds, Duplexin does what no aspirin or buffered aspirin can ever do. It contains exclusive, hospital-tested medications not found in any alkalizer or seltzer. Duplexin's white layer concentrates on relieving pain faster. Throbbing pain relieved in minutes. Its pink layer relieves that sickish feeling and protects your stomach as it keeps on speeding relief.

Duplexin also calms nervous stress (which so often causes migraine) and helps relieve depression. Taken at the first sign of an attack, Duplexin actually helps prevent those migraine pains. Ask for Duplexin Tablets at any drug-store. Now available without prescription.

NEW YORK (UPI)—Chemical Construction Corp. has received a contract from the Navy department, Bureau of Ships, to study the feasiliby of producing hydrogen from naphtha for use in fuel cell systems. The amount of the contract was not announced. A fuel cell is a device which converts chemical energy directly to electricity.

NEW YORK (UPI)—Dennis J. Curran has been named product manager in charge of manufacturing Thermoformed containers for the plastic container division of Continental Can Co. Curran formerly was with Canford Manufacturing Co. and prior to that with Monsanto Chemical Co. This marks Continental Can's initial venture into the field of Thermoformed containers.

DETROIT (UPI) — Burroughs Corp. has announced that 17 of its newly developed D825 Modular data processing systems have been ordered by the Air Force for $24,450,000 for its back-up interceptor control system. The Air Force has an option to order additional units.

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Du Pont Co. Monday reported both its sales and earnings climbed around 11 per cent in the first nine months over the same period of 1961.

The chemical giant said operating activities for the period produced a net profit of $5.14 a share against $4.21 a year ago. General Motors Corp. dividends added $1.67 to profits against $1.90 a greater number of shares were owned.

Thalidomide May Help Explain Nature's Own Monstrosities

By FRANK CAREY
Associated Press Science Writer

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Thalidomide, the sedative drug linked with birth deformities, may help explain nature's own monstrosities, it was reported Monday.

A University of Pennsylvania researcher said that the sedative drug for pregnant women—blamed for thousands of malformed babies in Europe—promises to be a useful experimental tool for studying the experimental production of birth deformities in animals.

Dr. Theodore Ingalls said the drug already has been used in this way to produce deformities in rabbits and deer.

In a report to the 90th annual meeting of the American Public Health Association, he indicated that the experiments could help explain how comparable deformities sometimes occur naturally in man.

The doctor said that deformities of the type linked with thalidomide—including arrested development of limbs and monstrous misplacement of feet and hands—were seen long before thalidomide was marketed and no doubt they will be seen sporadically now that the drug has been withdrawn from the market.

He declared that medical records show that this type of deformity was observed at least as early as the 16th century.

But he said that while experiments with the drug showed promise, the best potential bet for understanding the basic principles underlying natural human monstrosities consists of studying animals exposed to such conditions as lack of oxygen.

Ingalls said that experiments with the "zebra fish" indicated that embryonic fish have a high requirement for oxygen and "critical episodes of oxygen deprivation may distort subsequent development of the embryo."

He said the fish and other experimental studies indicate that blood vessel mechanisms may be involved in the production of animal and human birth monstrosities.

And he reported that experiments with deer, employing thalidomide, indicate that if a monstrous birth is to occur, the critical period for such an event can begin as early as the eighth day of pregnancy.

Wage-Salary Payments Dip

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Commerce Department reported Monday a slight September decline in wage and salary payments, the first dip since last January.

It came as unwelcome news to government economists, who have been predicting with crossed fingers that the economy will remain on the upbeat for rest of 1962.

The department said other types of personal income posted moderate gains. These included dividends, interest and unemployment insurance payments. The overall result was no change in the national total of individual incomes. This held steady at the record annual rate of $443 billion set in August, the department said.

However, wage and salary payments, considered the most important single influence on consumer spending, dipped by $600 million to an annual rate of $297.5 billion.

Woman To Woman

By PATRICIA MCCORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI) — If you want action—or reaction — when writing a note or check, depart from the black and white.

That is—black or dark blue ink on white paper. If you use a typewriter, color the ribbons and even the machines in ways approved by color psychologists. Stock up on red, yellow, bright blue and green ink.

Color associations, it turns out, can put people in moods they did not really expect to be in. What's more, it can make them do things. So why not use it when writing?

Knute Rockne used to have his Notre Dame locker room painted red to stimulate his team. He painted the visitor's locker room —often full of old grads—a serene, relaxing blue, the color said to denote philosophy.

Howard Ketchum, an internationally acknowledged expert on color psychology, wasn't consulted. But he says Rockne had the right idea.

Ketchum, full of scientifically proved oddments about color, says further it's gospel that a charity appeal mailed in a light blue-green envelope will pull better than one in a white envelope.

Through the years, Ketchum has found, too, that flies hate blue and mosquitos hate orange; that magenta lights at a dinner party equals the effect of a couple of cocktails.

He says, also, that dark and neutral colors are best sellers during a period of economic depression, while people turn to bright, clear colors during good times.

The law governing finding of hidden pirate treasure in the Virgin Islands stipulates that the finder negotiate directly with the U. S. secretary of the treasury as to how much taxes should be paid.

Do You Suffer From Sick, Throbbing Migraine Headaches?

New Medical Discovery Never Before Available Now Released To Public. No Prescription Needed.

Today, science has announced a doctor's new formula which has been especially developed to relieve both the throbbing pain and sickish feeling of migraine-type headaches. Tests conducted by a practicing New York physician showed that in patient after patient—pain-relief and comfort were obtained in minutes. And all without the use of narcotics, codeine or ergot remedies which may upset the stomach and so further aggravate the condition.

This remarkable new formula is called Duplexin®. It is the first headache discovery in the history of medicine with this exclusive formula, (a unique 2-layer pink and white tablet). It relieves both headache pain and a sick, upset stomach with this exclusive formula.

Here are the medical facts why Duplexin is safer, faster, more effective—why it's unlike the usual headache remedies. Only Duplexin unites powerful doctor-approved pain relievers with this special stomach-soothing antacid. In seconds, Duplexin does what no aspirin or buffered aspirin can ever do. It contains exclusive, hospital-tested medications not found in any alkalizer or seltzer. Duplexin's white layer concentrates on relieving pain faster. Throbbing pain relieved in minutes. Its pink layer relieves that sickish feeling and protects your stomach as it keeps on speeding relief.

Duplexin also calms nervous stress (which so often causes migraine) and helps relieve depression. Taken at the first sign of an attack, Duplexin actually helps prevent those migraine pains. Ask for Duplexin Tablets at any drug-store. Now available without prescription.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: What can I do about a husband who insists on maintaining what he calls "a wonderful relationship" with his former mother-in-law?

When I married Everett he had custody of his children. So now, under one roof we have his children, my children and our children. Everett invites his ex-mother-in-law to baby-sit whenever we go out. She loves it and would cancel anything to be with "her angels." I've told him I don't like it, but he ignores me.

When I divorced Nick I severed relations with his parents because I feared their presence would be embarrassing to Everett. Now I think Everett should do as much for me.

He reads your column every day. Please print this letter and your comments, so he can see it. —R. C.

Dear R. C.: Here's the letter but I'm afraid when you see my answer you'll ditch the paper.

I think your husband is right. Why should this grandmother be deprived of seeing her daughter's children just because the girl and her husband made a mess of their marriage?

Too often grandparents are completely buried under the rubble and ashes of a divorce. I hope your letter and my reply will open a few eyes around the country and provide a better shake for the old folks.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a widow 34 years old who has been going with a bachelor for five years. I'm not writing to ask why he doesn't marry me. I know why. He isn't ready.

What I want to know is would it be all right if my fiance took me and my 8-year-old son on a five-day motor trip to see Mt. Rushmore? Ronnie has been wanting to see Mt. Rushmore for a long time and my fiance said he would like to drive us.

We would be staying in motels, and Ron and my fiance would share one room and I'd be in another. Ron knows we have been going together for a long time and that one day we'll get married.

I hope you will see the educational value in this trip and say it's all right. Ronnie wants to make a report on this to his class. Thank you. —MOTHER BEE

Dear Mother: This trip could have more educational value than you think. Your son's report to the class might start: "This man that my mother goes with—."

It is not proper for unmarried people to travel together (even with an 8-year-old chaperon). After you and your fiance have taken that trip to the altar you can travel anyplace together. But not until.

Dear Ann Landers: Every time this question comes up I get hot under the collar. I say when etiquette doesn't match common sense, it ought to be chucked out the window.

Some of the so-called authorities on good manners criticize the practice of giving money as a wedding gift. They say it is gauche, crass, unimaginative, and vulgar.

As a newlywed who has just been through the mill, I say these authorities are cracked. How I wish some of my relatives who gave us useless pieces of trivia had given us money instead!

We DID receive some checks—all the way from $5 to $250 and we are not money-grubbing people, but believe me every check we received was greatly appreciated.

When I wrote to thank these individuals I told them what Glen and I planned to buy with their check and I'm sure they felt good about it.

So, Ann Landers, will you please explode the myth that money is a vulgar wedding gift? Newlyweds all over the world will love you forever.—KANSAS CITY READERS

Dear K. C. R.: A casual acquaintance should not give money as a wedding gift, but a close friend or relative can do so. It is neither gauche, crass, unimaginative or vulgar.

Money is the one present which will fit in with the decor of any bride's home or apartment. She will never have to polish it. It can't break. She won't have to hunt for a place to store it. And there are no duplicates.

To learn the difference between a marriage that "settles down" and one that "gets dull," send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "What To Expect From Marriage," enclosing with your request 20c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Mrs. Roeder Cites Damage To Park Areas

Street Commissioner Lucile Roeder said yesterday that small city parks are to be used for the restful enjoyment of citizens and not for active recreation purposes such as baseball and football.

The commissioner said some damage has been done to shrubbery and lawns by the more active types of recreation and cited particularly the small park at Race and Seymour streets in South End.

Recreation Department areas and playgrounds and even suitable vacant lots are available for active play and sports near the park areas which also include Riverside Park on West Side.

She asked that parents keep their children from playing in the park areas and asked that the Police Department see that the small parks are used for the purpose intended.

According to Scandinavian law of the Middle Ages, there were three places where acts could be performed which were held valid in law—the town (or legislative) hall, the church and the beerhouse.

Lagoon Termed Unsuitable For Frostburg

John J. Rowan, president of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday assured residents from the Gilmore-Knapps Meadow section of George's Creek that they have nothing to fear from a "lagoon sewage" proposal for their area.

Robert Robertson, spokesman for the group, said that the residents were concerned over the reported plan to install such a sewage project in their community to serve the Frostburg area.

Rowan told the group that a lagoon system would not take care of a community of Frostburg's size. He also said that they need not fear the condemnation of their homes as they had been led to believe by certain statements.

Commissioner John T. Mason said Frostburg did not have any authority to condemn land outside its corporate limits.

Rowan said that the county board had a responsibility to see that no citizen was harmed or his home endangered from such installations as sewage lagoons.

The group said they appeared to get the facts in the matter as there have been conflicting reports concerning the sewage lagoon installation as well as the possible condemnation of their homes.

We would be staying in motels, and Ron and my fiance would share one room and I'd be in another. Ron knows we have been going together for a long time and that one day we'll get married.

I hope you will see the educational value in this trip and say it's all right. Ronnie wants to make a report on this to his class. Thank you. —MOTHER BEE

Dear Mother: This trip could have more educational value than you think. Your son's report to the class might start: "This man that my mother goes with—."

It is not proper for unmarried people to travel together (even with an 8-year-old chaperon). After you and your fiance have taken that trip to the altar you can travel anyplace together. But not until.

Dear Ann Landers: Every time this question comes up I get hot under the collar. I say when etiquette doesn't match common sense, it ought to be chucked out the window.

Some of the so-called authorities on good manners criticize the practice of giving money as a wedding gift. They say it is gauche, crass, unimaginative, and vulgar.

As a newlywed who has just been through the mill, I say these authorities are cracked. How I wish some of my relatives who gave us useless pieces of trivia had given us money instead!

We DID receive some checks—all the way from $5 to $250 and we are not money-grubbing people, but believe me every check we received was greatly appreciated.

When I wrote to thank these individuals I told them what Glen and I planned to buy with their check and I'm sure they felt good about it.

So, Ann Landers, will you please explode the myth that money is a vulgar wedding gift? Newlyweds all over the world will love you forever.—KANSAS CITY READERS

Dear K. C. R.: A casual acquaintance should not give money as a wedding gift, but a close friend or relative can do so. It is neither gauche, crass, unimaginative or vulgar.

Money is the one present which will fit in with the decor of any bride's home or apartment. She will never have to polish it. It can't break. She won't have to hunt for a place to store it. And there are no duplicates.

To learn the difference between a marriage that "settles down" and one that "gets dull," send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "What To Expect From Marriage," enclosing with your request 20c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Lagoon Termed Unsuitable For Frostburg

John J. Rowan, president of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday assured residents from the Gilmore-Knapps Meadow section of George's Creek that they have nothing to fear from a "lagoon sewage" proposal for their area.

Robert Robertson, spokesman for the group, said that the residents were concerned over the reported plan to install such a sewage project in their community to serve the Frostburg area.

Rowan told the group that a lagoon system would not take care of a community of Frostburg's size. He also said that they need not fear the condemnation of their homes as they had been led to believe by certain statements.

Commissioner John T. Mason said Frostburg did not have any authority to condemn land outside its corporate limits.

Rowan said that the county board had a responsibility to see that no citizen was harmed or his home endangered from such installations as sewage lagoons.

The group said they appeared to get the facts in the matter as there have been conflicting reports concerning the sewage lagoon installation as well as the possible condemnation of their homes.

Mrs. Roeder Cites Damage To Park Areas

Street Commissioner Lucile Roeder said yesterday that small city parks are to be used for the restful enjoyment of citizens and not for active recreation purposes such as baseball and football.

The commissioner said some damage has been done to shrubbery and lawns by the more active types of recreation and cited particularly the small park at Race and Seymour streets in South End.

Recreation Department areas and playgrounds and even suitable vacant lots are available for active play and sports near the park areas which also include Riverside Park on West Side.

She asked that parents keep their children from playing in the park areas and asked that the Police Department see that the small parks are used for the purpose intended.

According to Scandinavian law of the Middle Ages, there were three places where acts could be performed which were held valid in law—the town (or legislative) hall, the church and the beerhouse.

Sleeping Like Sardines?

Eight out of ten couples still try to sleep on a standard double bed mattress. Yet, for most people, this size is as old fashioned as high button shoes—it's just too small to give them the room they need for proper rest.

Super Size Beautyrest is the answer. The unique construction of this mattress assures two people of single-bed comfort in a double bed . . . because the springs are separate, work independently, won't sag. Even the heaviest husband can't disturb his wife's sleep.

Let the sardines sleep like sardines. But why don't you visit our bedding department and look at a Super Size Beautyrest. Take your choice of firm or extra firm . . . tufted or quilted . . . and get the size that fits your needs.

Foreign Car Sales Reached Peak In 1959

By ROBERT IRVIN
UPI Automotive Editor

DETROIT (UPI) — The imported car has had an up-and-down existence in the United States.

The small foreign cars started with but a handful of sales after World War II — mainly sports cars like the British MG. In 1950, only 16,000 imports were sold here, 0.26 per cent of the U.S. market.

But then they started becoming more popular through the 1950s, reaching their peak in 1959 when foreign cars accounted for 614,131 sales and 10.17 per cent of the market.

About that time, the American Motors compact Rambler was catching on, and the American industry's Big Three of General Motors, Ford and Chrysler brought out their own compacts.

From the 1959 peak, the imports dropped to 498,000 in 1960 and 378,000 last year. This year, the figure should be about 340,000. And after that?

One top American industry executive feels the imports will have trouble just holding their own in 1963.

"The heat is on the imports," according to Lee A. Iacocca, Ford vice president. Volkswagen, he acknowledged, "is doing quite a job, but the import market is rather sticky and will do well to hit 340,000 in 1963."

Import company executives disagree. They believe the trend has been reversed and foreign car sales will begin a slow upward climb.

Late summer registration figures bear them out. Imported cars began increasing their share of the market, although it still is under 5 per cent.

VW, of course, continues to lead the imports, and is the only major foreign car to show an increase over last year. The German-built car is solidly in 10th place in the U.S. market and taking 55 per cent of all import sales.

Deaths And Funeral Notices In The Tri-State Area

MRS. VAN D. CANNON

KEYSER — Mrs. Augusta Pearl (Sis) Cannon, 38, of RD 1, Burlington, died Monday in Grant County Memorial Hospital, Petersburg. She had been ill since March.

A native of Luke, she was a daughter of Luther Ferrebee, Burlington, and the late Rhoda (Leatherman) Ferrebee.

Surviving, besides her father, are her husband, Van D. Cannon; three sisters, Mrs. Leavada, Allen, of here, Mrs. Anna Martin, Burlington, and Mrs. Paula Costain, Wheeling; three brothers, Walter and James Ferrebee, both of here, and Ernest Ferrebee, Fort Belvoir, Va.

Mrs. Cannon was a member of Harness Run Church of the Brethren, where services will be conducted Thursday at 2 p.m. (EDT) by Rev. L. Gene Bucher. Interment will be in the Cannon Family cemetery, near Burlington.

The family will receive friends at the Rogers Funeral Home today from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p. m.

The body will be taken to the church at noon Thursday.

FISHELL SERVICE

Requiem mass for Mrs. Ruth M. Fishell, 45, of 110 Greene Street, who died Monday in Sacred Heart Hospital, will be celebrated tomorrow at 9 a. m. at SS. Peter and Paul Catholic Church. Interment will be in the parish cemetery.

The body is at the Stein Funeral Home where the Christian Mothers will recite the rosary today at 8 p. m. and the Catholic War Veterans Auxiliary at 8:30 p. m.

HARRY O. WILLHIDE

BERYL—Harry Osborne Willhide, 81, died at his home here yesterday.

A native of Keyser, he was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Willhide. He was a resident of Beryl for 35 years.

Mr. Willhide was a retired self-employed painter.

Surviving are his widow, Elizabeth (Grant) Willhide and several nieces and nephews.

The body is at the Boal Funeral Home, Westernport, where the family will receive friends today from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p. m.

Services will be held there Thursday at 2 p. m. with Rev. Sumner Sawyers, pastor of Trinity Methodist Church, Piedmont, officiating. Interment will be in Queens Point Cemetery, Keyser.

Service Thursday For Truman E. Livengood

Services for Truman Edward Livengood, 17, of RD 1, Valley Road, who was killed accidentally Monday in a hunting mishap, will be conducted Thursday at 3:30 p. m. at the Hafer Funeral Home. A report from the county medical officer said death was due to hemmorhage of the chest and abdomen caused by penetration of shotgun pellets.

Livingood and a companion, Ralph Bobo, 17 also of RD 1, Valley Road, were hunting in the Bowman's Addition area. Police said while crossing a briar patch and barbed wire fence, Bobo's shotgun became entangled in the biar and discharged, peppering Livingood with pellets.

Sgt. William F. Baker, acting county investigator, took statement concerning the case yesterday morning in the State's Attorney's Office. The case is also being investigated by Sgt. Harry Bosley and Trooper Daniel J. Kerr of the Maryland State Police.

The victim was a son of Walter E. Livingood, Bowman's Addition, and the late Charlotte Virginia (Winebrenner) Livingood, who died November 23, 1956.

Besides his father he is survived by a sister, Quillia Livingood, Bowman's Addition; three half-brothers, Frederick Livingood, at home, and Raymond and Donald Livingood, both of Cumberland, and his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Winebrenner, of Baltimore.

The body is at the Hafer Funeral Home where the family will receive friends today from 2 to 4 p. m. and 7 to 9 p. m.

Mr. Coddington was a son of the late William H. and Nannine (Paxton) Coddington.

He was a retired car repairman for the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad and was a member of the Brotherhood of Railroad Carmen. He was a veteran of World War I and was a member of Kelly-Mansfield Post 52, American Legion.

Surviving are three brothers, Howard (Eyes) Coddington, of Piedmont, Charles Coddington, Swissvale, Pa., and Aubrey Coddington, Barberton, Ohio; and four sisters, Mrs. Ray Stickley, Keyser, Mrs. Erma Fausnaugh, Akron, Mrs. Gladys Healy, Bellaire, Ohio, and Mrs. Ethel Fuller, Barberton.

Mr. Coddington was a member of Trinity Methodist Church, Piedmont.

The family will receive friends at the funeral home today from 2 to 4 p. m. and 7 to 9 p. m.

MRS. JAMES SPEARMAN

Mrs. Audrey Cora Spearman, 55, formerly of 418 Maryland Avenue, died early yesterday in the Allegany County Infirmary where she had been a patient since August 15.

A native of Flintstone she was a daughter of the late Jesse McClure and Judith Ellen (Robinette) Dicken. Her husband, James J. Spearman, died June 26, 1960.

Survivors included two sisters, Mrs. Jack R. Smith, Claiborne, Md., and Mrs. Mary Louise Hubb, Arlington, Va., and two brothers, Thomas Dicken, Cumberland, and James Dicken, Pittsburgh.

Prior to entering the Infirmary she resided with a niece, Mrs. Willard Lamb Ellerslie.

The body is at the Hafer Funeral Home where services will be conducted Thursday at 1:30 p. m. by Rev. J. L. Tenney, pastor of Ellerslie EUB Church. Interment will be in St. Mary's Catholic Cemetery.

MRS. CLAUDE S. BOYER

SALISBURY, Pa. — Mrs. Ruth L. Boyer, 49, a resident of Ridgeley, W. Va., died here yesterday. Born in Salisbury, she was a daughter of Jonas S. and Lela (Schramm) Lichty.

She was a member of Ridgeley Methodist Church and the choir leader.

Surviving are her husband, Claude S. Boyer, Ridgeley; one son, Joseph L. Morgan of Hyattsville, Md.; four brothers, David J. Lichty, Cumberland; Edward S. Lichty, Pittsburgh; James J. Lichty, Meyersdale, and Paul J. Lichty, Salisbury; three sisters, Mrs. Mary Jo Shultz, Miss Sarah Jane Lichty, and Mrs. Patricia L. Werner, all of Salisbury, and one grandson.

A service will be conducted tomorrow at 2:30 p. m. (EDT) at the Thomas Funeral Home by Rev. Banjamin F. Hartley, pastor of Ridgeley Methodist Church. Interment will be in the Salisbury IOOF Cemetery.

MRS. JOSEPH DURKIN

ECKHART — Mrs. Julia G. Durkin, 73, of here died yesterday at Memorial Hospital, where she was a patient since Monday. She had been in failing health for the past six months.

Born in Pekin, she was a daughter of the late Patrick and Julia (McGuire) Sullivan. Her husband, Joseph Durkin, preceded her in death. A son, Joseph Durkin Jr., died ten days before her.

She was a member of St. Michael's Catholic Church and the Sodality.

Surviving are three daughters, Mrs. Clarence Cooper, Chardin, Ohio; Mrs. Rudolph Vizza, and Mrs. Donald Emerick, both of Eckhart; three sons, John Durkin, William Durkin, both of Eckhart, and Michael Durkin, Chardin; two brothers, Patrick Sullivan, South Euclid, Ohio, and Michael Sullivan of Eckhart; one sister, Mrs. George Fisher, Westernport; twelve grandchildren; and one great grandchild.

The body is at the Durst Funeral Home, Frostburg, where friends will be received today and tomorrow from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m.

BROWN SERVICE

ROMNEY—A service for Mrs. Sarah Catherine Brown, 84, who died Monday, will be conducted at the Shaffer Funeral Home tomorrow at 2 p. m. (EST) by Rev. Warren Shields and Rev. Glenn Baker. Interment will be in Indian Mound Cemetery.

Her husband, William E. Brown, preceded her in death.

PROCLAMATION OF THE GOVERNOR OF MARYLAND DIRECTING THE PUBLICATION OF BILLS PROPOSING AMENDMENTS TO THE CONSTITUTION OF THE STATE OF MARYLAND.

WHEREAS, at its regular session of 1961 the General Assembly enacted Chapter 329 proposing an amendment to the State Constitution, and

WHEREAS, at its regular session of 1962 the General Assembly enacted Chapters 6, 100, 112 and 121, proposing amendments to the State Constitution, and

WHEREAS, it is the duty of the Governor, under Section 1 of Article XIV of the Constitution, to order publication of the bills proposing said amendments in advance of the General Election of November 6, 1962, and

WHEREAS, there will be presented on the ballot at said election the following proposed amendments to the Constitution for adoption or rejection by the voters;

CHAPTER 329

AN ACT to propose an amendment to Section 40A of Article III of the Constitution of the State of Maryland, title "Legislative Department", changing the procedure for the immediate taking of property under certain circumstances in Baltimore City, AND PROVIDING FOR THE CONTINUATION OF THE PRESENT PROCEDURE FOR TAKING OF PROPERTY FOR A CERTAIN PERIOD, and providing for the submission of the amendment to the qualified voters of the State of Maryland for adoption or rejection.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Maryland, (three-fifths of all the members of each of the two houses concurring), That the following amendment be and the same is hereby proposed to Section 40A of Article III of the Constitution of the State of Maryland, the same, if adopted by the legal and qualified voters of the State, as herewith provided, to become Section 40A of Article III of the Constitution of the State of Maryland.

40A. The General Assembly shall enact no law authorizing private property to be taken for public use without just compensation, to be agreed upon between the parties, or awarded by a jury, being first paid or tendered to the party entitled to such compensation, but where such property is situated in Baltimore City and is desired by this State or by the Mayor and City Council of Baltimore, the General Assembly may provide [for the appointment of appraisers by a Court of Record to value such property, and that, upon payment of the amount of such valuation to the party entitled to compensation, or into Court and securing the payment of any further sum that may be awarded by a jury, such property may be taken;] that such property may be taken immediately upon payment therefor to the owner or owners thereof by the State or by the Mayor and City Council of Baltimore, or into court, such amount as the State or the Mayor and City Council of Baltimore, as the case may be, shall estimate to be the fair value of said property, provided such legislation also requires the payment of any further sum that may subsequently be added by a jury; AND FURTHER PROVIDED THAT THE AUTHORITY AND PROCEDURE FOR THE IMMEDIATE TAKING OF PROPERTY AS IT APPLIES TO THE MAYOR AND CITY COUNCIL OF BALTIMORE ON JUNE 1, 1961, SHALL REMAIN IN FORCE AND EFFECT TO AND INCLUDING JUNE 1, 1963, and where such property is situated in Baltimore County and is desired by Baltimore County, Maryland, the County Council of Baltimore County, Maryland, may provide for the appointment of an appraiser or appraisers by a Court of Record to value such property and that upon payment of the amount of such evaluation, to the party entitled to compensation, or into Court, and securing the payment of any further sum that may be awarded by a jury, such property may be taken; and where such property is situated in Montgomery County and in the judgment of and upon a finding by the County Council of said County that there is immediate need therefor for right of way for County roads or streets, the County Council may provide that such property may be taken immediately upon payment therefor to the owner or owners thereof, or into court, such amount as an appraiser appointed by a Court of Record shall estimate to be the fair market value of such property, provided that the Council shall secure the payment of any further sum that may subsequently be awarded by a jury. This section shall not apply in Montgomery County if the property actually to be taken includes buildings or improvements.

SEC. 2. And be it further enacted, That the foregoing amendment to the Constitution of the State of Maryland shall, at the election to be held in November, 1962, be submitted to the legal and qualified voters of the State for their adoption or rejection, in pursuance of the directions contained in Article 14 of the Constitution of the State of Maryland, and at the same general election the vote on the said proposed amendment to the Constitution shall be by ballot, and upon each ballot there shall be printed the words: "For Constitutional Amendment" and "Against Constitutional Amendment", as now provided by law, and immediately after said election due returns shall be made to the Governor of the vote for and against the proposed amendment, as directed by said Fourteenth Article of the Constitution, and further proceedings had in accordance with said Article 14.

EXPLANATION: Italics indicate new matter added to existing law.

[Brackets] indicate matter stricken from existing law.

CAPITALS indicate amendments to bill.

AN ACT to propose an amendment to Section 3 (a) of Article XVI of the Constitution of the State of Maryland, entitled "The Referendum", to change the number of signers required on a petition to refer an act of the General Assembly of Statewide application to a referendum, and submitting this amendment to the qualified voters of the State for adoption or rejection.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Maryland, (Three-fifths of all the Members elected to each of the two Houses concurring), That the following section be and the same is hereby proposed as an amendment to Section 3 (a) of Article XVI of the Constitution of the State of Maryland, title "The Referendum", the same, if adopted by the legally qualified voters of the State, as herein provided, to become a part of the Constitution of Maryland:

(a) The referendum petition against an Act or part of an Act passed by the General Assembly, shall be sufficient if signed by [ten thousand] THREE per centum of the qualified voters of the State of Maryland, calculated upon the whole number of votes cast therein for Governor at the last preceding Gubernatorial election, of whom not more than half shall be residents of Baltimore City, or of any one County; provided that any Public Local Law for any one County or the City of Baltimore, shall be referred by the Secretary of State only to the people of said County or City of Baltimore, upon a referendum petition of ten per cent. of the qualified voters of said County or City of Baltimore, as the case may be, calculated upon the whole number of votes cast therein respectively for Governor at the last preceding Gubernatorial election.

PROCLAMATION OF THE GOVERNOR OF MARYLAND DIRECTING THE PUBLICATION OF BILLS PROPOSING AMENDMENTS TO THE CONSTITUTION OF THE STATE OF MARYLAND.

WHEREAS, at its regular session of 1961 the General Assembly enacted Chapter 329 proposing an amendment to the State Constitution, and

WHEREAS, at its regular session of 1962 the General Assembly enacted Chapters 6, 100, 112 and 121, proposing amendments to the State Constitution, and

WHEREAS, it is the duty of the Governor, under Section 1 of Article XIV of the Constitution, to order publication of the bills proposing said amendments in advance of the General Election of November 6, 1962, and

WHEREAS, there will be presented on the ballot at said election the following proposed amendments to the Constitution for adoption or rejection by the voters;

CHAPTER 329

AN ACT to propose an amendment to Section 40A of Article III of the Constitution of the State of Maryland, title "Legislative Department", changing the procedure for the immediate taking of property under certain circumstances in Baltimore City, AND PROVIDING FOR THE CONTINUATION OF THE PRESENT PROCEDURE FOR TAKING OF PROPERTY FOR A CERTAIN PERIOD, and providing for the submission of the amendment to the qualified voters of the State of Maryland for adoption or rejection.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Maryland, (three-fifths of all the members of each of the two houses concurring), That the following amendment be and the same is hereby proposed to Section 40A of Article III of the Constitution of the State of Maryland, the same, if adopted by the legal and qualified voters of the State, as herewith provided, to become Section 40A of Article III of the Constitution of the State of Maryland.

40A. The General Assembly shall enact no law authorizing private property to be taken for public use without just compensation, to be agreed upon between the parties, or awarded by a jury, being first paid or tendered to the party entitled to such compensation, but where such property is situated in Baltimore City and is desired by this State or by the Mayor and City Council of Baltimore, the General Assembly may provide [for the appointment of appraisers by a Court of Record to value such property, and that, upon payment of the amount of such valuation to the party entitled to compensation, or into Court and securing the payment of any further sum that may be awarded by a jury, such property may be taken.] that such property may be taken immediately upon payment therefor to the owner or owners thereof by the State or by the Mayor and City Council of Baltimore, or into court, such amount as the State or the Mayor and City Council of Baltimore, as the case may be, shall estimate to be the fair value of said property, provided such legislation also requires the payment of any further sum that may subsequently be added by a jury; AND FURTHER PROVIDED THAT THE AUTHORITY AND PROCEDURE FOR THE IMMEDIATE TAKING OF PROPERTY AS IT APPLIES TO THE MAYOR AND CITY COUNCIL OF BALTIMORE ON JUNE 1, 1961, SHALL REMAIN IN FORCE AND EFFECT TO AND INCLUDING JUNE 1, 1963, and where such property is situated in Baltimore County and is desired by Baltimore County, Maryland, the County Council of Baltimore County, Maryland, may provide for the appointment of an appraiser or appraisers by a Court of Record to value such property and that upon payment of the amount of such evaluation, to the party entitled to compensation, or into Court, and securing the payment of any further sum that may be awarded by a jury, such property may be taken; and where such property is situated in Montgomery County and in the judgment of and upon a finding by the County Council of said County that there is immediate need therefor for right of way for County roads or streets, the County Council may provide that such property may be taken immediately upon payment therefor to the owner or owners thereof, or into court, such amount as an appraiser appointed by a Court of Record shall estimate to be the fair market value of such property, provided that the Council shall secure the payment of any further sum that may subsequently be awarded by a jury. This section shall not apply in Montgomery County if the property actually to be taken includes buildings or improvements.

SEC. 2. And be it further enacted, That the foregoing amendment to the Constitution of the State of Maryland shall, at the election to be held in November, 1962, be submitted to the legal and qualified voters of the State for their adoption or rejection, in pursuance of the directions contained in Article 14 of the Constitution of the State of Maryland, and at the same general election the vote on the said proposed amendment to the Constitution shall be by ballot, and upon each ballot there shall be printed the words: "For Constitutional Amendment" and "Against Constitutional Amendment", as now provided by law, and immediately after said election due returns shall be made to the Governor of the vote for and against the proposed amendment, as directed by said Fourteenth Article of the Constitution, and further proceedings had in accordance with said Article 14.

AN ACT to propose an amendment to Section 38 of Article III of the Constitution of Maryland, title "Legislative Department", amending the provision concerning imprisonment for debt in order to provide that a valid decree of a court of competent jurisdiction or agreement approved by decree of said court for the support of an illegitimate child or children shall not constitute a debt within the meaning of this section; and providing for the submission of this amendment to the qualified voters of the State of Maryland for adoption or rejection.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Maryland, (three-fifths of all the members of each of the two houses concurring), That the following amendment be and the same is hereby proposed to Section 38 of Article III of the Constitution of the State of Maryland, the same, if adopted by the legal and qualified voters of the State, as herewith provided, to become Section 38 of Article III of the Constitution of the State of Maryland.

38. Imprisonment for Debt.

No person shall be imprisoned for debt, but a valid decree of a court of competent jurisdiction or agreement approved by decree of said court for the support of a wife or dependent children, or for the support of an illegitimate child or children, or for alimony, shall not constitute a debt within the meaning of this section.

SEC. 2. And be it further enacted, That the aforegoing amendment to the Constitution of the State of Maryland shall, at the election to be held in November, 1962, be submitted to the legal and qualified voters of the State for their adoption or rejection, in pursuance of the directions contained in Article 14 of the Constitution of the State of Maryland, and at the same general election the vote on the said proposed amendment to the Constitution shall be by ballot, and upon each ballot there shall be printed the words: "For Constitutional Amendment" and "Against Constitutional Amendment", as now provided by law, and immediately after said election due returns shall be made to the Governor of the vote for and against the proposed amendment, as directed by said Fourteenth Article of the Constitution, and further proceedings had in accordance with said Article 14.

EXPLANATION: Italics indicate new matter added to existing law.

[Brackets] indicate matter stricken from existing law.

CAPITALS indicate amendments to bill.

I, J. MILLARD TAWES, GOVERNOR OF THE STATE OF MARYLAND, by virtue of the power and authority conferred upon me by the Constitution of Maryland, do by this, my proclamation, order that the bills proposing the aforegoing amendments shall be published in at least two newspapers in each County where so many may be published, and where not more than one may be published, then in that newspaper, and in three newspapers published in the City of Baltimore, once a week for four weeks immediately preceding the General Election to be held on November 6, 1962, at which Election the proposed amendments shall be submitted, in the form prescribed by the General Assembly, to the qualified voters of the State for adoption or rejection.

GIVEN Under My Hand and the Great Seal of the State of Maryland, at the City of Annapolis this 3rd day of October, in the Year of Our Lord, One Thousand Nine Hundred and Sixty-two.

J. MILLARD TAWES,
By the Governor:

THE GREAT SEAL - OF - MARYLAND

Teachers Go To Baltimore Meetings

Public school students in Allegany County, as in the rest of the state, will be given a long weekend beginning at the end of classes today.

Schools will be closed Thursday and Friday so that the more than 600 teachers may attend the 95th annual convention of the Maryland State Teacher Association in Baltimore.

The opening session will be held Thursday at 2 p. m. in the Fifth Regiment Armory.

The affiliated departments of the MSTA will hold more than 40 meetings in conjunction with the teachers conventions.

These are planned to present the latest developments in teaching skills and educational materials and will be held in various schools and other public buildings in Baltimore.

Mrs. Lee J. Johnson, distributive education teacher at Allegany High School, will preside at the luncheon meeting Thursday of the coordinators of work experience education.

Dr. W. Ardell Haines, principal of Allegany High School, will preside at a meeting of the Maryland Association of Secondary School Principals on Friday at the Lord Baltimore Hotel. He is president of the group.

Nineteen Allegany High School students with musical talent will participate in the end of the convention.

The All-Maryland High School Band of 110 pieces has six county students as members. The band started rehearsals in Ridgley-Dulaney High School, Lutherville, for the concert at the first general session of the MSTA Thursday at 2 p. m.

Selected for the state band are Linda Gipe, flute, and William Robinson, clarinet, both of Allegany High School; Dennis Hewitt, clarinet, Wayne Thompson, French horn, and David Windish, baritone saxaphone, all of Fort Hill High School, and John Scott, bass clarinet, Beall High School.

In the All-Maryland High School Clinic Band from this county are Ralph Wilson, trombone, Mt. Savage High School, and Keith Thompson, bass clarinet, Fort Hill.

This group will play for departmental meetings of band instrumental teachers.

Eleven Allegany County students will sing in the All-State Chorus of 275 voices. They are Margaret Filer, Ilsa Duke, Richard Lear and James Levin, Allegany High School; Roberta Rizer, Beall High School; Richard Bosely, Bruce High School; Sharon Cox, Carol Herman and John Slocum, all of Fort Hill High School; Judy Boyce, Mt. Savage, and Lois Foote, Valley High School.

The chorus will give its concert at the second general session of the MSTA Friday at 2 p. m. in the Fifth Regiment Armory.

LaVale Athletic Group Meets Today

A general membership of the LaVale Athletic Association will be held today at 7:30 p. m. in the LaVale Fire Hall.

Linwood Robinette, chairman of the association's anniversary dinner, scheduled Thursday, October 24, requested members to report on tickets today.

Methodist Youth Begin 'Teen-Talks'

"Teen-Talks," a time of discovery for Methodist youth, will begin today at Centre Street Methodist Church in cooperation with Methodist churches of the Cumberland area.

The program is designed to help youth learn more about their faith.

"Teen-Talks" will be held each Wednesday until March 27 at 5 p. m. with devotions. There will be study courses and a light supper will be served. The only cost to youth will be 50 cents each Wednesday for the supper.

The first of three classes being offered is "Church Membership" for those interested in joining the church. This will be a survey course in Bible, church history, and Methodist beliefs. It will stress the nature and meaning of a member of the church. Teaching will be the Rev. Stanley G. Herrell, pastor of Central Methodist Church.

"What We Believe" is the class for junior high school youth. The purpose of this course will be to enlighten youth in the basic beliefs of Methodist, Protestantism, and Christianity. Teaching will be the Rev. Carlton M. Harris, pastor of Centre Street Methodist Church.

Senior high school youth will take the course "Adventures in Church Truths." This will be a time of familiarization and discussion with youth in the important fundamental beliefs of the church. Teaching will be the Rev. Frank G. Wanek, pastor of Melvin-Mapleside Methodist Churches.

In addition to the classes to be held each Wednesday, trips are planned such as a visit to Lovely Lane Church, Baltimore (birthplace of American Methodism); and the Asbury Home for the Aging in Gaithersburg.

"Teen-Talks" will conclude in the spring with a dinner and presentation of certificates.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 ♦	Pass	1 ♠	Pass
2 ♥	Pass	2 NT	Pass
3 ♥	Pass	4 ♥	Pass
Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Four of ♠

Taking advantage of a momentary lapse by West, who had gotten off to a splendid start, declarer was able to bring in his ambitious contract.

North's bidding may appear to be unduly aggressive but we are all for it. Tho he holds only seven points in high cards his honors in the red suits are far more impressive than the point count table will indicate. The jack of hearts must be quite significant opposite a five card suit and the queen of diamonds surely fills out South's announced six card suit.

West opened the four of spades and the ace was played from dummy as declarer disposed of his losing club. Inasmuch as the opposition had attacked his weakest point, South was reluctant to start in on the trumps before his side suit was established. He therefore led the queen of diamonds at trick two, permitting it to ride around to West's king. The latter returned a spade forcing declarer to ruff.

South was down to four trumps at this point and was confronted with the prospect of having to surrender the lead once more to the adversely held king of hearts, after which another spade play would reduce his trump holding to near the vanishing point. If one of the opponents held four hearts, declarer was on the verge of losing control of the hand.

In an effort to gain a unit of time in case West held the king of trumps, South played the nine of hearts from his hand next. West followed with the four, in the naive hope that East held a high honor in hearts. When declarer's nine held the trick, he followed it up with the ace of trumps and then abandoned the suit in order to run his diamonds. South was content to allow the opponents to score two heart tricks by ruffing, for this play would assure the success of his contract in the event one defender held both missing trumps. In all, South lost one diamond and two hearts.

West had performed unerringly until South made his heart play. The bidding has pretty well marked declarer with six diamonds and five hearts so that, after the force in spades, he is known to be down to four trumps the same number held by West. By putting up the king of hearts, West is able to regain the lead in order to play back another spade which will apply the finishing touch to declarer's prospects.

Storm, Sewage Bond Issue Proposed By Mayor

A bond issue for storm and sewage drainage problems which have brought numerous complaints to the city was proposed Monday by Mayor Earl D. Chaney.

The mayor indicated he felt some of the projects had been put off long enough and it is time something is done about them.

Particularly cited is the South End area and one drainage condition in the Blackiston Avenue section was again brought to the attention of the Mayor and Council yesterday.

Lawrence Davis, who resides on Blackiston Avenue, and has appeared numerous times before council to voice a complaint, called attention to a raw sewage condition existing in an open ditch only 10 feet from his back door.

In the past, the city has made various tests and suggested solutions, apparently to no avail.

The grizzly bear, long a symbol of the Rocky Mountain west, is almost a memory in Wyoming. There are less than a dozen grizzlies in the state.

evenly circulated GAS heat keeps every room cozy all winter

Practically all new homes are heated with Gas—and here's why. A forced air Gas system circulates the air evenly—through every room in your house, including the basement. And a single, centrally located thermostat keeps the temperature uniform throughout. Your children can play in comfort on the floor in any room—even on coldest days. Your rooms never have a stale, stuffy, stagnant atmosphere, because the warm, filter-cleaned, freshened air is constantly "on the move" throughout your house.

If your home is heated with modern, automatic Gas equipment, you have the best heating system you can buy! And, when you buy or build a new home, make sure it has modern Gas heat.

What's more, it's easy to convert your forced air Gas heating system to summer comfort cooling—just add on a Gas Air Conditioning unit to your present Gas heating system. Enjoy year-round, "whole-house comfort" with GAS!

COOKING SCHOOL RECIPE

Saucy Dried Beef on Rice

5 ounces shredded dried beef
¼ cup finely chopped onion
2 tablespoons lard
1½ cups water
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon oregano
⅛ teaspoon sage
1⅓ cups pre-cooked rice
6 tablespoons butter
6 tablespoons flour
⅛ teaspoon pepper
3 cups Queen City Milk
3 hard-cooked eggs, quartered

Cook onion in lard until tender. Add water, salt, oregano and sage. Bring mixture to the boiling point and add rice. Stir well. Cover and remove from heat. Let stand 10 minutes. Melt butter and add flour and pepper; blend well. Add Queen City Milk gradually, stirring constantly until thickened. Add dried beef and eggs and heat through. Arrange rice and creamed beef mixture on platter. Garnish with egg wedges and parsley. 6 to 8 servings.

3 cups Queen City Milk
3 hard-cooked eggs, quartered

Cook onion in lard until tender. Add water, salt, oregano and sage. Bring mixture to the boiling point and add rice. Stir well. Cover and remove from heat. Let stand 10 minutes. Melt butter and add flour and pepper; blend well. Add Queen City Milk gradually, stirring constantly until thickened. Add dried beef and eggs and heat through. Arrange rice and creamed beef mixture on platter. Garnish with egg wedges and parsley. 6 to 8 servings.

evenly circulated GAS heat keeps every room cozy all winter

Practically all new homes are heated with Gas—and here's why. A forced air Gas system circulates the air evenly—through every room in your house, including the basement. And a single, centrally located thermostat keeps the temperature uniform throughout. Your children can play in comfort on the floor in any room—even on coldest days. Your rooms never have a stale, stuffy, stagnant atmosphere, because the warm, filter-cleaned, freshened air is constantly "on the move" throughout your house.

If your home is heated with modern, automatic Gas equipment, you have the best heating system you can buy! And, when you buy or build a new home, make sure it has modern Gas heat.

What's more, it's easy to convert your forced air Gas heating system to summer comfort cooling—just add on a Gas Air Conditioning unit to your present Gas heating system. Enjoy year-round, "whole-house comfort" with GAS!

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD. — Leave it to Billy Wilder to do the unorthodox in movie making. After telling me he has Dean Martin and Peter Sellers set to co-star in "The Dazzling Hour" during 1963, I asked him what the story was about.

"I haven't quite decided," said this pixie of good movie directing on the set of his current "Irma La Douce." "My collaborator I.A.L. Diamond and I have bought an Italian play called 'Dazzling Hour.' But except for the central theme, we didn't know what it would be about until we got Dean and Peter for the top roles."

"You mean you cast your movies first and then write them?" I asked Billy. This is certainly different from the usual procedure.

"Why not?" he answered, "it's by far the best way to utilize the talents of your stars." He ought to know. He makes nothing but hits.

Even the most rabid Hollywood production booster can't blame Gina Lollobrigida if she got fed up here waiting around the best part of a year to start "Lady L" at MGM only to have it called off. But the Italian beauty has more than made up for lost time since she returned to Rome. Gina has completed two features in eight months and is starting a third.

The new one, "Wild Sea" will costar her with France's young male star Jean Paul Belmondo for Italian director Renato Castellani. In the picture, Gina plays an avaricious, grasping woman, head of a big fishing fleet, who falls in love with one of her young sailors.

I must say Hal Wallis "sneaked" Elvis Presley's "Girls! Girls! Girls!" far enough away from Hollywood - in London yet: there is more to this than meets the eye. Not long ago I told you that Elvis came in third on a newspaper poll asking "of all world celebrities which would you rather meet personally." Only Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip topped our boy Elvis.

But the sneak of "Girls, etc." brouht to light another enthusiasm. Jeremy Slate, who plays the heavy, went over so big that Hal signed him to a long term contract. Maybe you recall Jeremy from TV's "Malibu Run" series or in another Presley film "G. I. Blues."

A young friend of mine, Johnny Considine Jr. tells me his happy news. He is to play one of the Apostles in George Stevens epic "The Greatest Story Ever Told."

"I haven't made a pictur since I was a very small boy, said John. "But I have been doing a lot of TV."

Johnny is the son of Carmen Pantages Considine, and the late John Considine, and comes from a family of show people.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

John Ireland and his pretty blonde bride Daphne Cameron are back in Madrid following a belated honeymoon at Monte Carlo. The honeymoon was a gift to John from the Danzinger Brothers, for whom se starred in "The Cheaters" TV series.

Paul Lazarus, former well-known American movie executive with United Artists, who is now story editor for Samuel Bronston in Madrid, has gained himself a new daughter with the marriage of his son John of the U. S. Army in Frankfurt, Germany, to Barbara Greenbaum of Scarsdale, New York.

Nothing like work to make you forget personal tragedy, and Gavin Lambert has offered Elsa Lancaster one of the plum roles in his independent production of "The Slide Area" from his novel about Hollywood. Elsa is keeping up Charles Laughton's spirits, and that's so important.

The Robert Taylors, just back from a trip to their ranch in Wyoming, are getting around. They were at the Beverly Brown Derby for dinner and the next night dined with the Ronald Reagans at the San Francisco in Santa Monica.

Tennessee Ernie Ford has recorded an album of Christmas songs, using the San Quentin Prison Choir as his background. Prisoners cannot accept monetary payment, so Ernie has arranged to present the group with new choir robes. Capitol Records will release the album.

"What Happened To Miss Illinois," a segment of Fred Astaire's TV series "Premiere," will have beauty Carol Lynley, and a couple of former beauty contest winners - Lee Merriweather (Miss America of 1955) and Arlene Howell (Miss USA of 1958). Other beauties in the cast are Karen Steele and Joan Staley.

That's all today, see you tomorrow.

Stops Constipation Due to "Aging Colon"

New laxative discovery re-creates 3 essentials of normal regularity

As you grow older, the internal muscles of your colon wall also age, lose the strength that propels waste from the body. Stagnant bowel contents become so dry and shrunken that they fail to stimulate the urge to purge.

Relief, doctors say, lies in a new laxative principle. Old-style bulks and moisteners may create gas, take 3 or 4 days for relief. Old-style salts and drugs frequently cramp and gripe. Of all leading laxatives, only new COLONAID gives you its special 3-way relief that works only on the lower colon (area of constipation).

(1) COLONAID prevents the formation of dry, hardened waste for easy passage without pain or strain. (2) COLONAID'S unique rebulking action helps retone flabby colon muscles. (3) And COLONAID acts gently on the nerve reflexes that stimulate the vital "mass movement" of your lower colon.

COLONAID relieves even chronic constipation overnight; is so gentle it was hospital proved safe even for expectant mothers. And COLONAID won't interfere with absorption of vitamins or other food nutrients. Get COLONAID today! INTRODUCTORY SIZE 43¢

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Just Can't Say Goodbye?

Many women who suffer from chronic telephone-itis desperately want to be cured . . . or at least to get their time-wasting, dime-wasting disease under control. Many others would like to cure their friends.

What they need is a natural bridge that can carry them over from a pause in the conversation to that most difficult of words, "Goodbye!" It should be an easy phrase that they can muster without appearing awkward, abrupt or rude.

Among all the suggestions I've surveyed, this phrase seems to fill the bill best: "I really mustn't keep you any longer!"

Since chronic telephone-itis can afflict both callers and those who are called, it doesn't really matter which you are. My bridge offers a graceful exit to either. Said with a sincere note of apology in the voice (which both parties can usually assume without effort after any conversation over 30 minutes old), it gives the first one to make the break a chance to take the lion's share of the blame for tying up the line so long. Since she probably deserves at least half of the blame anyway, she can afford to be generous, even if she wasn't the one who made the call.

I know one woman executive who has been crossing this bridge for years in order to keep both her business and personal calls within reasonable time limits. "I like talking to people. One subject would always lead to another until I found too much of my day disappearing into thin air." What was worse, she admits, was her sensitive reaction of guilt over taking up others' time as well. "Even when my caller was windier than I, I kept thinking that it takes two to talk too long!"

Repeat that key phrase aloud a few times until its sounds just the way you'd like to hear it said, in a tone that couldn't possibly offend. Then, next time the phone rings, remember to cross that bridge if, inevitably, you must come to it. (If it will help, set your cooking timer for a sensible span of minutes to remind you if your call is on the brink of getting out of hand).

Now, I really mustn't keep you any longer than the few lines it takes to encourage you to improve your speaking voice. Just drop a request to me, John Robert Powers, care of this newspaper for my pamphlet, "Your Most Attractive Voice," enclosing 10 cent sand a stamped self-addressed envelope. Delivery within two weeks.

Oakland Rector Will Speak On Latin America

Returns From Auto Trip Thru Mexico And Costa Rica

OAKLAND — St. Matthew's Episcopal Church will sponsor an illustrated lecture by Rev. W. Shelby Walthall, rector of the Garrett County church, on his recent 11,000 mile automobile trip to Mexico and Central America. It will be held at Center Street School aduitorium October 22 at 8 p. m.

There will be no admission charge. However, a voluntary contribution will be received for the Building Fund of the church.

Mr. Walthall, his ten-year-old son, Edwin, and Ralph Schmidt, a student from the University of Baltimore, spent two months during the past summer talking to many people in the six different countries they visited. They wanted to find out what the United States looks like in the eyes of Latin Americans. The Episcopal clergyman was able to photograph, in color, much of the life in those Latin American republics.

The subject of the lecture is "Look South of the Border", and will deal with the social, economic, and political situation in Latin America as it affects the United States. Mr. Walthall has been a student of Latin American affairs for the past 20 years. He saw during his travels, what Communism is doing in Central America and will report on what he saw. His travels took him as far south as San Jose, Costa Rica. With 15 bridges still under construction in southern Costa Rica he was not able to reach Panama, his destination, via the Pan American Highway.

The speaker will cover the hazardous journey down the Pan American Highway, which he found to be little more than a red line on a map in many places.

He and his party encountered many difficulties crossing international borders. They had to make many detours on roads not even on the map. They fought mud and heavy tropical rains. They became stuck in the middle of the much heralded Pan American Highway. They had to ford rivers and streams in the dense jungles and in the mountains.

They were robbed; they slept in a palm-thatched hut in the jungles of Guatemala with tigers scratching at the back, and with wild monkeys chattering overhead. They were in constant danger of bandits; they had to maintain a sharp lookout for wild jungle life—boa constrictors, bush masters, puma, ocelots, jaguars, etc. Finally in order to get out of Central America it was necessary to put their car on a flat car for the final journey home.

The Walthall's car was one of the last to get into Central America this summer. The Pan American Highway was closed on their return trip because of landslides and swollen rivers and streams.

Mr. Walthall will illustrate many of these adventures in his lecture.

Maryland Man Faces Murder, Theft Charges

BERKELEY SPRINGS, W.Va. (AP) — The case of a Maryland man charged in connection with the $131,800 robbery of a 64-year-old widow will be presented to the Morgan County grand jury next January, State Police said today.

The defendant, George Courtney, 36, of Hagerstown, Md., is also accused in the fatal shooting of James Chessman, 62, last Sept. 12, in Hagerstown.

After his trial here, Courtney will be returned to Maryland to face the murder charge. He pleaded guilty to a robbery charge during an arraignment before a justice of the peace here.

The victim of the robbery early Sept. 5 was Mrs. Jennie Harmison, a widow who operates the Parkview Inn in Berkeley Springs.

Cpl. J. D. Higby said two men entered the hotel between 1 and 2 a.m. and went to Mrs. Harmison's bedroom. They awakened her and forced her to give up $127,600 in U.S. bonds, $11,000 in cash, $1,600 in checks and $2,300 in jewelry, Higby said.

Higby said Mrs. Harmison had been doing some tax work and had removed the bonds from a safe deposit box. A portion of the cash and checks was receipts from operation of the hotel, he said, and the rest was "money she had tucked away for no explanable reason."

Courtney, who was captured Oct. 6 in a Harrisburg, Pa., bar, was jailed in lieu of $25,000 bond.

Also charged with robbery in the case is Robert Lee Keckler, 35, of Hagerstown. Higby said he was unable to post $10,000 and is being held in the Morgan County jail.

Lorraine Kuser, 37, a native of Ottumwa, Iowa, charged with being an accessory to the robbery, was jailed in lieu of $3,500 bond. Her most recent address, Higby said, was Hagerstown. She was arrested in Romney, W.Va.

Keckler was arrested by Hagerstown police.

Town Charter At Lonaconing May Be Revised

Council Holds Routine Session

LONACONING—At a routine meeting of the Mayor and Council of Lonaconing Monday night, it was agreed to accept an offer of the Maryland Technical Advisory Service of the Maryland Municipal League, to revise and rewrite the town's charter. Officials said the charter is becoming outmoded, and revisions, based upon a model charter are desirable.

Mayor Harold Moyer called attention to the convention of the Maryland Municipal League in Hagerstown, October 25, 26 and 27. Lonaconing will be represented by the mayor and members of council.

Mayor Moyer also accepted an invitation to attend a meeting of the Potomac Edison Company's Community Development Committee at Cacapon Lodge, Cacapon, W. Va., on October 18.

Police Commissioner Alex Patton reported that winter coats have been purchased for the town's peace officers.

At the suggestoon of Finance Commissioner Nelson Humes, a $50 contribution was voted County United Fund. Commissioner Humes also reported receipt of a letter to the mayor and council from Goodwill Volunteer Fire Department, acknowledging with thanks, a $500 contribution toward a new fire truck.

Light and Water Commissioner Benjamin E. Zarger, acknowledged a report from the Lonaconing Water Company, outlining that 49 fire hydrants and hose taps have been inspected and are in satisfactory condition.

Street Commissioner James Berry reported that work on renoviating the town hall has been completed, and council complimented workmen on the good job.

Joseph McGregor, private garbage contractor, appeared before council and there was discussion on garbage removal and the town dump. The contractor and council agreed that new regulations are working out for the good of the community and are proving beneficial. Council expressed appreciation for Mr. McGregor's cooperation.

Commissioners Berry and Humes were designated to represent the town at a meeting in the Health Center.

Lincoln Bradley, Douglas Avenue was granted a building permit for an addition to his residence and Arthur Phillips, Main Street, was granted a permit to extend a roof line to make a car port.

The next meeting of the town council will be held November 5, according to Calvin James, town clerk.

Children Instructed In Folk Music

Saturday Bible Hour Is Started

SALISBURY, Pa. — The Community Bible Hour held its first discussion period at 2:30 p. m., Saturday in the Salisbury Firemen's Hall at Salisbury, Pa.

George Bittner, director of the Bible Hour, led the audience in a 20-minute hymn service and offered the opening prayer. Mrs. Shirley Bittner asked a Bible quiz, to which the audience responded verbally. Next, Fillmer Hevener led the discussion of the topic "Is the Bible Inspired?" Closing the session, George Bittner and Kenneth Bittner sang a duet entitled "Love So Divine."

Gladys Howser told Bible stories for the children, and Leonard Cutter had a program especially prepared for the juniors.

Health Center Reports Increased Case Load

LONACONING — Lonaconing Health Center is affiliated with the Allegany County United Fund and this year activities of the Health Clinic have increased and the budget request was increased to $1971.40 for Lonaconing. This amount is approved if the United Fund collections are sufficient. Mayor Harold W. Moyer seeks the city support when the Lonaconing United Fund drive gets underway soon.

Mrs. Gladys Brown served as the representative now, having office hours on Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 3 p. m. until 6 p. m. in the health room. Clinics and health nurse, Mrs. Thelma Inskeep, regularly assist Lonaconing area families. William Smith presides at Health Center meetings held monthly for organization representatives to participate in planning activities.

Thirty persons so far this year have been supplied with eye glasses, having made applications at the Health Center. The Health Research in Cumberland has provided the eye glasses for these adults.

Salvation Army will use the Health Center room for their headquarters for a couple days to give food and clothing in Lonaconing to needy families. This group is also a County United Fund affiliate.

The mobile x-ray unit annually is sponsored by the Lonaconing Health Center group, as well as the Allegany County Crippled League clinic and the Speech Therapist.

Transportation to Cumberland when needed for additional clinics is provided to adults and children. So far this year the Health Center has assumed payments for sending two persons with ambulance service to Hagerstown.

In 1960, there were 1,813 people at the Lonaconing Health Center and in 1961 a total of 2,153 attended the clinics or visited the health nurse. This year a larger increase is expected in comparison to the two previous years as more activities are provided for assistance to Lonaconing families.

Democrats To Hold Rally In Mt. Savage

MT. SAVAGE — Democrats will invade Mt. Savage Thursday as they move their campaign guns to the home of Old Rail Post 6025, Veterans of Foreign Wars, for a rally.

State Central Committeemen William V. Keegan will serve as the master of ceremonies and introduce Matthew J. Mullaney, Cumberland attorney and former resident who will speak in behalf of the Tawes ticket.

James L. Conlon, Cumberland businessman and member of the Allegany County State Central Committee, will speak on candidates for Congress, John R. Foley for the Sixth District and Carlton Sickles for congressman-at-large.

On the local level, John R. Hutzel of Mt. Savage, a candidate for House of Delegates, will give six reasons why Democrats are needed in the house. Hutzel will introduce the other candidates for this office.

The county government will be discussed by John J. Rowan who will speak for contenders for county commissioner positions. Other candidates will speak.

Music will be provided by the local band and Saundra Rucker will present several vocal numbers. Refreshments will be served.

Birth Announced

Mayor Reports On Frostburg Sewage Plan

Council Will Name Engineering Firm To Make Survey

FROSTBURG — Mayor Joseph E. James announced at Monday's City Council meeting that a letter from Robert M. Brown, chief of the Bureau of Environmental Hygiene, State Department of Health, furnished the names of approved engineering concerns qualified to make a study and draw up plans for a sewage disposal system for Frostburg and adjoining areas.

Brown outlined agreements reached by the Department of Health, Mayor and Council and the Allegany County Sanitary Commission at a meeting in the office of Dr. Perry F. Praether, Baltimore, September 25. At that time, council agreed to go along with the commission in settling the sewage problem for Frostburg.

Five points were agreed upon: The project would be carried out under the jurisdiction of the Allegany Sanitary Commission; Frostburg would be included in the sanitary district to be created for the joint city and county project; the State Department of Health would furnish a list of qualified engineers for the project, after which council and the commission would choose one, upon selection the firm would prepare a report on sites, feasibility and cost estimates, prepare contract plans and specifications and, after the contract was let supervise the work. The commissioner of health is to be notified no later than November 1 concerning the name of the consulting engineer retained.

Council agreed Monday to move as rapidly as possible to set up a meeting with the sanitary commission and proceed with the selection of the engineer. Members said they definitely wanted the engineer to explore fully the feasibility of a lagoon system which, according to information received, is much more economical to operate, cheaper to install and does the job better than a mechanical plant.

Oakland Rector Will Speak On Latin America

Returns From Auto Trip Thru Mexico And Costa Rica

OAKLAND — St. Matthew's Episcopal Church will sponsor an illustrated lecture by Rev. W. Shelby Walthall, rector of the Garrett County church, on his recent 11,000 mile automobile trip to Mexico and Central America. It will be held at Center Street School aduitorium October 22 at 8 p. m.

There will be no admission charge. However, a voluntary contribution will be received for the Building Fund of the church.

Mr. Walthall, his ten-year-old son, Edwin, and Ralph Schmidt, a student from the University of Baltimore, spent two months during the past summer talking to many people in the six different countries they visited. Maryland Man Faces Murder, Theft Charges

BERKELEY SPRINGS, W.Va. (AP) — The case of a Maryland man charged in connection with the $131,800 robbery of a 64-year-old widow will be presented to the Morgan County grand jury next January, State Police said today.

The defendant, George Courtney, 36, of Hagerstown, Md., is also accused in the fatal shooting of James Chessman, 62, last Sept. 12, in Hagerstown.

After his trial here, Courtney will be returned to Maryland to face the murder charge. He pleaded guilty to a robbery charge during an arraignment before a justice of the peace here.

The victim of the robbery early Sept. 5 was Mrs. Jennie Harmison, a widow who operates the Parkview Inn in Berkeley Springs.

Cpl. J. D. Higby said two men entered the hotel between 1 and 2 a.m. and went to Mrs. Harmison's bedroom. They awakened her and forced her to give up $127,600 in U.S. bonds, $11,000 in cash, $1,600 in checks and $2,300 in jewelry, Higby said.

Higby said Mrs. Harmison had been doing some tax work and had removed the bonds from a safe deposit box. A portion of the cash and checks was receipts from operation of the hotel, he said, and the rest was "money she had tucked away for no explanable reason."

Courtney, who was captured Oct. 6 in a Harrisburg, Pa., bar, was jailed in lieu of $25,000 bond.

Also charged with robbery in the case is Robert Lee Keckler, 35, of Hagerstown. Higby said he was unable to post $10,000 and is being held in the Morgan County jail.

Lorraine Kuser, 37, a native of Ottumwa, Iowa, charged with being an accessory to the robbery, was jailed in lieu of $3,500 bond. Her most recent address, Higby said, was Hagerstown. She was arrested in Romney, W.Va.

Keckler was arrested by Hagerstown police.

Council Holds Routine Session

LONACONING—At a routine meeting of the Mayor and Council of Lonaconing Monday night, it was agreed to accept an offer of the Maryland Technical Advisory Service of the Maryland Municipal League, to revise and rewrite the town's charter. Officials said the charter is becoming outmoded, and revisions, based upon a model charter are desirable.

Mayor Harold Moyer called attention to the convention of the Maryland Municipal League in Hagerstown, October 25, 26 and 27. Lonaconing will be represented by the mayor and members of council.

Mayor Moyer also accepted an invitation to attend a meeting of the Potomac Edison Company's Community Development Committee at Cacapon Lodge, Cacapon, W. Va., on October 18.

Police Commissioner Alex Patton reported that winter coats have been purchased for the town's peace officers.

At the suggestoon of Finance Commissioner Nelson Humes, a $50 contribution was voted County United Fund. Commissioner Humes also reported receipt of a letter to the mayor and council from Goodwill Volunteer Fire Department, acknowledging with thanks, a $500 contribution toward a new fire truck.

Light and Water Commissioner Benjamin E. Zarger, acknowledged a report from the Lonaconing Water Company, outlining that 49 fire hydrants and hose taps have been inspected and are in satisfactory condition.

Street Commissioner James Berry reported that work on renoviating the town hall has been completed, and council complimented workmen on the good job.

Joseph McGregor, private garbage contractor, appeared before council and there was discussion on garbage removal and the town dump. The contractor and council agreed that new regulations are working out for the good of the community and are proving beneficial. Council expressed appreciation for Mr. McGregor's cooperation.

Commissioners Berry and Humes were designated to represent the town at a meeting in the Health Center.

Lincoln Bradley, Douglas Avenue was granted a building permit for an addition to his residence and Arthur Phillips, Main Street, was granted a permit to extend a roof line to make a car port.

The next meeting of the town council will be held November 5, according to Calvin James, town clerk.

ELLERSLIE — The Ellerslie Parent Teachers meeting was held recently in the school. Robert Thomas was introduced and he gave an interesting talk on "Radiation and Civil Defense" and displayed a Geiger counter and explained the function of it.

Mrs. Mildred Russell presided at the business meeting. The principal, Mrs. Esther Conner, and the Fifth and Sixth Grade teacher, Arthur Isom were introduced.

Officers for the coming year are, president, Mrs. Mildred Russell; vice president, Warren Lohr; secretary, Mrs. Mary Ann Airesman, and treasurer, Mrs. Genevieve Twigg.

Mrs. Russell introduced parents of the First Grade. The budget for the year was presented. Mrs. Conner announced a Halloween party will be held for the school children October 31 at 1 p. m. and the child study class will begin January 7, 1963.

Following the meeting, a candy sale was held.

Lonaconing MYF To Attend Rally

LONACONING — "An Evening Of Filmstrips" with records was the program for the Methodist Youth Fellowship on Sunday evening.

Five members reported on the Sub-District Council meeting at the YMCA, Cumberland. The October MYF Rally will be held Sunday evening at Trinity Church for Lonaconing members to attend and hear Miss Mary Ruth Nicols, who has taught three years at Hawabagh Teachers' College, Jabalpur, India.

Members of the WSCS are planning to attend the Zone meeting for the Woman's Society of Christian Service on Monday, October 22, at 10 a.m. A box lunch will be held. Miss Nicols, a representative of the WSCS, will be the speaker.

At Laymen's Day on Sunday, William Abbott, Church Lay Leader, will be in charge. Attendance cards will be collected.

Plan Anniversary

BARTON — The committee for the 17th anniversary dinner, being held by American Legion Post 189 and its Auxiliary on October 26, has asked members to return cards to the Barton Hose Company, immediately stating whether they plan to attend this annual affair.

Benefit Tonight

MT. SAVAGE — St. Anne's Chapter of St. George's Episcopal Church will sponsor a card party in the parish hall today at 8 p. m. Hostesses will be Miss Mary Bird Graham and Mrs. Stoner Beggs. There will be baked goods and homemade candy for sale.

Visitors

WESTERNPORT—Mrs. Abram Thomas and daughter Mrs. Sue Ann Simmons and her daughter Marsha visited Mrs. Thomas' mother, Mrs. John H. Daddysman, Walnut Street.

Health Center Reports Increased Case Load

LONACONING — Lonaconing Health Center is affiliated with the Allegany County United Fund and this year activities of the Health Clinic have increased and the budget request was increased to $1971.40 for Lonaconing. This amount is approved if the United Fund collections are sufficient. Mayor Harold W. Moyer seeks the city support when the Lonaconing United Fund drive gets underway soon.

Mrs. Gladys Brown served as the representative now, having office hours on Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 3 p. m. until 6 p. m. in the health room. Clinics and health nurse, Mrs. Thelma Inskeep, regularly assist Lonaconing area families. William Smith presides at Health Center meetings held monthly for organization representatives to participate in planning activities.

Thirty persons so far this year have been supplied with eye glasses, having made applications at the Health Center. The Health Research in Cumberland has provided the eye glasses for these adults.

Salvation Army will use the Health Center room for their headquarters for a couple days to give food and clothing in Lonaconing to needy families. This group is also a County United Fund affiliate.

The mobile x-ray unit annually is sponsored by the Lonaconing Health Center group, as well as the Allegany County Crippled League clinic and the Speech Therapist.

Transportation to Cumberland when needed for additional clinics is provided to adults and children. So far this year the Health Center has assumed payments for sending two persons with ambulance service to Hagerstown.

In 1960, there were 1,813 people at the Lonaconing Health Center and in 1961 a total of 2,153 attended the clinics or visited the health nurse. This year a larger increase is expected in comparison to the two previous years as more activities are provided for assistance to Lonaconing families.

Democrats To Hold Rally In Mt. Savage

MT. SAVAGE — Democrats will invade Mt. Savage Thursday as they move their campaign guns to the home of Old Rail Post 6025, Veterans of Foreign Wars, for a rally.

State Central Committeemen William V. Keegan will serve as the master of ceremonies and introduce Matthew J. Mullaney, Cumberland attorney and former resident who will speak in behalf of the Tawes ticket.

James L. Conlon, Cumberland businessman and member of the Allegany County State Central Committee, will speak on candidates for Congress, John R. Foley for the Sixth District and Carlton Sickles for congressman-at-large.

On the local level, John R. Hutzel of Mt. Savage, a candidate for House of Delegates, will give six reasons why Democrats are needed in the house. Hutzel will introduce the other candidates for this office.

The county government will be discussed by John J. Rowan who will speak for contenders for county commissioner positions. Other candidates will speak.

Birth Announced

Council Will Name Engineering Firm To Make Survey

FROSTBURG — Mayor Joseph E. James announced at Monday's City Council meeting that a letter from Robert M. Brown, chief of the Bureau of Environmental Hygiene, State Department of Health, furnished the names of approved engineering concerns qualified to make a study and draw up plans for a sewage disposal system for Frostburg and adjoining areas.

Brown outlined agreements reached by the Department of Health, Mayor and Council and the Allegany County Sanitary Commission at a meeting in the office of Dr. Perry F. Praether, Baltimore, September 25. At that time, council agreed to go along with the commission in settling the sewage problem for Frostburg.

Five points were agreed upon: The project would be carried out under the jurisdiction of the Allegany Sanitary Commission; Frostburg would be included in the sanitary district to be created for the joint city and county project; the State Department of Health would furnish a list of qualified engineers for the project, after which council and the commission would choose one, upon selection the firm would prepare a report on sites, feasibility and cost estimates, prepare contract plans and specifications and, after the contract was let supervise the work. The commissioner of health is to be notified no later than November 1 concerning the name of the consulting engineer retained.

Council agreed Monday to move as rapidly as possible to set up a meeting with the sanitary commission and proceed with the selection of the engineer. Members said they definitely wanted the engineer to explore fully the feasibility of a lagoon system which, according to information received, is much more economical to operate, cheaper to install and does the job better than a mechanical plant.

Bids Are Sought For Fencing Of New Ballfield

Facility Will Be Used Next Spring

Bids for the fencing of the new municipal ballfield adjacent to the sewage treatment plant will be opened by the Mayor and Council on October 29 at 10 a. m.

The specifications, according to C. Eugene Mason, city recreation director, call for the installation of 1,345 feet of fence, including several gates.

The fence will be eight feet high except for a 94-foot section back of home plate, where it will be 16 feet high to serve as a backstop.

Fencing of the field is the second phase of a plan which will give the City of Cumberland a regulation ballfield next spring.

The first phase, completed recently by the Hout Construction Company, included grading, draining and seeding of the field.

Mr. Mason said the third phase, which calls for the construction of dugouts and water fountains, will be done late this year or in early spring.

Bleachers, which will seat 850 persons, are in storage here and will be installed early in the spring.

The new ballfield, which runs 310 feet down the foul line and 400 feet to center field, will be used only for regulation baseball games.

Putting the field into service, Mr. Mason said, will be a big accomplishment for the city.

Holy Name To Elect Officers

Sectional Unit Meets December 9

The annual election of officers of Western Maryland Section of the Holy Name Society will be held on Sunday, December 9, at 2:30 p. m. in St. Mary's Church, Oldtown Road.

Sunday afternoon during a meeting at St. Michael's Church, Frostburg, John J. Mathias, president, appointed Frank Werner, of St. Patrick's parish, as chairman of a nominating committee.

He will appoint committee members and give a report at the December 9 meeting.

Mr. Mathias announced yesterday that plans for the annual mass and communion breakfast which will be held at St. Michael's parish October 28 were discussed.

Rev. Edward Brown, S.J., of the Jesuit Mission Bureau, Baltimore, is to be the guest speaker and will talk on missionary work of the Jesuits.

Local Firm Aids Cuban Refugees

Dy-Dee Service, 201 South Mechanic Street, has responded to a request from International Rescue Committee to provide diapers and layettes for the babies of Cuban refugees now in this country.

George M. Young, president of the firm, said Dy-Dee will donate all the diapers and layettes it can and urged other Cumberlanders to do likewise.

Seven Area Men Enlist In Army

They are Sgt. George J. Law, 32 Race Street, who re-enlisted in the Army's Finance Corps, and assigned to Ft. Knox, Ky.; Charles L. Feller Jr., Winchester Rd. airborne training; Samuel S. Kidwiler, 724 LaFayette Avenue, and Robert L. Taulton, 114 Blaul Avenue, an assignment with the Air Defense Command in the Norfolk, Va. area; Raymond E. Puffinberger, 25 Offutt Street, for training as a Ammunition Supply Specialist, and Glendon Ralston, 427 Virginia Avenue, for training in the Armor career field.

people more for their money, will coordinate and expedite county-wide construction projects and help keep in the county jobs which are now farmed out to people outside of the county.

Asks County Plan

The desperate need for more employment opportunities was stressed by David J. Williams, speaking for himself and other Republican candidates for the House of Delegates.

He said he believes Allegany County has the greatest potential of any county in Maryland.

Problems of sewage service and water supply, he said, are well within the capacity of the county "if done on a county-wide basis."

The present method, in which sewage is being handled on a community basis, he said, will not work for smaller towns as the assessable basis is not enough to stand the costs.

He said that if everybody works for a better system of sewage disposal, improved water supply and better schools and roads, "this trend of people leaving Allegany County can be reversed and families can be united."

Blasts Demos

George R. Hughes Jr., Republican candidate for State Senator, blasted the postponement of Route 36 improvements by the Democratic administration, and said 48,000 Maryland investors lost $42,000 as a result of the savings and loan scandal.

Judgeships of the Orphans Court, said Howard W. Vandegrift, one of the GOP candidates for the post, are important positions.

He said no political issues are involved and that voters should determine which candidates possess the personal qualities and traits required. He added he was convinced the three Republican candidates are best qualified to operate the court.

Melvin Sloan, GOP Central Committee member, arranged the rally and Del. Fred B. Anderson was master of ceremonies.

A plea for Republican support for state-wide GOP candidates was made by Horace P. Whitworth Jr.

Rep. Hale Boggs Will Speak At Rally Tonight

Mineral County Democrats To Meet

KEYSER — Rep. Hale Boggs, veteran U. S. Congressman from Louisiana and the Democratic Majority Whip of the House, is scheduled to be the principal speaker at tonight's pre-election dinner sponsored by the Mineral County Democratic Club at the Moose Home beginning at 6:30 p. m.

Joseph Stanislawczyk, dinner chairman, will be toastmaster and will also introduce the candidates and other guests. Guy Adams will give both the invocation and benediction and pre-dinner music will be under the direction of Mrs. Gladys Galbraith with Mrs. Phyllis Chapman at the piano.

Rep. Boggs will be introduced by Congressman Harley O. Staggers, of Keyser, who is a candidate for re-election to the House of Representatives from the Second Congressional District. Others expected to be present are State Senator Clarene E. Martin; Charles Bonar, candidate for the House of Delegates; Luther Borror, candidate for clerk of the Circuit Court; John Gannon, candidate for clerk of the County Court; and Robert E. Dorsey, candidate for County Commissioner.

The Mineral County Executive Committee will be represented by Charles A. Millar, chairman; John E. Ward, vice-chairman; Mrs. Stella Carey, secretary-treasurer, and the following members: James A. Rodgers, Mrs. Tina Fleek, Lawrence Copeland, Mrs. Wanda Copeland, John R. Powell, George T. Harr, Mrs. Carey, Campbell Stickley, Mrs. Mary Rexrode, Betty Welch and William Miller.

Officers of the Mineral County Democratic Club who will be present are Mrs. Jessie Matlick, president; Mrs. Sue Bradford, vice-president; Mrs. Ethel Pulliam, secretary, and Miss Nancy Lauck, treasurer.

During the program explanation will be given on the five constitutional amendments to be voted upon in the forthcoming election. Leading the discussion will be William T. Miller, Joseph Wright, John Powell, Reeves Taylor and Charles Bonar.

Miller Blasts His Opponent

By The Associated Press

The Republican candidate for U. S. Senate from Maryland charged Tuesday night that his opponent is acting "like the legendary, free-spending, 'butter-and-egg man from the South' with the taxpayers money."

In a speech prepared for delivery at a Cambridge, Md., rally, Edward T. Miller said his opponent, Democratic Representative Daniel B. Brewster, "has proven himself to be one of the most liberal spenders on Capitol Hill when it comes to throwing your money away."

Miller charged that Brewster was one of many "rubber-stamp New Frontiersmen" that have voted to spend millions of taxpayers dollars unnecessarily.

"Never an audible word about new taxes, mind you," Miller said.

"Never a public indication that the fiddler will, in fact, demand his wages from the wallets of every single citizen.

School Board

also would like to have new schools in the county equipped with swimming pools and the board is planning to provide an alternate bid on the next junior high school calling for a pool.

Miss Doak and Miss Flake provided a detailed explanation of the new arithmetic program in the elementary schools. It is new in approach and practices. Miss Doak pointed out that there is an increased demand for mathematics in modern life today.

Another problem is that a larger percentage of elementary school pupils fail arithmetic than other subjects. Consultants have come into the county system to offer advice of the program.

Mr. Webster said there was comparatively little business at yesterday's meeting. It was announced that the Fifth State Conference on Education will be held in Baltimore January 31 and February 1.

Permission was given to the Frostburg Lions Club to use the Beall High School auditorium for a concert by Rubinoff on October 31.

Negotiations are continuing for the land needed for the proposed South Cumberland junior high school.

Home Is Planned On Greene Street

Howard A. Buchanan, 549 North Centre Street, secured a permit from the City of Cumberland yesterday to build a 1½ story dwelling at 1014 Greene Street.

It will be about 29 by 71 feet and of brick and frame construction.

Speechcraft Class Starts At YMCA Monday, October 29

Grover C. Long and George Hohar, members of the Toastmasters Club, will direct a Speechcraft class at Central YMCA beginning Monday October 29 at 7 p. m.

The course which will continue for eight weeks will teach the art of public speaking. Highly recommended to business men the Speechcraft program is a special project of Toastmasters International.

Information regarding registration and program fee may be obtained by calling the YMCA, PA 4-5445.

Jury Acquits Charles Turner On Arson Count

Deliberates About 50 Minutes

An Allegany County Circuit Court jury which deliberated about 50 minutes yesterday afternoon found Charles William Turner Jr., 22 Fifth Street, not guilty of arson in a fire which damaged a shop which he owned at the rear of 357 Williams Street last May 16.

Elmer Reinhard was foreman of the jury of nine men and three women. Some difficulty was experienced in selecting the jury because defense attorneys struck 17 prospective jurors from the list and the state objected to four others.

As a result the panel of 25 regular jurors was exhausted and eight talesmen had to be brought into court. Only eight of the 12 jurors came from the regular panel.

State's Attorney James S. Getty and his assistant, Donald W. Mason, presented a case based essentially on circumstantial evidence. They called three city firemen, Lt. Fred Neus, John Yost and Raymond McKinley who responded on the fire alarm May 16. They said there were fires at two points in the building some 20 feet from each other.

Turner himself did not take the stand. In a statement which he had made previously to the county investigator, he had attributed the fire to the accidental knocking over of a candle while he was writing a letter in the shop.

Edward J. Ryan and William L. Wilson, Turner's attorney, did call the defendant's son, Clifton E. Turner, 18, as a witness. He contend it was accidental.

Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris presided at the trial.

LaVale Schools In 'Y' Program

Parkside and LaVale Elementary School children will participated in three ten week "Physical Fitness" programs, consisting of gymnasium activities and swimming instruction, sponsored by the YMCA, announced Benjamin F. Haines, 'Y' program director.

The first ten week session, directed by Lynn Patchin, assisted by Ronald Riggs, will begin Friday immediately after school. Bus transportation to and from the YMCA will be provided.

Classes will be conducted each Friday. The second period will commence after Christmas and the third will start in the spring.

Miller charged that Brewster was one of many "rubber-stamp New Frontiersmen" that have voted to spend millions of taxpayers dollars unnecessarily.

"Never an audible word about new taxes, mind you," Miller said.

"Never a public indication that the fiddler will, in fact, demand his wages from the wallets of every single citizen.

School Board

also would like to have new schools in the county equipped with swimming pools and the board is planning to provide an alternate bid on the next junior high school calling for a pool.

Miss Doak and Miss Flake provided a detailed explanation of the new arithmetic program in the elementary schools. It is new in approach and practices. Miss Doak pointed out that there is an increased demand for mathematics in modern life today.

Another problem is that a larger percentage of elementary school pupils fail arithmetic than other subjects. Consultants have come into the county system to offer advice of the program.

Mr. Webster said there was comparatively little business at yesterday's meeting. It was announced that the Fifth State Conference on Education will be held in Baltimore January 31 and February 1.

Permission was given to the Frostburg Lions Club to use the Beall High School auditorium for a concert by Rubinoff on October 31.

Negotiations are continuing for the land needed for the proposed South Cumberland junior high school.

Home Is Planned On Greene Street

Howard A. Buchanan, 549 North Centre Street, secured a permit from the City of Cumberland yesterday to build a 1½ story dwelling at 1014 Greene Street.

It will be about 29 by 71 feet and of brick and frame construction.

Speechcraft Class Starts At YMCA Monday, October 29

Grover C. Long and George Hohar, members of the Toastmasters Club, will direct a Speechcraft class at Central YMCA beginning Monday October 29 at 7 p. m.

The course which will continue for eight weeks will teach the art of public speaking. Highly recommended to business men the Speechcraft program is a special project of Toastmasters International.

Information regarding registration and program fee may be obtained by calling the YMCA, PA 4-5445.

Jury Acquits Charles Turner On Arson Count

Deliberates About 50 Minutes

An Allegany County Circuit Court jury which deliberated about 50 minutes yesterday afternoon found Charles William Turner Jr., 22 Fifth Street, not guilty of arson in a fire which damaged a shop which he owned at the rear of 357 Williams Street last May 16.

Elmer Reinhard was foreman of the jury of nine men and three women. Some difficulty was experienced in selecting the jury because defense attorneys struck 17 prospective jurors from the list and the state objected to four others.

As a result the panel of 25 regular jurors was exhausted and eight talesmen had to be brought into court. Only eight of the 12 jurors came from the regular panel.

State's Attorney James S. Getty and his assistant, Donald W. Mason, presented a case based essentially on circumstantial evidence. They called three city firemen, Lt. Fred Neus, John Yost and Raymond McKinley who responded on the fire alarm May 16. They said there were fires at two points in the building some 20 feet from each other.

Turner himself did not take the stand. In a statement which he had made previously to the county investigator, he had attributed the fire to the accidental knocking over of a candle while he was writing a letter in the shop.

Edward J. Ryan and William L. Wilson, Turner's attorney, did call the defendant's son, Clifton E. Turner, 18, as a witness. He contend it was accidental.

Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris presided at the trial.

LaVale Schools In 'Y' Program

Parkside and LaVale Elementary School children will participated in three ten week "Physical Fitness" programs, consisting of gymnasium activities and swimming instruction, sponsored by the YMCA, announced Benjamin F. Haines, 'Y' program director.

The first ten week session, directed by Lynn Patchin, assisted by Ronald Riggs, will begin Friday immediately after school. Bus transportation to and from the YMCA will be provided.

Classes will be conducted each Friday. The second period will commence after Christmas and the third will start in the spring.

Federal Employes Get Big Boost

Federal employes are reported to have spent more than $182,000 in the first six months of this year attempting to influence legislation before Congress. It was a big lobbying investment, but it paid off handsomely with a $1 billion pay increase which accompanied a boost in postal rates.

The pay hike was really an afterthought, tacked onto the postal rate measure at the insistence of Senator Johnston of South Carolina, chairman of the Post Office Committee, an old-time friend of the United Federation of Postal Clerks (AFL-CIO), who incidentally happens to be running for reelection.

And friend he is. For the postal workers will get an 11.2 per cent pay increase over the next two years while other federal workers get a 9.6 per cent boost.

Under the postal rate feature, a one-ounce first class letter will require a 5 cent stamp and airmail will cost 8 cents instead of 7. Rates on second class mail, consisting of newspapers and magazines, will go up in three stages, as will third class mail which includes mail addressed to "occupant."

The rate increases were designed to give the Post Office Department about $600 million a year toward reducing its annual deficits. But this effort to make the Post Office a going concern has been defeated, of course, by the pay increase which will add an estimated $363 million to the department's annual costs.

The new rates will not go into effect until Jan. 7, but the first phase of the pay boost has already started, just in time for the election — a coincidence, of course.

The Search For Humaness

The Ecumenical Council, now being held in Rome, will not solve all human or even religious questions immediately. Nevertheless, it is a glorious effort on the part of a courageous and humane Pope, who denies exclusivity and seeks a path to human brotherhood in an era of rising hate.

The Second Vatican Council, as it will be called, meets to survey three great problems and to find, if possible, a road to a solution of each:

1. The problem of unity in the Christian world — if not final dogmatic unity, at any rate, an avoidance of anger in dissent and a posture of gentleness to all who believe in Christianity. Under such a Pope as John XXIII, this could be extended to all who accept God, the Natural Law and the hope for redemption, namely, the Jews and the Moslems. Against such a union of forces, the poison of atheistic Marxism would be dissipated;

2. The reformation within the Catholic Church — not dogma but customs and rituals which no longer fit the times. In this respect, many reforms have already taken place and more will undoubtedly come out of the studies that are being made by various commissions. The Christian Churches existed mostly in rural communities or in cities which were principally marketplaces. Today, with laborers working around the clock, with the automobile altering the homelife, with secular education taking the place of church-controlled schools, with families in big cities being unable to support or to house large families, with the increasing demand for the use of the vernacular in ritual, so that laymen may follow the Mass, and the additional demand for more lay participation in church affairs — these are only indexes to the changes which will undoubtedly be considered.

Some of these changes may not be popular with all the clergy, particularly with those who always reject changes of any kind. The Council will therefore not be altogether peaceful, although it is doubtful whether the public will know what goes on in the committees and commissions.

This much is certain. The Council would not have been called at all were not some bridge to be erected which would make it eaiser for the schismatic churches if not to return to the fold, at any rate, to be in harmony with it. A secretariat for this purpose has already been established.

Some of the less understanding Roman Catholics, particularly of this country, who have been taught to believe that their Church is the only true one, may be very puzzled at what Pope John is doing. They may wonder what Protestants are doing at this Vatican Council, even as observers. Their Pope realizes that an institution that is 20 centuries old occasionally needs refurbishing and the removal of cobwebs and barnacles.

Pope John XXIII is following a wise tradition in calling this Council at the moment of the life and death struggle between Communism and Christianity, between materialism and idealism, between enslavement and freedom. He is meeting his age as the Council of Trent (1545-1563) met its age.

3. Finally, the human mind cannot reject a century of scientific invention and discovery. We not only know the whole of the Earth but we know beyond the Earth into space. We shall soon sit on the moon and perhaps on other planets. We know more about genetics and many accepted notions about the nature of Man are really primitive.

We also experience a curious phenomenon — one very difficult to understand, namely, that the more we know about the physical sciences, and less we know about Man and how Man is to govern himself individually and collectively. We can cure many forms of cancer and have wiped out numerous diseases, but more human beings than ever before suffer from various mental and moral disturbances. Peace and order are disappearing from the face of the Earth. Immoralities, which horrified less knowledgeable societies, are accepted in our era as mere deviations from the normal, and shameless exhibition of improprieties is accepted as a mark of liberty.

The Council cannot avoid noticing these manifestations. Social science cannot replace Moral Law nor can humanism replace God. As materialism is an exaggeration of certain values, so may freedom become such a rot as to destroy not only the individual but society if unrestrained by morality.

The Council's dicta on these matters may be totally revolutionary.

Sen. Morse Threatens To Move Expulsion Of Ohio's Rep. Kirwan

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Much that didn't meet the eye went on during the closing days of the unlamented 87th Congress, and part of it involved the very serious charge of legislative blackmail made by the Senior Senator from Oregon, Wayne Morse, against his fellow Democrat, Congressman Mike Kirman of Youngstown, Ohio.

Morse made the charge direct to President Kennedy in a private showdown after Kirwan had struck five Oregon rivers and harbors projects out of the appropriations bill following Morse's vote against Kirwan's $10,000,000 fish aquarium.

Morse had called Kirwan's ornate fish pond, which will have two giant, three-story oceanariums big enough for jumping porpoises, plus seven smaller two-story tanks, plus a curving live trout stream, plus a tropical rain forest a "fish hotel."

"It's a luxury the capital cannot afford while there is an acute shortage of school rooms here," Morse told the Senate.

While he was speaking, Sen. John Carroll, D., Colo., sent word that Kirwan was already threatening to block public works funds for Oregon; and in the joint Senate-House session later, the furious and crotchety Congressman from Ohio chopped $965,000 of Oregon projects out of the rivers and harbors bill.

"Morse was the cause of it — and that woman too," the crusty Kirwan bellowed, referring to Rep. Edith Green, D., Ore. "I'll hold up all Oregon's water projects until Morse learns something about fish."

Tyrant From Youngstown

A lot of Congressmen — and even some Senators — have run for cover before the threats of Czar Kirwan, who as Chairman of the House Subcommittee on Appropriations, has meat-axed or ok'd pork-barrel projects according to his whim.

But Morse is a Senator who has never run from battle. He and Sen. Maurine Neuberger, D., Ore., went to see the President.

"I intend to make a motion for the expulsion of Kirwan from the Congress on the grounds of corruption," Morse told Kennedy. "I shall make this motion on the grounds of legislative blackmail.

"I have consulted the parliamentarian, and he informs me that in view of Kirwan's attack on my state, I am within the rules in making such a motion." Morse referred to the rules against criticizing a fellow member of Congress.

"Several Senators came to me during the debate on the fish aquarium," added Sen. Neuberger, and said 'Maurine, don't you dare vote against Kirwin's aquarium. He'll knife every project for Oregon you ever bring up'."

"Mr. President," added Sen. Neuberger, "Senator after Senator voted for the aquarium bill out of fear."

"I shall have to point out, Mr. President," continued Morse, "that Kirwan is the Chairman of the Democratic Campaign Committee for the House with the power to allocate campaign funds. And the people of the country know what that means—political bribery."

Kennedy Concurs

The President expressed complete agreement with the two Oregon Senators, promised to do everything he could to help, and immediately called Kirwan to the White House. Afterward he phoned Morse to say that the Oregon projects would be put back into the supplemental appropriations bill.

"That's not good enough, Mr. President," Morse replied. "That can be knocked out with a single objection."

Morse stood firm for inclusion of his Oregon projects in the regular public works bill. Meanwhile he held up a conference report on that bill for a full week, thereby stalling adjournment. Meanwhile a midnight session of Senate leaders rallied to his support.

At the conference were Mansfield, Mont., Russell, Ga., Kerr, Okla., Holland, Fla., Democrats and Saltonstall, Mass., Republican. They agreed that the prestige of the Senate was at stake, that the Senate could bow no longer to crusty Clarence Cannon, 83-year-old "dictator" from Missouri, and cantankerous Mike Kirwan, 76-year-old "tyrant" from Ohio in their refusal to let the Senate initiate appropriations. They decided to demand the return of certain key appropriations, among them three for Oregon.

Sen. Saltonstall demurred a bit at this.

"Just a minute, Lev," argued Morse. "These are not just three Oregon projects. They are three Massachusetts projects, or three Pennsylvania projects or three New Jersey projects because they represent the refusal of the Senate to bow to legislative blackmail."

All finally agreed. Reasonable Speaker John McCormack also agreed.

And next day the House reinstated the seven Senate projects which Kirwan and Cannon had knocked out. They included two for Illinois, one for Texas, a barge canal for Florida, and three for Oregon — the deepening of the Columbia River to a 40-foot channel; the deepening of the Yaquina Bay on the Pacific Coast; and the beginning of the Blue River Dam. This was the real reason why the crusty Cannon made his unprecedented speech blasting Speaker McCormack.

And as the Senate was about to adjourn, Sen. Mike Mansfield, the Democratic leader, asked Morse, in tribute to his victory over Cannon and Kirwan, to preside. As the Senator from Oregon banged the gavel for adjournment, about 30 members of the House stood around the fringe of the Senate to congratulate Morse on his victory over the two Congressional despots — Cannon of Missouri and Kirwan of Ohio.

Warmth But No Flame On JFK Campaign Trail

By Joseph Alsop

PITTSBURGH

The effectiveness of the President's dogged effort to help his party in the off-year election is as difficult to judge as any political phenomenon this reporter can recall in the last 25 years.

When Kennedy came through here this week-end, for instance, his visit had all the outward signs and symbols of success. The airport crowd was not enormous; but after that the crowds were very impressive indeed.

At Aliquippa, a grim, shabby little town of less than 30,000 people, at least 15,000 came out to hear the President speak for five minutes. There was an almost continuous hedge of people along the roadside through all the miles of his motorcade. The Pittsburgh streets overflowed for his grand entrance; and the night rally had an excited overflow audience, too.

Furthermore, those people were enthusiastic and affectionate. Fathers struggled to hold up improbable numbers of children, so that "you can see the President." Old ladies dabbed their eyes at the mere sight of the President's car passing by. At the University of Pittsburgh field house in the evening, he got a stormy ovation at the end of a short speech which must have to almost everyone present because of the bizarre acoustics.

One could not doubt, in short, that all these hundreds of people liked and admired and trusted the man they had turned out to see. As has often been reported, the President, for his part, was visibly cheered and refreshed by this show of popular affection and trust, but that does not answer the question, whether this Presidential stumping is producing the result the President hopes for.

Eliciting a show of affection is one thing. Injecting fervor, excitement, and energy into the Democratic electoral campaign is quite another thing. And it seems more than doubtful whether this much-needed injection is being accomplished by the President.

One reason for the doubt, quite certainly, is the standard speech the President has evolved for this autumn's stumping. It can be telescoped or extended, as occasion requires. But it always contains the same elements.

There is an "it's-nice-to-be-here" opening. There are the necessary references to all the local Democratic candidates, every one of whom is always a wonderful fellow, whose "help" the President badly needs. And there are the proofs the President offers that his need for "help" is urgent, because of the blind obstructionism of the Republicans who have voted 81 per cent against this progressive and constructive measure, 79 per cent against that, and so on.

Whether it lasts for five minutes or is a full-length effort, the ingredients of the speech are always the same. The President always delivers it with heat and apparent conviction, seeming to condemn the purblind Republicans to political perdition with his familiar, oft-repeated jabbing gestures. Yet something seems to be lacking, both in the speaker and in the audience.

At a guess, what is lacking is the conviction that the purely domestic, social welfare issues which the President has chosen to discuss exclusively are no longer quite so overwhelmingly predominant as they were in the days of Franklin Delano Roosevelt, whom the President often calls to witness.

Among those who turn out to see the President, there are many really poor people, for whom these issues ought to be predominant. The President himself, by the same token, is certainly convinced that his welfare measures are useful and important; and he most certainly has a fervid conviction that an increase of Republican strength in Congress, where the balance is already so narrow, will just about cripple the U. S. government during the next two dangerous years.

Yet the fact remains that if the President wished to rivet his audiences and have them hanging on his every word, he would instead discuss the Cuban situation and the Berlin crisis and the other great problems of the increasingly risky cold war. From the way the President himself treats the domestic issues, it is hard to avoid the conclusion that he too would be more interested by his own speeches if they concerned this other range of topics.

There is something artificial, in fact, in the Presidential strategy this autumn. Kennedy is talking about subjects which he thinks possess voter-appeal, but not about the matters which preoccupy him from day to day. Perhaps this is why the Presidential intervention, although it may warm up the campaigning, seems unlikely to cause the 1962 election to burst into flames of excitement.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

ASSESSING VALUES — Now that the work of Congress is over for this year, there'll be a lot of toting up of gains and losses for the Kennedy administration. And, in the midst of the political campaigns, you can expect that each side will be claiming some pretty whopping victories.

Longtime observers of government are convinced that trying to assess the actions of a congressional session in terms of a sports contest is not only impossible, but futile. It is not only impossible to weigh the quality and quantity of a legislative victory or defeat, it is difficult to figure out where success or defeat lies.

For instance, should the political opposition to a Kennedy measure have its way in Congress, only to suffer at election time and thus strengthen the administration's hand in the ensuing session, who won and who lost? And even should next month's elections result in a heavy turnover in the Senate and/or House, how do the experts go about figuring which issues made the electorate vote for or against a candidate or a political party?

If President Kennedy's personal popularity is any criterion of public support for his program, one must conclude that he is accurately reflecting the mood of the country. Yet, if this is so, why have members of the Senate and House, who keep close touch with sentiment "back home," not sensed this mood and acted on it by supporting more of the Kennedy program?

It is questions like these that make the objective observer shy away from chalking up the session as a "victory" or "defeat" for the Kennedy administration—at least until after the results of the congressional elections are in.

In the meantime, let it suffice to say that huge chunks of Kennedy's program still await a final decision, and that the coming elections could well be the deciding factor in the liberalism or conservatism he will pursue during the balance of his term in the White House.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

Next week, John M. Bishop Sr. will begin his eightieth year. The difference between this man and the one of long ago is considerable. When he was a police lieutenant, he weighed 254. Today he is 150. He used to swing his arms and take long steps with his chin high. Today, the head is bowed, the hair snowy, and the step is a hesitant shuffle.

He spends his time in a small room at my sister's house. In it are pictures of my mother, a few holy pictures, a gold clock, a hospital bed which he never uses, a big chair, a portable T.V. set, a hassock, a bridge table, hosts of newspapers, a small library, and bottles of pills. When he gets it all straightened out, there isn't room to escape to the bathroom.

The mind is quick and sure. He reads everything, loves conversation, and appears to slip only on names. He shoots an excellent game of pool, loves to go to sea on the boat, complains of his "wind", adds up his great-grandchildren and comes up one short. Sometimes he winks at proper ladies and when I asked him why, he said "That's what I've got left."

He lives in North Bergen, New Jersey, but the geographical love of his life is Florida. He insists that there is no place in the world like it, although he has never been west of Chicago, nor east of New Hampshire. He comes alive in Miami, although he almost died there of a sleepy heart last spring. On occasion, when I mention the name of Dr. Martin Belle, my father lifts his hat and bows his head. He was saved by the Belle.

He cannot bear to see a child punished for any infraction, although he was a pretty tough cookie in my time. He believes in ghosts, spirits and the Little People of Ireland, although he smiles derisively at anything which is not "scientifically logical."

My father thinks that the Russians are a good people with a bad government. If we had knocked them flat on their droshkies in 1945, my father feels, we could now be putting them on their feet and dusting them off, as we do for so many other nations. We also missed the bus in Cuba, he feels, but in that matter he feels that a few divisions of U. S. Marines would help them to see the light.

He has opinions on everything and everyone. If you do not agree with him, he will explain patiently and in some detail. If you still do not agree with him, he will explain patiently and in some detail. If you still do not understand, you are beyond hope and should be playing short for the Bloomer Girls. In his world, there are two seasons: one in which baseball is played, and the dull season. Christmas is a milestone because it is 110 days until the opening at the stadium.

At one time, he loved winter and deep snows and muffled hoofbeats and the sparkle of a streetlight on a drift. Now, if the temperature rises ten degrees, he wants his air conditioner on. If it drops that much, he'll holler for heat. When he forgets the names of the women in this family, all the females become "Sis."

His sense of humor is enormous. If the doctor tells him to strip, and bursts into laughter at my father's skinny figure, John Bishop bursts into laughter too. In his night prayers, he tries to remember all of his friends who have departed, and, as he gets older, the list grows interminably long and he fights to remain awake until he murmurs the last name.

He cannot understand a policeman who will not do a minor favor for another policeman. Nor can he abide politics in a police department. He still feels — with good reason — that he should have been chief in Jersey City, but that he was kept down to assistant chiefs who had little talent.

He likes two highballs in the evening because we won't give him three. John enjoys food, and likes to flatter the cook. Years ago, he used to love a salt herring for breakfast, or yesterday's beef stew. He is meticulous about his person and his morning ablutions require considerable time. He comes to the table sparkling — even the shoes.

Long ago, he was afraid of age and didn't like to face it. Now he tries to pretend he's an ancient who has outlived everybody. When I say he'll be 79 next week, he corrects me: "I'm going into my eightieth year." In other years, he was a champ at playing euchre and pinochle, and used to come home from card games with prizes. Recently, my wife introduced him to Gin Rummy and knocked his ears off.

He enjoys an automobile ride for its own sake. At night, he waits until everybody is in bed, then he starts to read books. He will read until 3 A.M. Sometimes he writes reminder notes to himself. Before he retires, he lays out tomorrow's pills in a special bottle, as precisely as he lays out fresh underwear and shirts, and goes to bed in a chair thinking about all the wonders he gleans from books.

John Bishop is a romantic, a sentimentalist, a logician — terms which are not always compatible. He's the greatest of them all, and the best I can say is: Add multos annos . . .

Reformed Smoker Tells How He Broke The Habit

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

"I am a former cigaret smoker," writes K. G. K. "and agree with your recent statement that the way to stop is to stop. The mental process of stopping was important in my case. To say to myself I never again would smoke was impossible but I could say (and did) I would not smoke before breakfast. Later, I decided to stretch the time to 10 a. m., and then until noon.

"After ending one day without smoking, it was just a little easier the second day. In a week the desire was considerably minimized. After almost two years without smoking, I feel sorry for people who are addicted to the habit. Incidentally, one of the things I enjoy most about not smoking is the freedom from wondering if the partially filled pack of cigarets in my pocket will be enough to see me through the evening."

Each person must work out his own method of freeing himself from the habit. This lawyer found the right one for him. The last sentence in the above letter makes an especially good point.

A 71 year old Brooklynite reads four newspapers and maintains this is the best way to keep young mentally and physically. He writes:

"I am totally deaf, practically blind in the right eye, wear a truss because of a hernia, have occasional attacks of lumbago, suffer from sinus trouble, and have a circulatory impediment in the right leg. I also am an arrested case of tuberculosis for which I attend the health clinic every two months. Despite these ailments, my mind is so occupied with reading about what's going on in this world, I have no time to worry about my ailments."

When the mind is occupied, the individual is less likely to dwell on his own problems. A great editor had this in mind when he sent his daily paper without cost to the patients in a large Chicago hospital.

REDUCING PILLS

L. J. writes: I have known three persons who took some kind of pill to reduce and still eat all they want. They would not divulge the secret to me. Can you tell me what these pills are?

REPLY

No. If these pills do all this, I would be suspicious of their safety.

NIGHT BLIND BABY

J. H. writes: Is there any help for a boy born with night blindness?

REPLY

I doubt if the condition can be treated but nowadays night blindness is not a serious handicap, thanks to Thomas Edison. Vitamin A should be tried, however, on the outside chance that malnourishment played a role.

RUSTY WATER

L. R. writes: Is it harmful to drink rusty water?

REPLY

Not if it is otherwise pure. The rust is iron and does no harm.

ANGER AND ANGINA

W. M. writes: After reading your article on attacks of angina after getting angry, I would like to clarify a point. Can a person who does not have hardening of the coronary arteries be affected in this way? In other words, could a normal heart react to anger with anginal pain or a heart attack?

REPLY

No, but the blood pressure is likely to go up and the pulse to quicken. You take a lot for granted when you assume that the individual does not have hardened coronary arteries. Studies on young men killed in accidents show that the majority have traces of arteriosclerosis and there is no test, to my knowledge, to determine whether the arteries are soft.

TOMORROW: Rugged nursing.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

A lass from County Cork emigrated to Boston and married a man who was a longtime fugitive from Alcoholics Anonymous. She wrote home to tell about her husband's drinking habits but her parents could make neither head nor tail of the American slang she had picked up.

The next spring her brother came over to New York and ran into an Army parade on his way from the docks. He pointed to a huge, lumbering armored vehicle, and said, "What's that?" His guide said proudly, "That's one of our new super-tanks." "Glory be," gasped the Irishman. "Me sister's married to one of them!"

Three old ladies were organizing a Canasta game on the porch of their hotel, and reluctantly asked a complete stranger to make a fourth. Before the game began, however, the stranger was given the rules in no uncertain terms: "1. Don't discuss mink coats, because we all have them. 2. Don't discuss jewelry: we all buy it wholesale. 3. Don't boast about your grandchildren. We all have a caseful of photographs in our handbags, too. 4. (And most important): Don't discuss love. What was, WAS!"

Then there was the rich Texan who discovered that his beautiful new bride had a hankering for Early American things. So he bought her Massachusetts and Rhode Island.

Federal Employes Get Big Boost

Federal employes are reported to have spent more than $182,000 in the first six months of this year attempting to influence legislation before Congress. It was a big lobbying investment, but it paid off handsomely with a $1 billion pay increase which accompanied a boost in postal rates.

The pay hike was really an afterthought, tacked onto the postal rate measure at the insistence of Senator Johnston of South Carolina, chairman of the Post Office Committee, an old-time friend of the United Federation of Postal Clerks (AFL-CIO), who incidentally happens to be running for reelection.

And friend he is. For the postal workers will get an 11.2 per cent pay increase over the next two years while other federal workers get a 9.6 per cent boost.

Under the postal rate feature, a one-ounce first class letter will require a 5 cent stamp and airmail will cost 8 cents instead of 7. Rates on second class mail, consisting of newspapers and magazines, will go up in three stages, as will third class mail which includes mail addressed to "occupant."

The rate increases were designed to give the Post Office Department about $600 million a year toward reducing its annual deficits. But this effort to make the Post Office a going concern has been defeated, of course, by the pay increase which will add an estimated $363 million to the department's annual costs.

The new rates will not go into effect until Jan. 7, but the first phase of the pay boost has already started, just in time for the election — a coincidence, of course.

The Search For Humaness

The Ecumenical Council, now being held in Rome, will not solve all human or even religious questions immediately. Nevertheless, it is a glorious effort on the part of a courageous and humane Pope, who denies exclusivity and seeks a path to human brotherhood in an era of rising hate.

The Second Vatican Council, as it will be called, meets to survey three great problems and to find, if possible, a road to a solution of each:

1. The problem of unity in the Christian world — if not final dogmatic unity, at any rate, an avoidance of anger in dissent and a posture of gentleness to all who believe in Christianity. Under such a Pope as John XXIII, this could be extended to all who accept God, the Natural Law and the hope for redemption, namely, the Jews and the Moslems. Against such a union of forces, the poison of atheistic Marxism would be dissipated;

2. The reformation within the Catholic Church — not dogma but customs and rituals which no longer fit the times. In this respect, many reforms have already taken place and more will undoubtedly come out of the studies that are being made by various commissions. The Christian Churches existed mostly in rural communities or in cities which were principally marketplaces. Today, with laborers working around the clock, with the automobile altering the homelife, with secular education taking the place of church-controlled schools, with families in big cities being unable to support or to house large families, with the increasing demand for the use of the vernacular in ritual, so that laymen may follow the Mass, and the additional demand for more lay participation in church affairs — these are only indexes to the changes which will undoubtedly be considered.

Some of these changes may not be popular with all the clergy, particularly with those who always reject changes of any kind. The Council will therefore not be altogether peaceful, although it is doubtful whether the public will know what goes on in the committees and commissions.

This much is certain. The Council would not have been called at all were not some bridge to be erected which would make it easier for the schismatic churches if not to return to the fold, at any rate, to be in harmony with it. A secretariat for this purpose has already been established.

Some of the less understanding Roman Catholics, particularly of this country, who have been taught to believe that their Church is the only true one, may be very puzzled at what Pope John is doing. They may wonder what Protestants are doing at this Vatican Council, even as observers. Their Pope realizes that an institution that is 20 centuries old occasionally needs refurbishing and the removal of cobwebs and barnacles.

Pope John XXIII is following a wise tradition in calling this Council at the moment of the life and death struggle between Communism and Christianity, between materialism and idealism, between enslavement and freedom. He is meeting his age as the Council of Trent (1545-1563) met its age.

3. Finally, the human mind cannot reject a century of scientific invention and discovery. We not only know the whole of the Earth but we know beyond the Earth into space. We shall soon sit on the moon and perhaps on other planets. We know more about genetics and many accepted notions about the nature of Man are really primitive.

We also experience a curious phenomenon — one very difficult to understand, namely, that the more we know about the physical sciences, and less we know about Man and how Man is to govern himself individually and collectively. We can cure many forms of cancer and have wiped out numerous diseases, but more human beings than ever before suffer from various mental and moral disturbances. Peace and order are disappearing from the face of the Earth. Immoralities, which horrified less knowledgeable societies, are accepted in our era as mere deviations from the normal, and shameless exhibition of improprieties is accepted as a mark of liberty.

The Council cannot avoid noticing these manifestations. Social science cannot replace Moral Law nor can humanism replace God. As materialism is an exaggeration of certain values, so may freedom become such a rot as to destroy not only the individual but society if unrestrained by morality.

The Council's dicta on these matters may be totally revolutionary.

Sen. Morse Threatens To Move Expulsion Of Ohio's Rep. Kirwan

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Much that didn't meet the eye went on during the closing days of the unlamented 87th Congress, and part of it involved the very serious charge of legislative blackmail made by the Senior Senator from Oregon, Wayne Morse, against his fellow Democrat, Congressman Mike Kirman of Youngstown, Ohio.

Morse made the charge direct to President Kennedy in a private showdown after Kirwan had struck five Oregon rivers and harbors projects out of the appropriations bill following Morse's vote against Kirwan's $10,000,000 fish aquarium.

Morse had called Kirwan's ornate fish pond, which will have two giant, three-story oceanariums big enough for jumping porpoises, plus seven smaller two-story tanks, plus a curving live trout stream, plus a tropical rain forest a "fish hotel."

"It's a luxury the capital cannot afford while there is an acute shortage of school rooms here," Morse told the Senate.

While he was speaking, Sen. John Carroll, D., Colo., sent word that Kirwan was already threatening to block public works funds for Oregon; and in the joint Senate-House session later, the furious and crotchety Congressman from Ohio chopped $965,000 of Oregon projects out of the rivers and harbors bill.

"Morse was the cause of it — and that woman too," the crusty Kirwan bellowed, referring to Rep. Edith Green, D., Ore. "I'll hold up all Oregon's water projects until Morse learns something about fish."

Tyrant From Youngstown

A lot of Congressmen — and even some Senators — have run for cover before the threats of Czar Kirwan, who as Chairman of the House Subcommittee on Appropriations, has meat-axed or ok'd pork-barrel projects according to his whim.

But Morse is a Senator who has never run from battle. He and Sen. Maurine Neuberger, D., Ore., went to see the President.

"I intend to make a motion for the expulsion of Kirwan from the Congress on the grounds of corruption," Morse told Kennedy. "I shall make this motion on the grounds of legislative blackmail.

"I have consulted the parliamentarian, and he informs me that in view of Kirwan's attack on my state, I am within the rules in making such a motion." Morse referred to the rules against criticizing a fellow member of Congress.

"Several Senators came to me during the debate on the fish aquarium," added Sen. Neuberger, and said 'Maurine, don't you dare vote against Kirwin's aquarium. He'll knife every project for Oregon you ever bring up'."

"Mr. President," added Sen. Neuberger, "Senator after Senator voted for the aquarium bill out of fear."

"I shall have to point out, Mr. President," continued Morse, "that Kirwan is the Chairman of the Democratic Campaign Committee for the House with the power to allocate campaign funds. And the people of the country know what that means—political bribery."

Kennedy Concurs

The President expressed complete agreement with the two Oregon Senators, promised to do everything he could to help, and immediately called Kirwan to the White House. Afterward he phoned Morse to say that the Oregon projects would be put back into the supplemental appropriations bill.

"That's not good enough, Mr. President," Morse replied. "That can be knocked out with a single objection."

Morse stood firm for inclusion of his Oregon projects in the regular public works bill. Meanwhile he held up a conference report on that bill for a full week, thereby stalling adjournment. Meanwhile a midnight session of Senate leaders rallied to his support.

At the conference were Mansfield, Mont., Russell, Ga., Kerr, Okla., Holland, Fla., Democrats and Saltonstall, Mass., Republican. They agreed that the prestige of the Senate was at stake, that the Senate could bow no longer to crusty Clarence Cannon, 83-year-old "dictator" from Missouri, and cantankerous Mike Kirwan, 76-year-old "tyrant" from Ohio in their refusal to let the Senate initiate appropriations. They decided to demand the return of certain key appropriations, among them three for Oregon.

Sen. Saltonstall demurred a bit at this.

"Just a minute, Lev," argued Morse. "These are not just three Oregon projects. They are three Massachusetts projects, or three Pennsylvania projects or three New Jersey projects because they represent the refusal of the Senate to bow to legislative blackmail."

All finally agreed. Reasonable Speaker John McCormack also agreed.

And next day the House reinstated the seven Senate projects which Kirwan and Cannon had knocked out. They included two for Illinois, one for Texas, a barge canal for Florida, and three for Oregon — the deepening of the Columbia River to a 40-foot channel; the deepening of the Yaquina Bay on the Pacific Coast; and the beginning of the Blue River Dam. This was the real reason why the crusty Cannon made his unprecedented speech blasting Speaker McCormack.

And as the Senate was about to adjourn, Sen. Mike Mansfield, the Democratic leader, asked Morse, in tribute to his victory over Cannon and Kirwan, to preside. As the Senator from Oregon banged the gavel for adjournment, about 30 members of the House stood around the fringe of the Senate to congratulate Morse on his victory over the two Congressional despots — Cannon of Missouri and Kirwan of Ohio.

Warmth But No Flame On JFK Campaign Trail

By Joseph Alsop

PITTSBURGH

The effectiveness of the President's dogged effort to help his party in the off-year election is as difficult to judge as any political phenomenon this reporter can recall in the last 25 years.

When Kennedy came through here this week-end, for instance, his visit had all the outward signs and symbols of success. The airport crowd was not enormous; but after that the crowds were very impressive indeed.

At Aliquippa, a grim, shabby little town of less than 30,000 people, at least 15,000 came out to hear the President speak for five minutes. There was an almost continuous hedge of people along the roadside through all the miles of his motorcade. The Pittsburgh streets overflowed for his grand entrance; and the night rally had an excited overflow audience, too.

Furthermore, those people were enthusiastic and affectionate. Fathers struggled to hold up improbable numbers of children, so that "you can see the President." Old ladies dabbed their eyes at the mere sight of the President's car passing by. At the University of Pittsburgh field house in the evening, he got a stormy ovation at the end of a short speech which must have to almost everyone present because of the bizarre acoustics.

One could not doubt, in short, that all these hundreds of people liked and admired and trusted the man they had turned out to see. As has often been reported, the President, for his part, was visibly cheered and refreshed by this show of popular affection and trust, but that does not answer the question, whether this Presidential stumping is producing the result the President hopes for.

Eliciting a show of affection is one thing. Injecting fervor, excitement, and energy into the Democratic electoral campaign is quite another thing. And it seems more than doubtful whether this much-needed injection is being accomplished by the President.

One reason for the doubt, quite certainly, is the standard speech the President has evolved for this autumn's stumping. It can be telescoped or extended, as occasion requires. But it always contains the same elements.

There is an "it's-nice-to-be-here" opening. There are the necessary references to all the local Democratic candidates, every one of whom is always a wonderful fellow, whose "help" the President badly needs. And there are the proofs the President offers that his need for "help" is urgent, because of the blind obstructionism of the Republicans who have voted 81 per cent against this progressive and constructive measure, 79 per cent against that, and so on.

Whether it lasts for five minutes or is a full-length effort, the ingredients of the speech are always the same. The President always delivers it with heat and apparent conviction, seeming to condemn the purblind Republicans to political perdition with his familiar, oft-repeated jabbing gestures. Yet something seems to be lacking, both in the speaker and in the audience.

At a guess, what is lacking is the conviction that the purely domestic, social welfare issues which the President has chosen to discuss exclusively are no longer quite so overwhelmingly predominant as they were in the days of Franklin Delano Roosevelt, whom the President often calls to witness.

Among those who turn out to see the President, there are many really poor people, for whom these issues ought to be predominant. The President himself, by the same token, is certainly convinced that his welfare measures are useful and important; and he most certainly has a fervid conviction that an increase of Republican strength in Congress, where the balance is already so narrow, will just about cripple the U. S. government during the next two dangerous years.

Yet the fact remains that if the President wished to rivet his audiences and have them hanging on his every word, he would instead discuss the Cuban situation and the Berlin crisis and the other great problems of the increasingly risky cold war. From the way the President himself treats the domestic issues, it is hard to avoid the conclusion that he too would be more interested by his own speeches if they concerned this other range of topics.

There is something artificial, in fact, in the Presidential strategy this autumn. Kennedy is talking about subjects which he thinks possess voter-appeal, but not about the matters which preoccupy him from day to day. Perhaps this is why the Presidential intervention, although it may warm up the campaigning, seems unlikely to cause the 1962 election to burst into flames of excitement.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

ASSESSING VALUES — Now that the work of Congress is over for this year, there'll be a lot of toting up of gains and losses for the Kennedy administration. And, in the midst of the political campaigns, you can expect that each side will be claiming some pretty whopping victories.

Longtime observers of government are convinced that trying to assess the actions of a congressional session in terms of a sports contest is not only impossible, but futile. It is not only impossible to weigh the quality and quantity of a legislative victory or defeat, it is difficult to figure out where success or defeat lies.

For instance, should the political opposition to a Kennedy measure have its way in Congress, only to suffer at election time and thus strengthen the administration's hand in the ensuing session, who won and who lost? And even should next month's elections result in a heavy turnover in the Senate and/or House, how do the experts go about figuring which issues made the electorate vote for or against a candidate or a political party?

If President Kennedy's personal popularity is any criterion of public support for his program, one must conclude that he is accurately reflecting the mood of the country. Yet, if this is so, why have members of the Senate and House, who keep close touch with sentiment "back home," not sensed this mood and acted on it by supporting more of the Kennedy program?

It is questions like these that make the objective observer shy away from chalking up the session as a "victory" or "defeat" for the Kennedy administration—at least until after the results of the congressional elections are in.

In the meantime, let it suffice to say that huge chunks of Kennedy's program still await a final decision, and that the coming elections could well be the deciding factor in the liberalism or conservatism he will pursue during the balance of his term in the White House.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

Next week, John M. Bishop Sr. will begin his eightieth year. The difference between this man and the one of long ago is considerable. When he was a police lieutenant, he weighed 254. Today he is 150. He used to swing his arms and take long steps with his chin high. Today, the head is bowed, the hair snowy, and the step is a hesitant shuffle.

He spends his time in a small room at my sister's house. In it are pictures of my mother, a few holy pictures, a gold clock, a hospital bed which he never uses, a big chair, a portable T.V. set, a hassock, a bridge table, hosts of newspapers, a small library, and bottles of pills. When he gets it all straightened out, there isn't room to escape to the bathroom.

The mind is quick and sure. He reads everything, loves conversation, and appears to slip only on names. He shoots an excellent game of pool, loves to go to sea on the boat, complains of his "wind", adds up his great-grandchildren and comes up one short. Sometimes he winks at proper ladies and when I asked him why, he said "That's what I've got left."

He lives in North Bergen, New Jersey, but the geographical love of his life is Florida. He insists that there is no place in the world like it, although he has never been west of Chicago, nor east of New Hampshire. He comes alive in Miami, although he almost died there of a sleepy heart last spring. On occasion, when I mention the name of Dr. Martin Belle, my father lifts his hat and bows his head. He was saved by the Belle.

He cannot bear to see a child punished for any infraction, although he was a pretty tough cookie in my time. He believes in ghosts, spirits and the Little People of Ireland, although he smiles derisively at anything which is not "scientifically logical."

My father thinks that the Russians are a good people with a bad government. If we had knocked them flat on their droshkies in 1945, my father feels, we could now be putting them on their feet and dusting them off, as we do for so many other nations. We also missed the bus in Cuba, he feels, but in that matter he feels that a few divisions of U. S. Marines would help them to see the light.

He has opinions on everything and everyone. If you do not agree with him, he will explain patiently and in some detail. If you still do not agree with him, he will explain patiently and in some detail. If you still do not understand, you are beyond hope and should be playing short for the Bloomer Girls. In his world, there are two seasons: one in which baseball is played, and the dull season. Christmas is a milestone because it is 110 days until the opening at the stadium.

At one time, he loved winter and deep snows and muffled hoofbeats and the sparkle of a streetlight on a drift. Now, if the temperature rises ten degrees, he wants his air conditioner on. If it drops that much, he'll holler for heat. When he forgets the names of the women in this family, all the females become "Sis."

His sense of humor is enormous. If the doctor tells him to strip, and bursts into laughter at my father's skinny figure, John Bishop bursts into laughter too. In his night prayers, he tries to remember all of his friends who have departed, and, as he gets older, the list grows interminably long and he fights to remain awake until he murmurs the last name.

He cannot understand a policeman who will not do a minor favor for another policeman. Nor can he abide politics in a police department. He still feels — with good reason — that he should have been chief in Jersey City, but that he was kept down to assistant chiefs who had little talent.

He likes two highballs in the evening because we won't give him three. John enjoys food, and likes to flatter the cook. Years ago, he used to love a salt herring for breakfast, or yesterday's beef stew. He is meticulous about his person and his morning ablutions require considerable time. He comes to the table sparkling — even the shoes.

Long ago, he was afraid of age and didn't like to face it. Now he tries to pretend he's an ancient who has outlived everybody. When I say he'll be 79 next week, he corrects me: "I'm going into my eightieth year." In other years, he was a champ at playing euchre and pinochle, and used to come home from card games with prizes. Recently, my wife introduced him to Gin Rummy and knocked his ears off.

He enjoys an automobile ride for its own sake. At night, he waits until everybody is in bed, then he starts to read books. He will read until 3 A.M. Sometimes he writes reminder notes to himself. Before he retires, he lays out tomorrow's pills in a special bottle, as precisely as he lays out fresh underwear and shirts, and goes to bed in a chair thinking about all the wonders he gleans from books.

John Bishop is a romantic, a sentimentalist, a logician — terms which are not always compatible. He's the greatest of them all, and the best I can say is: Add multos annos . . .

Reformed Smoker Tells How He Broke The Habit

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

"I am a former cigaret smoker," writes K. G. K. "and agree with your recent statement that the way to stop is to stop. The mental process of stopping was important in my case. To say to myself I never again would smoke was impossible but I could say (and did) I would not smoke before breakfast. Later, I decided to stretch the time to 10 a. m., and then until noon.

"After ending one day without smoking, it was just a little easier the second day. In a week the desire was considerably minimized. After almost two years without smoking, I feel sorry for people who are addicted to the habit. Incidentally, one of the things I enjoy most about not smoking is the freedom from wondering if the partially filled pack of cigarets in my pocket will be enough to see me through the evening."

Each person must work out his own method of freeing himself from the habit. This lawyer found the right one for him. The last sentence in the above letter makes an especially good point.

A 71 year old Brooklynite reads four newspapers and maintains this is the best way to keep young mentally and physically. He writes:

"I am totally deaf, practically blind in the right eye, wear a truss because of a hernia, have occasional attacks of lumbago, suffer from sinus trouble, and have a circulatory impediment in the right leg. I also am an arrested case of tuberculosis for which I attend the health clinic every two months. Despite these ailments, my mind is so occupied with reading about what's going on in this world, I have no time to worry about my ailments."

When the mind is occupied, the individual is less likely to dwell on his own problems. A great editor had this in mind when he sent his daily paper without cost to the patients in a large Chicago hospital.

REDUCING PILLS

L. J. writes: I have known three persons who took some kind of pill to reduce and still eat all they want. They would not divulge the secret to me. Can you tell me what these pills are?

REPLY

No. If these pills do all this, I would be suspicious of their safety.

NIGHT BLIND BABY

J. H. writes: Is there any help for a boy born with night blindness?

REPLY

I doubt if the condition can be treated but nowadays night blindness is not a serious handicap, thanks to Thomas Edison. Vitamin A should be tried, however, on the outside chance that malnourishment played a role.

RUSTY WATER

L. R. writes: Is it harmful to drink rusty water?

REPLY

Not if it is otherwise pure. The rust is iron and does no harm.

ANGER AND ANGINA

W. M. writes: After reading your article on attacks of angina after getting angry, I would like to clarify a point. Can a person who does not have hardening of the coronary arteries be affected in this way? In other words, could a normal heart react to anger with anginal pain or a heart attack?

REPLY

No, but the blood pressure is likely to go up and the pulse to quicken. You take a lot for granted when you assume that the individual does not have hardened coronary arteries. Studies on young men killed in accidents show that the majority have traces of arteriosclerosis and there is no test, to my knowledge, to determine whether the arteries are soft.

TOMORROW: Rugged nursing.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

A lass from County Cork emigrated to Boston and married a man who was a longtime fugitive from Alcoholics Anonymous. She wrote home to tell about her husband's drinking habits but her parents could make neither head nor tail of the American slang she had picked up.

The next spring her brother came over to New York and ran into an Army parade on his way from the docks. He pointed to a huge, lumbering armored vehicle, and said, "What's that?" His guide said proudly, "That's one of our new super-tanks." "Glory be," gasped the Irishman. "Me sister's married to one of them!"

Three old ladies were organizing a Canasta game on the porch of their hotel, and reluctantly asked a complete stranger to make a fourth. Terry Masters Giants, 1-0, Yankees Win 20th World Series Title

Giants Wage Game Battle To Final Out

Tresh, Maris Make Key Plays; Terry Tosses 4-Hitter

By OSCAR FRALEY
UPI Sports Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) —The whiplash arm of a lean young man from Oklahoma swept the New York Yankees to their 20th World Series championship Tuesday and tolled midnight at long last for the Cinderella San Francisco Giants.

Big Ralph Terry fired a blazing four-hitter for a pulsating 1-0 victory which ended time for a Giant team which had made a career out of battling back.

Beaten four times in Series play before he finally snapped his hoodoo by winning the fifth game, the 26-year-old Terry earned the plaudits of 43,948 fans in wind-swept Candlestick Park with a classic clutch performance.

For those mighty Yankees gave him only one run to work with, and with $4,000-a-man in Series gold as well as the glory which goes with it hanging on every fast ball and each curling curve, Terry tossed them to victory.

Tresh Catch Catch Helps

There was brilliant help which bailed him out—a dazzling one-handed catch by rookie Tom Tresh of a Willie Mays line drive for a second out in the seventh inning. That drive could have been a double—and an instant later would have become a run on a rousing triple by Willie McCovey.

Then, in a heart-stopping ninth inning, as those Giants who all season long specialized in come-from-behind victories made their biggest run at Terry, the lean man finally got them out with more pitching courage and a big assist from his mates.

Pinch-hitter Matty Alou, a dangerous little man with a bat, opened that last-half inning — the last of all in a grinding series of 172 games for these Giants—with a bunt single. Terry hitched up his pants and fired a third strike both Felipe Alou and Chuck Hiller.

Maris Prevents Score

But then Willie Mays rapped a double down the right field line, with Alou fleeing to third.

Out there on the emerald green grass, Roger Maris ran it down and fired the ball desperately to the plate to hold Alou from scoring.

Then, with one out left, up came McCovey, who raps a ball out of sight when he hits it square. He did once, but it sailed high and foul into the right field corner. And then McCovey drove a screaming line drive which little Bobby Richardson caught for the biggest out of the year.

It hung defeat on hard-throwing Jack Sanford, who had bested Terry in the second game of this 13-day Series—matching the longest of them all back in 1911. Tuesday Sanford couldn't get out of a Yankee bases - loaded threat in the fifth inning.

Break Through With Run

Terry and Sanford were hooked up in a tense pitching duel through the first four innings until the Yankees finally broke through with that run.

The Yankees had a chance to break it wide open at this point when they loaded the bases with none out and seemingly had Sanford on the ropes.

Moose Skowron started them off with a single to left, which was only the second hit off the chunky Giant pitcher, and pounded to third on Cletis Boyer's long single to center. Sanford then compounded his own difficulties by walking Terry on four pitches to load the bases.

The Giants were happy to settle for one run when Tony Kubek grounded into a double play, Skowron scoring and Boyer moving to third. Sanford stranded him there by getting Richardson to pop up.

Sets Giants Down

That one run didn't look very big at this point, even though Terry had set the Giants down in order through the first five innings —and didn't give them their first hit until the sixth.

These Giants had made a habit of coming back this season after seemingly being crushed by defeat. In the National League pennant race they were four games back with eight left to play and three back with only six remaining.

But on the very last day of the season they collared the Los Angeles Dodgers and then beat them in the playoff — after seemingly having lost that third and final playoff game.

Then three times in this Series the Giants had trailed, and each time they battled back to square it up.

And they had fought those Yankees off from padding their lead in the eighth on a five-pitch relief job by Billy O'Dell which got three quick outs with the bases loaded.

In that frame, Richardson was safe at first on an error, Tresh singled off Jose Pagan's leg and Mickey Mantle — hitless in his last 13 appearances at the plate—singled to right to fill the bases.

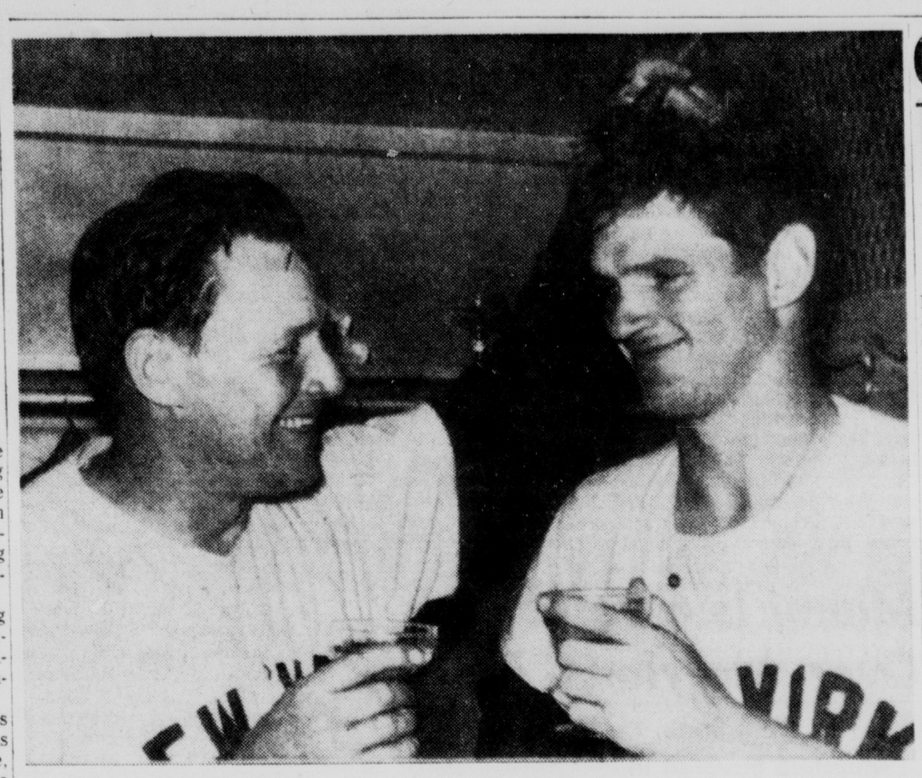
O'Dell Stymies Yanks

That's when the weary Sanford left the premises and O'Dell trudged to the mound. But he was equal to the task. He got Maris to rap a ground ball which forced Richardson at the plate and then got Howard to ground into a double play.

So those Giant hopes, and those of the partisan crowd sitting in the 25-mile winds which whipped through Candlestick Park, still were high.

But it had to end somewhere, sometime, because the way those Giants had been doing it was not only unbelievable but too tempting to fate.

They gave it that big old-time try in the ninth once again—but this time the golden coach turned back into a pumpkin.



CELEBRATING PAIR — Ralph Houk, New York Yankee manager, a cigar in one hand and a glass of champagne in the other, tousles pitcher Ralph Terry's hair in Yankee dressing room in Candlestick Park yesterday after Terry hurled the New Yorkers to a 1-0 victory over the Giants to win the World Series. Terry tossed a 4-hitter to score his second win of the series. The Yankees won four games and San Francisco three. (AP Photofax)

Ralph Terry Says:

"Oooh, I'm Glad It's Over, What A Perfect Ending, 1-0"

Calls Giants Great Club; Houk Praises Plays By Maris, Tresh

By JIM BECKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Ralph Terry, who set down the San Francisco Giants on only four hits Tuesday in pitching the New York Yankees to their 20th World Series championship with a 1-0 victory, just sat back in his locker cubicle with a dazed smile on his face.

Ralph Praises Giants

"It was the biggest thrill of my life," he said. "But 1-0—that's how close the teams were in every respect in this Series. The Giants are a great ball club."

"I'm sure glad he hit that ball right at somebody," said Manager Ralph Houk. "He couldn't have hit it much better. But I don't care how hard they hit them if they hit them at somebody." Houk said in the jubilation of the Yanks dressing room.

Houk was talking about the rifle shot line drive that Willie McCovey of the San Francisco Giants hit at Bobby Richardson to end the game.

"Phew, what a ball game," Houk exclaimed. "That was really a squeaker.

"We made some good plays. (Tom) Tresh's catch on Willie Mays in the seventh inning saved the game. So did fast fielding by (Roger) Maris on Mays' double in the ninth.

"And the Giants didn't do anything to disgrace themselves either. They fought us right down to the last out of the seventh game."

"Were We Nervous?"

Elston Howard, the catcher, said the victory was "the greatest game Terry ever pitched."

"Were we nervous?" Howard said, "were we nervous? We were all tight. It was the last game of the World Series."

As the shock of the hairbreadth victory wore off, the Yankees seemed to come to life.

"Terry gave them their 'bye, bye, baby,'" shouted third baseman Clete Boyer, over and over.

"Bye, bye, baby," is the theme song of the Giants.

Terry called for champagne, and a glass was handed to him.

With the glass in hand, Terry leaned back again, banged his head against the back of the locker a few times as if to make sure that he was awake and not dreaming, and said, again:

"What an ending."

Houk Lights Cigar

Many of the Yankees wandered around the locker room in various stages of dress. All had sweet smiles on their faces.

Houk abandoned his tobacco cud, unwrapped a cigar, and asked:

"Anybody got a match?"

Bow Hunters Slay 18 Deer First Day Of Maryland Season

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — The Department of Game and Inland Fish reported Tuesday that bow and arrow hunters killed 18 deer during the first day of the season.

Harford and Carroll counties, with four kills each, led the state Monday while Baltimore had two and Frederick, Calvert, Cecil, Kent and Talbot had one each for the counties which have a 27-day season.

Howard, Montgomery, Anne Arundel, Prince Georges, Charles, Queen Annes and Caroline, also with a 27-day season reported no kills.

Worcester County had two kills and Dorchester one among the counties with a 23-day season. Other counties in that group, St. Marys, Wicomico, and Somerset, reported no kills.

Garrett, Allegany and Washington counties open a 17-day bow and arrow season on Oct. 26.

Harriers Of Seven Schools Vie Today In Cross-Country

Seven high schools — three from Maryland and four from West Virginia — will participate in two cross - country meets scheduled for today.

At the Maplehurst Country Club Golf Course, Frostburg, Beall High School's harriers will oppose the hill and dale team from Romney High School at 4 p. m. Both schools were victorious in the first meets held this season.

Five schools, namely, Fort Hill, Allegany, Elk Garden, Oldtown and Paw Paw will vie in Class "A" and "B" meets at the Fort Cumberland Golf Course, commencing at 4 p. m.

The schools participating in the two meets today will battle it out for the area championship at the Fort Cumberland Golf Course, Thursday, October 25, at 4 p. m.

Lakers Triumph In NBA Opener

NEW YORK (UPI) —Jerry West and Elgin Baylor led the Los Angeles Lakers to a 122-106 victory over the Detroit Pistons at Madison Square Garden Tuesday night in the opening game of the National Basketball Association season.

Baylor shot 15 of 37 from the field for 35 points and West 11 of 29 for 30 points as the Lakers never were pressed after the early minutes of the second half.

The Pistons played without Bailey Howell, their star forward, who had a virus but Ray Scott, who had a 13.3 point average last season, tried to make up the deficit with a 37 point performance.

Cleveland Golfers Pace Dodge Event

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Frank Harned and George Bigham, both of Cleveland, Ohio, fired a seven-under par 63 Tuesday to take the first round lead in the 54-hole fourth annual $10,000 Dodge Invitational, a pro-pro better ball golf tournament.

Harned and Bigham, the Northern Ohio PGA champion, toured the front nine in a four-under 32, then rolled home with a three-under 31. They bagged eight birdies, one bogey and nine pars over the Churchill Valley Country Club's hilly fairways.

Ray Grabosky of Philipsburg, Pa., and Frank Kiraly of Latrobe, Pa., teamed up for a 33-31—64 to gain a tie for second place with Joe Taylor of Charleston, W. Va., and Ed Furgol of the Westmoreland Country Club. Furgol, former U. S. Open champion and present Tri-State PGA king, and Taylor posted rounds of 32-32 for their second place tie.

Four teams were tied for third place with 65s. They were Dick Masterson of Johnstown, Pa., and Bob Batdorf of Reading 32-33; Howard Turner and Jerry Port, both of Philadelphia 33-32; Buddy Viar of St. Clair, Pa., and Bob Collins of Columbus, Ohio 34-31, and Carl Beljan, host pro, and his brother Willie, 34-31.

The final round will be played Thursday.

Clay-Moore Fight Date Rescheduled

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The heavyweight elimination bout between Archie Moore of San Diego, Calif., and Cassius Clay of Louisville, Ky., has been rescheduled for Thursday, Nov. 15, at the Los Angeles Sports Arena, matchmaker George Parnassus announced Tuesday.

The fight originally had been set for Oct. 23 in the outdoor Coliseum but a postponement was agreed upon last week in order to permit the Gene Fullmer-Dick Tiger middleweight championship bout to be held that night at San Francisco's Candlestick Park.

Dark Doesn't Think Alou Could Have Made It Home

Agrees With Whitey Lockman; Calls Tresh Catch Key Play

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — "No, I don't think Matty could have made it home on Willie Mays' double in the ninth. He would have been out."

Manager Alvin Dark thus echoed the sentiments of the Giants that Matty Alou couldnt' have scored from first on Mays' hit in the ninth inning as San Francisco lost 1-0 to the New York Yankees in Tuesday's finale of the World Series.

"That's the hardest line drive a guy can hit," Dark added of Willie McCovey's shot to second baseman Bobby Richardson that ended the game.

Proud Of His Giants

Asked how he felt, the Giants manager declared:

"I feel like this club had a great year. I'm as proud of them as I can be of them. They played just great."

The Giants dressed quietly and answered questions calmly.

Losing pitcher Jack Sanford sat glumly. Asked if he were missing with fast balls when he walked pitcher Ralph Terry in the fifth, leading to the Yankees' run, he snapped, "Certainly I was, why do you think I walked him?"

Walk Set Up Score

Sanford had struck out Terry six of seven times he had faced him previously. But the walk filled the bases and the run scored as the Giants executed a double play.

Third base coach Whitey Lockman said he held up Matty Alou in the ninth, "Because in my opinion, he couldn't have made it."

Alou was on first base when Mays rifled a double to the right field corner. Roger Maris, the Yankee right fielder, made a quick recovery and fired the ball to the infield—and Alou stopped at third. McCovey lined out to end the game two pitches later.

Dark complimented all his players and said, "Ralph Terry was tremendous for them. He pitched great."

Catch Was Key Play

Dark felt Tom Tresh's spectacular catch of Mays' drive to the left field corner had to be one of the key plays.

"He saved them a run, of course," Dark said, "but you don't know how it influenced the outcome. I've never seen such an even pair of clubs in the World Series."

Griffith, Wright Clash In Vienna For Boxing Title

VIENNA (UPI) — Welterweight champion Emile Griffith of New York and Teddy Wright of Detroit fight at Vienna's Stadthalle Wednesday night for the Austrian version of the new world junior middleweight championship.

Their scheduled 15-round bout is expected to attract almost a capacity 18,000 because their synthetic title bout will be bolstered by an eight-rounder between ex-welterweight and middleweight champion Sugar Ray Robinson and Diego Infantes, middleweight champion of Spain.

Griffith's world welterweight (147-pound) championship will not be at stake in this fight for the recently created junior-middle (154 - pound) championship because both he and Wright will weigh more than 147 pounds, each.

Griffith is guaranteed $20,000, with an option of 25 per cent of the net gate. Wright is expected to get between $8,000 and $10,000. Robinson reportedly will receive about $10,000.

Terry Masters Giants, 1-0, Yankees Win 20th World Series Title

Giants Wage Game Battle To Final Out

Tresh, Maris Make Key Plays; Terry Tosses 4-Hitter

By OSCAR FRALEY
UPI Sports Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) —The whiplash arm of a lean young man from Oklahoma swept the New York Yankees to their 20th World Series championship Tuesday and tolled midnight at long last for the Cinderella San Francisco Giants.

Big Ralph Terry fired a blazing four-hitter for a pulsating 1-0 victory which ended time for a Giant team which had made a career out of battling back.

Beaten four times in Series play before he finally snapped his hoodoo by winning the fifth game, the 26-year-old Terry earned the plaudits of 43,948 fans in wind-swept Candlestick Park with a classic clutch performance.

For those mighty Yankees gave him only one run to work with, and with $4,000-a-man in Series gold as well as the glory which goes with it hanging on every fast ball and each curling curve, Terry tossed them to victory.

Tresh Catch Catch Helps

There was brilliant help which bailed him out—a dazzling one-handed catch by rookie Tom Tresh of a Willie Mays line drive for a second out in the seventh inning. That drive could have been a double—and an instant later would have become a run on a rousing triple by Willie McCovey.

Then, in a heart-stopping ninth inning, as those Giants who all season long specialized in come-from-behind victories made their biggest run at Terry, the lean man finally got them out with more pitching courage and a big assist from his mates.

Pinch-hitter Matty Alou, a dangerous little man with a bat, opened that last-half inning — the last of all in a grinding series of 172 games for these Giants—with a bunt single. Terry hitched up his pants and fired a third strike both Felipe Alou and Chuck Hiller.

Maris Prevents Score

But then Willie Mays rapped a double down the right field line, with Alou fleeing to third.

Out there on the emerald green grass, Roger Maris ran it down and fired the ball desperately to the plate to hold Alou from scoring.

Then, with one out left, up came McCovey, who raps a ball out of sight when he hits it square. He did once, but it sailed high and foul into the right field corner. And then McCovey drove a screaming line drive which little Bobby Richardson caught for the biggest out of the year.

It hung defeat on hard-throwing Jack Sanford, who had bested Terry in the second game of this 13-day Series—matching the longest of them all back in 1911. Tuesday Sanford couldn't get out of a Yankee bases - loaded threat in the fifth inning.

Break Through With Run

Terry and Sanford were hooked up in a tense pitching duel through the first four innings until the Yankees finally broke through with that run.

The Yankees had a chance to break it wide open at this point when they loaded the bases with none out and seemingly had Sanford on the ropes.

Moose Skowron started them off with a single to left, which was only the second hit off the chunky Giant pitcher, and pounded to third on Cletis Boyer's long single to center. Sanford then compounded his own difficulties by walking Terry on four pitches to load the bases.

The Giants were happy to settle for one run when Tony Kubek grounded into a double play, Skowron scoring and Boyer moving to third. Sanford stranded him there by getting Richardson to pop up.

Sets Giants Down

That one run didn't look very big at this point, even though Terry had set the Giants down in order through the first five innings —and didn't give them their first hit until the sixth.

These Giants had made a habit of coming back this season after seemingly being crushed by defeat. In the National League pennant race they were four games back with eight left to play and three back with only six remaining.

But on the very last day of the season they collared the Los Angeles Dodgers and then beat them in the playoff — after seemingly having lost that third and final playoff game.

Then three times in this Series the Giants had trailed, and each time they battled back to square it up.

And they had fought those Yankees off from padding their lead in the eighth on a five-pitch relief job by Billy O'Dell which got three quick outs with the bases loaded.

In that frame, Richardson was safe at first on an error, Tresh singled off Jose Pagan's leg and Mickey Mantle — hitless in his last 13 appearances at the plate—singled to right to fill the bases.

O'Dell Stymies Yanks

That's when the weary Sanford left the premises and O'Dell trudged to the mound. But he was equal to the task. He got Maris to rap a ground ball which forced Richardson at the plate and then got Howard to ground into a double play.

So those Giant hopes, and those of the partisan crowd sitting in the 25-mile winds which whipped through Candlestick Park, still were high.

But it had to end somewhere, sometime, because the way those Giants had been doing it was not only unbelievable but too tempting to fate.

They gave it that big old-time try in the ninth once again—but this time the golden coach turned back into a pumpkin.

CELEBRATING PAIR — Ralph Houk, New York Yankee manager, a cigar in one hand and a glass of champagne in the other, tousles pitcher Ralph Terry's hair in Yankee dressing room in Candlestick Park yesterday after Terry hurled the New Yorkers to a 1-0 victory over the Giants to win the World Series. Terry tossed a 4-hitter to score his second win of the series. The Yankees won four games and San Francisco three. (AP Photofax)

Ralph Terry Says:

"Oooh, I'm Glad It's Over, What A Perfect Ending, 1-0"

Calls Giants Great Club; Houk Praises Plays By Maris, Tresh

By JIM BECKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Ralph Terry, who set down the San Francisco Giants on only four hits Tuesday in pitching the New York Yankees to their 20th World Series championship with a 1-0 victory, just sat back in his locker cubicle with a dazed smile on his face.

Ralph Praises Giants

"It was the biggest thrill of my life," he said. "But 1-0—that's how close the teams were in every respect in this Series. The Giants are a great ball club."

"I'm sure glad he hit that ball right at somebody," said Manager Ralph Houk. "He couldn't have hit it much better. But I don't care how hard they hit them if they hit them at somebody," Houk said in the jubilation of the Yanks dressing room.

Houk was talking about the rifle shot line drive that Willie McCovey of the San Francisco Giants hit at Bobby Richardson to end the game.

"Phew, what a ball game," Houk exclaimed. "That was really a squeaker.

"We made some good plays. (Tom) Tresh's catch on Willie Mays in the seventh inning saved the game. So did fast fielding by (Roger) Maris on Mays' double in the ninth.

"And the Giants didn't do anything to disgrace themselves either. They fought us right down to the last out of the seventh game."

"Were We Nervous?"

Elston Howard, the catcher, said the victory was "the greatest game Terry ever pitched."

"Were we nervous?" Howard said, "were we nervous? We were all tight. It was the last game of the World Series."

As the shock of the hairbreadth victory wore off, the Yankees seemed to come to life.

"Terry gave them their 'bye, bye, baby,'" shouted third baseman Clete Boyer, over and over.

"Bye, bye, baby," is the theme song of the Giants.

Terry called for champagne, and a glass was handed to him.

With the glass in hand, Terry leaned back again, banged his head against the back of the locker a few times as if to make sure that he was awake and not dreaming, and said, again:

"What an ending."

Houk Lights Cigar

Many of the Yankees wandered around the locker room in various stages of dress. All had sweet smiles on their faces.

Houk abandoned his tobacco cud, unwrapped a cigar, and asked:

Lakers Triumph In NBA Opener

NEW YORK (UPI) —Jerry West and Elgin Baylor led the Los Angeles Lakers to a 122-106 victory over the Detroit Pistons at Madison Square Garden Tuesday night in the opening game of the National Basketball Association season.

Baylor shot 15 of 37 from the field for 35 points and West 11 of 29 for 30 points as the Lakers never were pressed after the early minutes of the second half.

The Pistons played without Bailey Howell, their star forward, who had a virus but Ray Scott, who had a 13.3 point average last season, tried to make up the deficit with a 37 point performance.

Cleveland Golfers Pace Dodge Event

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Frank Harned and George Bigham, both of Cleveland, Ohio, fired a seven-under par 63 Tuesday to take the first round lead in the 54-hole fourth annual $10,000 Dodge Invitational, a pro-pro better ball golf tournament.

Harned and Bigham, the Northern Ohio PGA champion, toured the front nine in a four-under 32, then rolled home with a three-under 31. They bagged eight birdies, one bogey and nine pars over the Churchill Valley Country Club's hilly fairways.

Ray Grabosky of Philipsburg, Pa., and Frank Kiraly of Latrobe, Pa., teamed up for a 33-31—64 to gain a tie for second place with Joe Taylor of Charleston, W. Va., and Ed Furgol of the Westmoreland Country Club. Furgol, former U. S. Open champion and present Tri-State PGA king, and Taylor posted rounds of 32-32 for their second place tie.

Four teams were tied for third place with 65s. They were Dick Masterson of Johnstown, Pa., and Bob Batdorf of Reading 32-33; Howard Turner and Jerry Port, both of Philadelphia 33-32; Buddy Viar of St. Clair, Pa., and Bob Collins of Columbus, Ohio 34-31, and Carl Beljan, host pro, and his brother Willie, 34-31.

The final round will be played Thursday.

Clay-Moore Fight Date Rescheduled

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The heavyweight elimination bout between Archie Moore of San Diego, Calif., and Cassius Clay of Louisville, Ky., has been rescheduled for Thursday, Nov. 15, at the Los Angeles Sports Arena, matchmaker George Parnassus announced Tuesday.

The fight originally had been set for Oct. 23 in the outdoor Coliseum but a postponement was agreed upon last week in order to permit the Gene Fullmer-Dick Tiger middleweight championship bout to be held that night at San Francisco's Candlestick Park.

Dark Doesn't Think Alou Could Have Made It Home

Agrees With Whitey Lockman; Calls Tresh Catch Key Play

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — "No, I don't think Matty could have made it home on Willie Mays' double in the ninth. He would have been out."

Manager Alvin Dark thus echoed the sentiments of the Giants that Matty Alou couldnt' have scored from first on Mays' hit in the ninth inning as San Francisco lost 1-0 to the New York Yankees in Tuesday's finale of the World Series.

"That's the hardest line drive a guy can hit," Dark added of Willie McCovey's shot to second baseman Bobby Richardson that ended the game.

Proud Of His Giants

Asked how he felt, the Giants manager declared:

"I feel like this club had a great year. I'm as proud of them as I can be of them. They played just great."

The Giants dressed quietly and answered questions calmly.

Losing pitcher Jack Sanford sat glumly. Asked if he were missing with fast balls when he walked pitcher Ralph Terry in the fifth, leading to the Yankees' run, he snapped, "Certainly I was, why do you think I walked him?"

Walk Set Up Score

Sanford had struck out Terry six of seven times he had faced him previously. But the walk filled the bases and the run scored as the Giants executed a double play.

Third base coach Whitey Lockman said he held up Matty Alou in the ninth, "Because in my opinion, he couldn't have made it."

Alou was on first base when Mays rifled a double to the right field corner. Roger Maris, the Yankee right fielder, made a quick recovery and fired the ball to the infield--and Alou stopped at third. McCovey lined out to end the game two pitches later.

Dark complimented all his players and said, "Ralph Terry was tremendous for them. He pitched great."

Catch Was Key Play

Dark felt Tom Tresh's spectacular catch of Mays' drive to the left field corner had to be one of the key plays.

"He saved them a run, of course," Dark said, "but you don't know how it influenced the outcome. I've never seen such an even pair of clubs in the World Series."

Griffith, Wright Clash In Vienna For Boxing Title

VIENNA (UPI) — Welterweight champion Emile Griffith of New York and Teddy Wright of Detroit fight at Vienna's Stadthalle Wednesday night for the Austrian version of the new world junior middleweight championship.

Their scheduled 15-round bout is expected to attract almost a capacity 18,000 because their synthetic title bout will be bolstered by an eight-rounder between ex-welterweight and middleweight champion Sugar Ray Robinson and Diego Infantes, middleweight champion of Spain.

Griffith's world welterweight (147-pound) championship will not be at stake in this fight for the recently created junior-middle (154 - pound) championship because both he and Wright will weigh more than 147 pounds, each.

Griffith is guaranteed $20,000, with an option of 25 per cent of the net gate. Wright is expected to get between $8,000 and $10,000. Robinson reportedly will receive about $10,000.

TOPS OF YEAR—Never Bend, winner of the Futurity and Cowden stakes in New York, added the $125,000 Champagne event to his list of triumphs this year to grab top honors among the two-year-olds on the turf.

Foster To Sub For Zora Folley In Garden Bout

NEW YORK (UPI) — Undefeated Bob Foster of Washington, D.C., Tuesday was named to meet Doug Jones of New York in Saturday's nationally - televised heavyweight bout at Madison Square Garden.

Foster, who has won all 12 bouts as a professional, replaces Zora Folley of Chandler, Ariz., who withdrew from the fight because of a virus. Nine of Foster's victories have come on knockouts.

Jones, 26, has a record of 19 triumphs, 3 losses and one draw. He has lost two of three fights this year. Elven of his victories have been on kayoes.

Bruce Holds Beall To Scoreless Deadlock In WMI Soccer League

Mountaineers Tie Idle Valley For Loop Lead

Both Teams Have 2-0-2 Records; Mt. Savage Wins

WMI SOCCER LEAGUE
Standing of the Teams

Beall	2	0	2	6
Bruce	1	2	1	3
Mt. Savage	1	2	1	3
Flintstone	1	3	0	2

An opportunity for Beall High to move into undisputed possession of first place in the WMI Soccer League went by the boards yesterday when the scoreless tie by Bruce at Westernport.

Mt. Savage shut out Flintstone, 2-0, on the loser's home grounds in the other WMI game on the day's schedule, which rounded out first half play in the five-team league. Each team will meet the other four schools again in second half competition.

The schools will take a "breather" until next Tuesday, when Valley will travel to Mt. Savage and Flintstone will play Beall in Frostburg.

A victory yesterday afternoon would have moved Beall ahead of the idle Valley Black Knights, who have won a pair of games and have been tied twice. Instead, the lead is being shared by the Mountaineers and Knights.

Beall narrowly missed scoring just as the first half ended when Keith Price's free kick from about 40 yards out hit the top of the goal and bounced out.

The Bulldogs had ten shots at the goal to Beall's nine. The Mountaineers tried three corner kicks and Bruce attempted two.

Outstanding in the Bruce lineup were goalkeeper Charles Ferguson, Ken Blizzard, Irvin Bennett and freshman Jackie McIntyre who was making his first start for coach Leonard Ritchie's booters. Bruce played without the services of regular center forward Richard Bosley, who is performing this week with the All-State chorus. Beall's standouts were Goalie Charles Gray, Bill Diehl and Price.

After battling on even terms with Flintstone during the first half, Mt. Savage's Indians scored a pair of field goals in the third period and went on to record their first league win against two losses and a tie.

Bob Robertson, on a corner kick from Gary Barb, scored on a head shot, and Larry Birmingham accounted for the other goal on a direct corner kick.

Robertson, Ralph Wilson and Darrell Blank excelled for the Indians, while Carl Thomas and Don and Doug Kinton were outstanding for the losers.

Waterfield May Lose His Job

LOS ANGELES (AP—Owners of the winless Los Angeles Rams are considering replacing head coach Bob Waterfield, the Los Angeles Herald-Examiner said Tuesday in a copyrighted story.

There was no comment from the club's owners on the story.

Waterfield, rated the club's greatest all-round quarterback in his playing days, is in his third year of a 5-year contract.

The Rams have lost five games—two by 3 points, one by 4, one by 6 and one by 10.

Catamount Harriers Defeat Allegany Community College

ACC's Withrow Top Individual Runner In Meet

Potomac State College swept its home-and-home cross-country series with Allegany Community College yesterday afternoon by defeating the local harriers, 25-34, in a meet run over the Fort Cumberland Golf Course.

The first meeting between the two schools was during the halftime intermission of the Potomac State-Shepherd College football game in Keyser October 6. The Catamounts won that match by a wider margin.

Jan Withrow, a Fort Hill High School graduate representing Allegany Community College, crossed the finish line first in the time of 12:13, but the visiting Catamounts had the second, third, fifth, seventh and eighth finishers to win the meet on low point total.

A total of 16 runners competed in yesterday's match — eight for each school. Potomac State is coached by John D. Fox, versatile member of the school's physical education department who serves also as Catamount baseball mentor. Al Stockholm handles the reins at ACC, being represented in cross-country for the first time this year.

Here are the first twelve finishers in yesterday's meet:

1—Jan Withrow, Allegany
2—Williard Shears, Potomac
3—"Skeeter" Stridle, Potomac
4—Glenn Larnerd, Allegany
5—Ben Gay, Potomac
6—Sam Brehmn, Allegany
7—Richard Hudkins, Potomac
8—Ed Bean, Potomac
9—Pennez Pennino, Potomac
10—Court Smith, Potomac
11—Leon Snyder, Allegany
12—Warren White, Allegany

Tee Hemmis Is Winner At Dayton

Sets Hill Record In 3-Star Climb

Clarence "Tee" Hemmis made a sweep of both Class A events and established a new course record in the three-star motorcycle hill-climbing program held Sunday by the Miami Valley Motorcycle Club at Dayton, Ohio.

Hemmis captured the 74 cubic inch Class A test in 10.62 seconds, finishing ahead of Willard Bryan, Columbus, Ohio, who won the Canadian national title this month. Bryan's time was 10.89. Andy Baycura, Pittsburgh, was third in 11.46 and R. J. Nealon, Cleveland, came in fourth in 11.68 seconds.

The Cumberland slant riding star hung up a new hill record of 9.73 seconds in the 74 cubic inch expert event. The old mark of 10.95 was set by his brother Joe and was bettered several times on Sunday before "Tee" established a new low.

Joe Hemmis, who ran into clutch trouble in the first event, came back to take second place in the expert climb in 9.80 seconds. Glenn Kyle, Goshen, Ind., was third in 9.99 and Bryan finished fourth in 10.66.

Eleven riders participated in Class A.

Tom Reeser, Columbus, Ohio, and Vernon Lawler, Easton, Pa., won the Class B events.

Ladies Stage Final Tournament Of Year

The final ladies' tournament of the season — a blind bogey event —was staged yesterday at the Cumberland Country Club, with gal golfers competing in three divisions.

Mrs. Charles Helmrich was the winner in the "A" division, with a score of 113-40—73. Mrs. John Wilson, with a tally of 116-42—74, was the "B" winner, and Mrs. Jack Lucas won in the "C" group with 130-60—70.

Fort Hill, Rebels Have One More Hurdle To Clear Before "Game Of Year" Oct. 27

Both Capture Nine In Row; Owls And Cadets Next Foes

Fort Hill High School's Sentinels and South Hagerstown High School's Rebels have one more hurdle to clear before they clash in what looms as the "Game of the Year" here on Saturday, October 27.

Both schools are sailing along with 6-0 records and they'll be gunning for their seventh straight Friday night. And both teams boast 3-0 records in the Cumberland Valley Athletic League.

Herb Ruby's Westminster High School Owls come here Friday night to test Charley Lattimer's Sentinels who have never lost a football game to the Carroll Countians since their series started in 1951. In fact, Fort Hill will be gunning for its 12th consecutive victory over Westminster, victorious in four of six games this season.

Last Loss To Rebels

Fort Hill's last defeat came at the hands of South Hagerstown October 27, 1961, in a 6-0 battle in the Hub City and since that engagement the Sentinels have reeled off nine consecutive wins.

Coach Doug Cochran's Rebels also own a two-year victory skein of nine games, their last setback coming at the hands of Chambersburg (46-13) on October 7, 1961. South's High last defeat in the CVAL was dealt out by Westminster in the final game of the 1960 season and since that loss the Washington countians have chalked up nine victories in a row in the 7-school circuit. The Rebels went all the way last year to win their first league championship.

Friday night, Frederick's Cadets will test South High School in Frederick.

Keyser High School, gunning for its 13th Potomac Valley League championship in 26 years, and 3-0 this season, tackles Southern High School's Highlanders at Oakland Friday night.

Swept Seven Games

Coach Frederick "Tack" Clark's Golden Tornado has won seven consecutive games from the Garrett countians since the series was launched in 1955 and figures to make it eight in a row this week. Petersburg, Beall and Romney are the last three teams on the Keyser schedule.

Keyser, incidentally, boasts a nine-game victory string in the league. The Mineral countians have shut out Ridgeley, LaSalle and Moorefield this season.

Undefeated and once tied Mountaineer High School of Thomas-Davis must dispose of two more opponents — Franklin and St. Francis of Morgantown, to finish the campaign unbeaten. The Tucker countians play Franklin in Pendleton county Friday afternoon and visit the Trojans on November 2. Coach Stanley Sedmock's gridders are 6-0-1 to date and have yielded only 12 points while scoring 163.

Romney Tackles Vikings

Romney High's Pioneers, undefeated but tied once, tackle the Vikings at Petersburg in a P.V.C. game Friday. Wayne Barr's Vikings dropped their first four games of the season and are now on a three-game winning streak. Romney shared the title with Keyser last year and is 3-0-1 this season. The Pioneers have only one more league game after Petersburg and that's the big one with Keyser November 9.

In other Friday games, Ridgeley hopes to shake a 4-game losing streak when it meets the winless West Virginia School for the Deaf in a P.V.C. engagement at Romney, Moorefield hosts Musselman, Northern High's Huskies invade Berlin, Pa., Boonsboro visits Berkeley Springs, Charles Town entertains Martinsburg, Bridgeport is at Parsons, Bedford's Bisons visit Richland Township and Bruce High School plays Beall High's "B" eleven under the lights at Frostburg.

LaSalle and Allegany, both 1-3-1, collide in a Saturday night game while on Saturday afternoon at Keyser winless Potomac State engages Montgomery Junior College of Takoma Park, Md., in a homecoming tilt.

It will be homecoming day at Shepherdstown Saturday when Jesse Riggleman's Shepherd Rams face Concord College's Mountain Lions of Athens, W. Va.

Miami Is 6-Point Pick Over Maryland Friday

Texas, Ohio State, Alabama Favored In Saturday Contests

NEW YORK (UPI) — Top-ranked Texas was listed a 6-point favorite over Arkansas Tuesday in a rundown of odds on Saturday's big college football games, with Alabama and Ohio State picked in other key games.

Ohio State has been picked by 7 points over Northwestern, even though surprising unbeaten Northwestern vaulted into the No. 3 spot in the UPI national rankings this week while once-beaten Ohio State is ranked seventh.

East — Pitt 2 over UCLA, Navy 2 over Boston College, Holy Cross 2 over Dartmouth, Penn State 12 12 over Syracuse.

South — Florida State 1 over Georgia, South Carolina 5 over North Carolina, Georgia Tech 6 over Auburn, Virginia 8 over Wake Forest, Duke 7 over Clemson, Florida 21 over Vanderbilt, Louisiana State 14 over Kentucky.

Midwest — Michigan State 13 over Notre Dame, Purdue 7 over Michigan, Wisconsin 6 over Iowa, Kansas 6 over Oklahoma, Missouri 13 over Oklahoma State.

Southwest — Rice 7 over SMU, Texas Christian 7 over Texas A &M, Baylor 8 over Texas Tech.

West — Washington State 3 over Indiana, Washington 8 over Stanford, Oregon 9 over Air Force, Southern California 16 over California.

Detroit To Bid For 1968 Olympic Summer Games

CHICAGO (UPI) — The U. S. Olympic Committee (USOC) Tuesday authorized Detroit to bid for the 1968 Olympic summer games and Lake Placid, N.Y., to apply for the winter games.

Both Lake Placid and Detroit will make their formal applications for the games at the International Olympic Committee meeting in October, 1963, at Nairobi, Kenya.

Kenneth L. (Tug) Wilson of the USOC said he believed other major bidders for the summer games would be Lausanne, Switzerland, Mexico City, Buenos Aires and Vienna. He would not speculate on Detroit's chances.

Banff, Lake Louise, Canada, also is bidding for the 1968 winter games.

Salt Lake City, Utah, was the only other United States bidder for the winter games. Philadelphia, Portland, Ore., San Francisco and Los Angeles also bid for the summer games.

Los Angeles, in a statement issued by William M. Henry, criticized the choice of Detroit.

"Dear Old Pals" Sung By Fans At Bout In London

LONDON (AP)—Brian Curvis, British and Empire welterweight boxing champion, Tuesday night narrowly outpointed Guy Sumlin, of Mobile, Ala., in a 10-rounder that brought a mixture of boos and cheers from the crowd of 14,000.

The Associated Press had Curvis the winner 5-4-1.

Dodgers Will Make Announcement Today

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Los Angeles Dodgers said Tuesday they will make "an announcement of importance" at 10 a.m. (PDT) Wednesday. Presumably, the club will say then whether Manager Walter Alston and Coach Leo Durocher will be re-hired.

Alston's status has been uncertain since the Dodgers blew a four-game lead in the final week of the regular season and then lost the National League playoff series to the San Francisco Giants. There have also been reports that Durocher is in trouble as a result of a story that he second-guessed Alston after the final playoff game.

Beagle Club's AKC Trial Will Open Saturday

Judges Are Named For 4-Day Program

The Allegany Beagle Club will hold its 14th annual four-day American Kennel Club licensed field trial, Saturday, October 20 through Tuesday, October 23, at the Barton Dairy Farm, McMullen highway, it was announced last evening by Louis Stitcher, club secretary.

Judges for the trial will be Ivan Rhoads, St. Michael, Pa., and James Rager, Latrobe, Pa., with John Armstrong, of the host organization, as alternate judge.

Hounds will be measured each day between 7 and 8 a.m., and the drawings will be made at 8 p.m.

The owner of the winning hound in each class will recive a trophy and all place hounds, including next best qualified, will be presented rosettes.

Meals will be served each day at the club house.

The trials are open to the public.

The schedule:

Saturday, Oct. 20 — 13 inch females.

Sunday, Oct. 21—13 inch males.

Monday, Oct. 22 — 15 inch females.

Raider Coach Is Released

William Conkright Replaces Feldman

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—Marty Feldman was released Tuesday as head coach of the Oakland Raiders of the American Football League.

The announcement, by General Manager Wes Fry, said Feldman is being succeeded by William (Red) Conkright who has been on the staff as defensive line coach and has acted as director of player personnel for the Raiders.

Also released was Tom Kalmanir, offensive backfield coach.

The rest of the staff, which includes offensive line coach Ollie Spencer and defensive backfield coach Walt Michaels, have been retained, pending a decision by Conkright.

Conkright, 46, played in the National Football League for nine years — two with the Chicago Bears and seven with the Rams when that team was in Cleveland. He served as assistant coach for two years with the Cleveland Rams, a year with the Cleveland Browns, and three years with Buffalo in the old All-America Conference.

He played college football with University of Oklahoma.

Terry Outstanding Series Performer

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Ralph Terry of the New York Yankees Tuesday was named the winner of a 1963 Corvette automobile, annually presented by Sport Magazine to the outstanding World Series performer.

Terry won two World Series games, including Tuesday's 1-0 finale.

Players' Efforts To Clear Field Not Appreciated

BALTIMORE (AP) — Two softball players who removed an obstacle from the outfield have been scratched from the starting lineup.

Judge Meyer Cardin sentenced George W. Turner, 22, and William Ward Jr., 16, to one year each in the Maryland Institution for Males Tuesday after they admitted setting fire to an empty wartime housing building.

In a statement introduced into evidence, Turner, manager of the team, said the house sat across the whole outfield.

"Every time someone would hit the ball to the outfield, the ball would roll under the house or go into it through holes in the wall," the statement said.

Bruce Holds Beall To Scoreless Deadlock In WMI Soccer League

Mountaineers Tie Idle Valley For Loop Lead

Both Teams Have 2-0-2 Records; Mt. Savage Wins

WMI SOCCER LEAGUE
Standing of the Teams

	W.	L.	T.	Pts.
Valley	2	0	2	6
Beall	2	0	2	6
Bruce	1	2	1	3
Mt. Savage	1	2	1	3
Flintstone	1	3	0	2

An opportunity for Beall High to move into undisputed possession of first place in the WMI Soccer League went by the boards yesterday when the scoreless tie by Bruce at Westernport.

Mt. Savage shut out Flintstone, 2-0, on the loser's home grounds in the other WMI game on the day's schedule, which rounded out first half play in the five-team league. Each team will meet the other four schools again in second half competition.

The schools will take a "breather" until next Tuesday, when Valley will travel to Mt. Savage and Flintstone will play Beall in Frostburg.

A victory yesterday afternoon would have moved Beall ahead of the idle Valley Black Knights, who have won a pair of games and have been tied twice. Instead, the lead is being shared by the Mountaineers and Knights.

Beall narrowly missed scoring just as the first half ended when Keith Price's free kick from about 40 yards out hit the top of the goal and bounced out.

The Bulldogs had ten shots at the goal to Beall's nine. The Mountaineers tried three corner kicks and Bruce attempted two.

Outstanding in the Bruce lineup were goalkeeper Charles Ferguson, Ken Blizzard, Irvin Bennett and freshman Jackie McIntyre who was making his first start for coach Leonard Ritchie's booters. Bruce played without the services of regular center forward Richard Bosley, who is performing this week with the All-State chorus. Beall's standouts were Goalie Charles Gray, Bill Diehl and Price.

After battling on even terms with Flintstone during the first half, Mt. Savage's Indians scored a pair of field goals in the third period and went on to record their first league win against two losses and a tie.

Bob Robertson, on a corner kick from Gary Barb, scored on a head shot, and Larry Birmingham accounted for the other goal on a direct corner kick.

Robertson, Ralph Wilson and Darrell Blank excelled for the Indians, while Carl Thomas and Don and Doug Kinton were outstanding for the losers.

Waterfield May Lose His Job

LOS ANGELES (AP—Owners of the winless Los Angeles Rams are considering replacing head coach Bob Waterfield, the Los Angeles Herald-Examiner said Tuesday in a copyrighted story.

There was no comment from the club's owners on the story.

Waterfield, rated the club's greatest all-round quarterback in his playing days, is in his third year of a 5-year contract.

The Rams have lost five games —two by 3 points, one by 4, one by 6 and one by 10.

Catamount Harriers Defeat Allegany Community College

ACC's Withrow Top Individual Runner In Meet

Potomac State College swept its home-and-home cross-country series with Allegany Community College yesterday afternoon by defeating the local harriers, 25-34, in a meet run over the Fort Cumberland Golf Course.

The first meeting between the two schools was during the halftime intermission of the Potomac State-Shepherd College football game in Keyser October 6. The Catamounts won that match by a wider margin.

Jan Withrow, a Fort Hill High School graduate representing Allegany Community College, crossed the finish line first in the time of 12:13, but the visiting Catamounts had the second, third, fifth, seventh and eighth finishers to win the meet on low point total.

A total of 16 runners competed in yesterday's match — eight for each school. Potomac State is coached by John D. Fox, versatile member of the school's physical education department who serves also as Catamount baseball mentor. Al Stockholm handles the reins at ACC, being represented in cross-country for the first time this year.

Here are the first twelve finishers in yesterday's meet:

1—Jan Withrow, Allegany
2—Williard Shears, Potomac
3—"Skeeter" Stridle, Potomac
4—Glenn Larnerd, Allegany
5—Ben Gay, Potomac
6—Sam Brehmn, Allegany
7—Richard Hudkins, Potomac
8—Ed Bean, Potomac
9—Pennez Pennino, Potomac
10—Court Smith, Potomac
11—Leon Snyder, Allegany
12—Warren White, Allegany

Tee Hemmis Is Winner At Dayton

Sets Hill Record In 3-Star Climb

Clarence "Tee" Hemmis made a sweep of both Class A events and established a new course record in the three-star motorcycle hill-climbing program held Sunday by the Miami Valley Motorcycle Club at Dayton, Ohio.

Hemmis captured the 74 cubic inch Class A test in 10.62 seconds, finishing ahead of Willard Bryan, Columbus, Ohio, who won the Canadian national title this month. Bryan's time was 10.89. Andy Baycura, Pittsburgh, was third in 11.46 and R. J. Nealon, Cleveland, came in fourth in 11.68 seconds.

The Cumberland slant riding star hung up a new hill record of 9.73 seconds in the 74 cubic inch expert event. The old mark of 10.95 was set by his brother Joe and was bettered several times on Sunday before "Tee" established a new low.

Joe Hemmis, who ran into clutch trouble in the first event, came back to take second place in the expert climb in 9.80 seconds. Glenn Kyle, Goshen, Ind., was third in 9.99 and Bryan finished fourth in 10.66.

Eleven riders participated in Class A.

Tom Reeser, Columbus, Ohio, and Vernon Lawler, Easton, Pa., won the Class B events.

Ladies Stage Final Tournament Of Year

The final ladies' tournament of the season — a blind bogey event —was staged yesterday at the Cumberland Country Club, with gal golfers competing in three divisions.

Mrs. Charles Helmrich was the winner in the "A" division, with a score of 113-40—73. Mrs. John Wilson, with a tally of 116-42—74, was the "B" winner, and Mrs. Jack Lucas won in the "C" group with 130-60—70.

Fort Hill, Rebels Have One More Hurdle To Clear Before "Game Of Year" Oct. 27

Both Capture Nine In Row; Owls And Cadets Next Foes

Fort Hill High School's Sentinels and South Hagerstown High School's Rebels have one more hurdle to clear before they clash in what looms as the "Game of the Year" here on Saturday, October 27.

Both schools are sailing along with 6-0 records and they'll be gunning for their seventh straight Friday night. And both teams boast 3-0 records in the Cumberland Valley Athletic League.

Herb Ruby's Westminster High School Owls come here Friday night to test Charley Lattimer's Sentinels who have never lost a football game to the Carroll Countians since their series started in 1951. In fact, Fort Hill will be gunning for its 12th consecutive victory over Westminster, victorious in four of six games this season.

Last Loss To Rebels

Fort Hill's last defeat came at the hands of South Hagerstown October 27, 1961, in a 6-0 battle in the Hub City and since that engagement the Sentinels have reeled off nine consecutive wins.

Coach Doug Cochran's Rebels also own a two-year victory skein of nine games, their last setback coming at the hands of Chambersburg (46-13) on October 7, 1961. South's High last defeat in the CVAL was dealt out by Westminster in the final game of the 1960 season and since that loss the Washington countians have chalked up nine victories in a row in the 7-school circuit. The Rebels went all the way last year to win their first league championship.

Friday night, Frederick's Cadets will test South High School in Frederick.

Keyser High School, gunning for its 13th Potomac Valley League championship in 26 years, and 3-0 this season, tackles Southern High School's Highlanders at Oakland Friday night.

Swept Seven Games

Coach Frederick "Tack" Clark's Golden Tornado has won seven consecutive games from the Garrett countians since the series was launched in 1955 and figures to make it eight in a row this week. Petersburg, Beall and Romney are the last three teams on the Keyser schedule.

Keyser, incidentally, boasts a nine-game victory string in the league. The Mineral countians have shut out Ridgeley, LaSalle and Moorefield this season.

Undefeated and once tied Mountaineer High School of Thomas-Davis must dispose of two more opponents — Franklin and St. Francis of Morgantown, to finish the campaign unbeaten. The Tucker countians play Franklin in Pendleton county Friday afternoon and visit the Trojans on November 2. Coach Stanley Sedmock's gridders are 6-0-1 to date and have yielded only 12 points while scoring 163.

Romney Tackles Vikings

Romney High's Pioneers, undefeated but tied once, tackle the Vikings at Petersburg in a P.V.C. game Friday. Wayne Barr's Vikings dropped their first four games of the season and are now on a three-game winning streak. Romney shared the title with Keyser last year and is 3-0-1 this season. The Pioneers have only one more league game after Petersburg and that's the big one with Keyser November 9.

In other Friday games, Ridgeley hopes to shake a 4-game losing streak when it meets the winless West Virginia School for the Deaf in a P.V.C. engagement at Romney, Moorefield hosts Musselman, Northern High's Huskies invade Berlin, Pa., Boonsboro visits Berkeley Springs, Charles Town entertains Martinsburg, Bridgeport is at Parsons, Bedford's Bisons visit Richland Township and Bruce High School plays Beall High's "B" eleven under the lights at Frostburg.

LaSalle and Allegany, both 1-3-1, collide in a Saturday night game while on Saturday afternoon at Keyser winless Potomac State engages Montgomery Junior College of Takoma Park, Md., in a homecoming tilt.

It will be homecoming day at Shepherdstown Saturday when Jesse Riggleman's Shepherd Rams face Concord College's Mountain Lions of Athens, W. Va.

Miami Is 6-Point Pick Over Maryland Friday

Texas, Ohio State, Alabama Favored In Saturday Contests

NEW YORK (UPI) — Top-ranked Texas was listed a 6-point favorite over Arkansas Tuesday in a rundown of odds on Saturday's big college football games, with Alabama and Ohio State picked in other key games.

Texas and Arkansas were co-champions of the Southwest Conference last year. Texas is seeking its fifth victory of the current season.

Alabama, ranked No. 2 nationally, is a more solid 11-point favorite to gain its fifth win of the year at the expense of Tennessee.

Ohio State has been picked by 7 points over Northwestern, even though surprising unbeaten Northwestern vaulted into the No. 3 spot in the UPI national rankings this week while once-beaten Ohio State is ranked seventh.

Here are the odds on other leading games:

East — Pitt 2 over UCLA, Navy 2 over Boston College, Holy Cross 2 over Dartmouth, Penn State 12 12 over Syracuse.

South — Florida State 1 over Georgia, South Carolina 5 over North Carolina, Georgia Tech 6 over Auburn, Virginia 8 over Wake Forest, Duke 7 over Clemson, Florida 21 over Vanderbilt, Louisiana State 14 over Kentucky.

Midwest — Michigan State 13 over Notre Dame, Purdue 7 over Michigan, Wisconsin 6 over Iowa, Kansas 6 over Oklahoma, Missouri 13 over Oklahoma State.

Southwest — Rice 7 over SMU, Texas Christian 7 over Texas A &M, Baylor 8 over Texas Tech.

West — Washington State 3 over Indiana, Washington 8 over Stanford, Oregon 9 over Air Force, Southern California 16 over California.

Detroit To Bid For 1968 Olympic Summer Games

CHICAGO (UPI) — The U. S. Olympic Committee (USOC) Tuesday authorized Detroit to bid for the 1968 Olympic summer games and Lake Placid, N.Y., to apply for the winter games.

Both Lake Placid and Detroit will make their formal applications for the games at the International Olympic Committee meeting in October, 1963, at Nairobi, Kenya.

Kenneth L. (Tug) Wilson of the USOC said he believed other major bidders for the summer games would be Lausanne, Switzerland, Mexico City, Buenos Aires and Vienna. He would not speculate on Detroit's chances.

Banff, Lake Louise, Canada, also is bidding for the 1968 winter games.

Salt Lake City, Utah, was the only other United States bidder for the winter games. Philadelphia, Portland, Ore., San Francisco and Los Angeles also bid for the summer games.

Los Angeles, in a statement issued by William M. Henry, criticized the choice of Detroit.

"Dear Old Pals" Sung By Fans At Bout In London

LONDON (AP)—Brian Curvis, British and Empire welterweight boxing champion, Tuesday night narrowly outpointed Guy Sumlin, of Mobile, Ala., in a 10-rounder that brought a mixture of boos and cheers from the crowd of 14,000.

The spectators sang "Dear Old Pals" at one point because of the lack of action.

Sumlin was ranked No. 7 before the fight. Curvis weighed 145¾ pounds and Sumlin 147.

The Associated Press had Curvis the winner 5-4-1.

Dodgers Will Make Announcement Today

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Los Angeles Dodgers said Tuesday they will make "an announcement of importance" at 10 a.m. (PDT) Wednesday. Presumably, the club will say then whether Manager Walter Alston and Coach Leo Durocher will be re-hired.

Alston's status has been uncertain since the Dodgers blew a four-game lead in the final week of the regular season and then lost the National League playoff series to the San Francisco Giants. There have also been reports that Durocher is in trouble as a result of a story that he second-guessed Alston after the final playoff game.

Beagle Club's AKC Trial Will Open Saturday

Judges Are Named For 4-Day Program

The Allegany Beagle Club will hold its 14th annual four-day American Kennel Club licensed field trial, Saturday, October 20 through Tuesday, October 23, at the Barton Dairy Farm, McMullen highway, it was announced last evening by Louis Stitcher, club secretary.

Judges for the trial will be Ivan Rhoads, St. Michael, Pa., and James Rager, Latrobe, Pa., with John Armstrong, of the host organization, as alternate judge.

Hounds will be measured each day between 7 and 8 a.m., and the drawings will be made at 8 p.m.

The owner of the winning hound in each class will recive a trophy and all place hounds, including next best qualified, will be presented rosettes.

Meals will be served each day at the club house.

The trials are open to the public.

The schedule:

Saturday, Oct. 20 — 13 inch females.

Sunday, Oct. 21—13 inch males.

Monday, Oct. 22 — 15 inch females.

Raider Coach Is Released

William Conkright Replaces Feldman

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—Marty Feldman was released Tuesday as head coach of the Oakland Raiders of the American Football League.

The announcement, by General Manager Wes Fry, said Feldman is being succeeded by William (Red) Conkright who has been on the staff as defensive line coach and has acted as director of player personnel for the Raiders.

Also released was Tom Kalmanir, offensive backfield coach.

The rest of the staff, which includes offensive line coach Ollie Spencer and defensive backfield coach Walt Michaels, have been retained, pending a decision by Conkright.

Conkright, 46, played in the National Football League for nine years — two with the Chicago Bears and seven with the Rams when that team was in Cleveland. He served as assistant coach for two years with the Cleveland Rams, a year with the Cleveland Browns, and three years with Buffalo in the old All-America Conference.

He played college football with University of Oklahoma.

Terry Outstanding Series Performer

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Ralph Terry of the New York Yankees Tuesday was named the winner of a 1963 Corvette automobile, annually presented by Sport Magazine to the outstanding World Series performer.

Terry won two World Series games, including Tuesday's 1-0 finale.

Players' Efforts To Clear Field Not Appreciated

BALTIMORE (AP) — Two softball players who removed an obstacle from the outfield have been scratched from the starting lineup.

Judge Meyer Cardin sentenced George W. Turner, 22, and William Ward Jr., 16, to one year each in the Maryland Institution for Males Tuesday after they admitted setting fire to an empty wartime housing building.

In a statement introduced into evidence, Turner, manager of the team, said the house sat across the whole outfield.

"Every time someone would hit the ball to the outfield, the ball would roll under the house or go into it through holes in the wall," the statement said.

Two-Faced Doll

by Laura Wheeler

Fascinate a tot with this pretty, two-faced doll — so cuddly, such a clever gift.

Turn this topsy-turvy doll both ways — she goes to sleep, wakes up when child does! Pattern 807: transfer of doll; pattern; directions.

ADMINISTRATRIX' NOTICE
THIS IS TO GIVE NOTICE, That the subscriber has obtained from the Orphans' Court of Allegany County, Maryland, letters of Administration on the estate of Margaret Elizabeth Schade late of Allegany County, Maryland, deceased. All persons having claims against the deceased are hereby warned to exhibit the same, with the vouchers thereof duly authenticated, to the subscriber on or before the 28th day of March, 1963. They may otherwise by law be excluded from all benefit of the said estate. All persons knowing themselves indebted to said estate are requested to make immediate payment.
Given under my hand this 28th day of September, 1962.
Martha Mullen,
Administratrix,
507 Franklin Street,
Cumberland, Md.
Adv. N—Oct. 3-10-17-24.

NOTICE TO BIDDERS
Sealed bids will be received at the office of the City Clerk of Cumberland, Maryland, at the City Hall until 10 o'clock A. M., local time, October 29, 1962, on which date they will be publicly opened and read, for fencing to be furnished and erected at the Municipal Field located adjacent to the Treatment Plant.
Interested bidders may obtain specifications at the office of the Recreation Department, City Hall, Cumberland, Maryland.
The City will reserve the right to waive any formalities, and to reject any or all bids, and to accept any or all proposals which, in its judgement, may be to the best interests of the City.
All envelopes containing bids shall be plainly marked "Bids for Municipal Field Fencing."

School Board Hears Reports Of Supervisors

Pence Discusses Physical Fitness

For the first time in the more than 10 years that Ralph R. Webster has been superintendent of schools, the Allegany County Board of Education yesterday held its monthly meeting away from the board's office on Washington Street.

School board members had suggested meeting in one of the schools and yesterday's session, a three-hour meeting, was held at Parkside Elementary School in LaVale.

Three county supervisors met with the board members and discussed developments in their respective fields. Meeting with the board were Robert E. Pence, county supervisor of physical education, and Miss Elizabeth I. Flake and Margaret Doak, supervisors of elementary education.

Expanding Program

Mr. Pence stressed the county's expanding physical education program and the way it complies with President Kennedy's physical fitness committee. The committee's program aims to identify those who are physically underdeveloped, seeks to provide at least 15 minutes of vigorous daily exercise and has a valid fitness test in determining its program.

The supervisor of physical education said the program in Allegany County made a significant step forward this school year when four resource physical education teachers were named to work with fourth, fifth and sixth grade pupils. Previously, this work had to be done by the classroom teacher.

These four teachers are finding the underdeveloped children and are giving them the exercise they need.

Physical education is required in the junior high years but not in senior high school. As a result most of the high school emphasis is with the seventh,eighth and ninth graders. Only about 12 per cent of the senior high school students take physical education and another 10 per cent are involved in inter-scholastic athletics.

More Teachers

Mr. Pence would like to have more senior high school students engaged in physical education classes. To do that it would be necessary to provide more teachers and a longer school day to allow for a seventh period. He

Joint Meeting Is Planned By Sanitary Groups

Action Is Sought On County Basis

Two commissions dedicated to work toward a solution of Allegany County's water and sewage problems are slated to get together here next week.

Plans for the informal meeting of the Allegany County Sanitary Commission and the City-County Water and Sewage Commission were set in motion last night as the latter commission met in City Hall with Mayor Earl D. Chaney.

Tentative plans called for the meeting to be held here Monday.

The city-county commission headed by William A. Douglas, holding its third meeting, was briefed by Mayor Earl D. Chaney on negotiations held between the City of Cumberland and the LaVale Sanitary Commission on a proposal for treating LaVale sewage in the Cumberland plant.

The plant, the commission was told, is adequate to meet the estimated needs of Cumberland and the surrounding area, including LaVale and the Cresaptown area, until 1970.

Another meeting on the proposal is scheduled today.

C. R. Nuzum, city engineer, briefed the commission on an engineering study made for handling sewage in the Evitts Creek area.

The Commission stressed that it is anxious to work toward the coordination of the county's and sewage and water problems.

The meeting with the Sanitary Commission, was urged as the first step of a unified plan.

The top objective of the commission is to encourage solutions to the county's water sewage and water problems on a county-wide basis.

During the conference, J. Laughton Huffman was appointed secretary. Also attending were C. E. Stutzman, J. Carson Dowell, F. Perry Smith, Horace P. Whitworth Jr. and A. Trago Brust.

First Cooking School Session Attracts 1,650

New Staff Writer

Approximately 1,650 persons, including some 75 men attending last night's opening session of the Times-News Cooking School at the Strand Theater were treated to an evening of light entertainment plus the serious business of preparing food for properly balanced diets.

The standing room only audience was welcomed by Les Ford, master of ceremonies, who introduced Miss Ruth Hogan, lecturer, and Miss Patricia Turner, her assistant.

Ford and Duke Stern, professional magician, manager of the local OPO Clothing Store, combined forces for a lively magic act satiring the man's role as a chef. Stern also performed a solo act of magic wizardy for the huge audience.

Also on last night's schedule was the awarding a special opening session prize, a RCA-Victor Portable television set which was won by nine-year-old Patty Horwath 1600 Virginia Avenue.

Miss Hogan proved to be an entertaining lecturer as she demonstrated preparation of various cuts of meats and baked goods using lard. She maintained a terrific pace and dialogue as she worked with the assistance of Miss Turner preparing the food dishes and giving endless tips on cuts of meat, carving and measurements, and the proper use of kitchen equipment and cooking utensils.

She interrupted her work frequently during the evening to give surprise gifts to startled members of the audience.

Miss Hogan explained the importance of meat to a balanced diet. She said it takes 18 months to raise a meat producing animal while the homemaker can ruin it in 18 minutes by improper cooking.

A "Portraits Of Food" parade followed the lecture at which time all dishes prepared were awarded to members of the audience.

Prize Winners

Receiving the food dishes were Annette LaVelle, 218 Avirett Avenue, breaded pork steaks; Mrs. George Boch, RD 1, sunrise lamb chops; Mrs. Nellie Will, LaVale, ham and vegetable rarebit; Mrs. Zelma Isner, 7 Mary Street, veal Viennese; Mary McCabe, LaVale, highland cake; Ruth Iser, Ridgeley, liver and mushrooms; Mrs. Harry Yeager, 866 Sperry Terrace, Peach Princess bread pudding; Miss Joyia Rice, 162 North Mechanic Street, pot roast ala dill; Mrs. Dorothy Beal, RD 1, ribs of beef; Jean Mullan, 610 Fairview Avenue; Taylor meat thermometer; Geraldine Clark, RD 1, Hyndman, case of Seven-Up; Fern A. Brisson, RD 2, carving board; Mrs. George Keady, 215 Central Avenue, chip and dip plate.

Food baskets were received by Orpha Waiter, RD 1, Flintstone; Clara McCoy, RD 4; Mrs. Harry Davidson, 414 Furnace Street; Charlotte Lease, RD 1, Ridgeley; Mrs. Carl Dickle, Corriganville; Mary Grant, 825 Harvard Avenue; Mrs. H. M. Earle, 834 Green Street; Alice Barncord, LaVale; Annabelle Corrigan, LaVale; Mrs. Ida Lease, Midland, Lela Tenney, Ellerslie, and Mrs. T. G. Brook, 64 Greene Street.

During the course of today's program which begins at 1:30 p. m., Miss Hogan and Miss Turner will prepare the following nutrition-packed recipes; illustrating that a meal can be tasty and appealing as well as rating high on the nutritional scale: pot-roast caprice, apple crumb bread, beef biscuit squares, frosty pumpkinettes, tower veal salad, modern day pork roast, lamb shanks and zucchini, smoked pork shoulder butt, apricat glaze, cheese hashburgers, luncheon meat oriental, round steak superb,

Elks Name Charity Ball Committees

Event Planned For November 10

Committees were announced yesterday for the Informal Charity Ball Saturday, November 10, sponsored by Cumberland Lodge 63, B. P. O. Elks for the benefit of the Allegany County League for Crippled Children.

Tax Relief Forced, GOP Rally Is Told

Shinnamon Urges Engineering Unit

With increased revenues and self-created surpluses, the Democrat county commissioners had no alternative but to give some relief to the already burdened taxpayer, James W. Bishop, Republican candidate for county treasurer, said last night at a Republican rally in Westernport.

The meeting was attended by some 100 citizens of the Tri-Towns who met in the home of Victory Post No. 155, American Legion.

The commissioners, Mr. Bishop said, did not cut the tax rate 25 cents by reducing expenditures, as the current budget is $5,961,952, a 32 per cent increase over the $4,526,334 budget adopted four years ago.

Income from every source except horse racing, he said, has increased and new sources of state and federal revenue have been tapped while real estate and personal property assessments have increased $20 millions.

He said another factor in the "well timed" tax reduction is the manner in which unexpended cash balances are created and used to advantage in election years.

"No one possesses a magic formula for tax reductions," he said. All that is needed is to create a surplus by collecting too much money for a year or two and then, in election year, lower the rate and become the bosom friend of the taxpayer."

Louis V. Shinnamon, Republican candidate for County Commissioner, said experience he has gained in the conduct of the affairs of the county "convince me that an Engineering department is absolutely necessary."

He said the department is needed to help solve county problems in such areas as sewage disposal, water supply, road and bridge planning and construction, land subdivision and building construction.

People of LaVale, the Georges Creek area, Bedford Road and Cresaptown, he said, have sewage disposal problems which must be solved, and there are problems of supplying water to most communities.

Mr. Shinnamon said county funds are being spent for all sorts of projects but there is no guarantee that the public interest is served.

He said the formation of an Engineering Department is a pressing need, adding it will give

Sweeper Crews Busy As Leaves Tumble Down

Supplies Offered As Garden Mulch

Street Department sweepers are trying to maintain their regular schedule this fall as the leaves come tumbling down.

Mrs. Lucile Roeder, commissioner of streets and public property, said leaves are heavy this fall but that the crews have been keeping up, except during rainy spells.

Three men and one truck, she said, are assigned to follow the sweepers and pick up piles of leaves.

People can help, she said, by sweeping leaves to the curb, where they can be picked up by city crews.

As usual, people are being urged not to burn leaves on the streets, as the heat causes severe damage, especially where streets are surfaced with blacktop.

Those who would like to have leaves to mulch their gardens may get a supply for the asking by calling the Street Department Warehouse on Valley Street.

The sweeper schedule follows:

Monday — South Cumbrland, from River Avenue to the Wiley Ford Bridge.

Tuesday—Oldtown Road north to Hill Top Drive and all of the Park Street section.

Wednesday—all of East Side and North Cumberland.

Thursday — West Side, from Mountain View Drive to north of Greene Street.

Friday—south of Greene Street to the Kelly-Springfield Tire plant.

Credit Union Loans Total $5,002,247

The Local 676, UPA-CIO Federal Credit Union, serving 2,173 employes of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Co. in Luke has made 13,733 loans to its members amounting to $5,002,247, according to S. J. Domenick, managing director of the Maryland Credit Union League, Inc.

Total assets on September 30 amounted to $1,148,012 while loans outstanding to members numbered 1,089 for a total of $1,128,971.

The credit union is the 15th largest of the State's 214 credit unions. Total reserves amounted to $41,260.

The president of the credit union is Melvin Foley and the treasurer is Ernest C. Hitt.

It is operating on North Main Street in Westernport and contemplates a permanent buliding in the near future.

Rawlings Man Hurt As Truck Snaps Off Pole

A Rawlings man was admitted to Memorial Hospital late Monday night after the pickup truck he was driving crashed on U. S. 220 about 3.3 miles south of Cresaptown.

He is Clarence Wilbur Shook, 51, who was admitted for sutures and X-rays.

State Police said Shook, driving south, attempted to pass an unidentified motorist and lost control of the truck, which ran off the east side of the highway.

The vehicle snapped off a utility pole and continued on and struck a house before coming to rest against a tree.

Tfc. J. H. Sweitzer investigated.

Court Of Honor Is Conducted

Boy Scout Troop 13, sponsored by First Presbyterian Church, held a Court of Honor last night at the church. Albert Tosh, institutional representative, introduced Rev. Emil Teyssier, who gave the invocation.

Scoutmaster James McGee invested William Nichols, John Stahl and Darrell Hankins into the troop, and James Stein, advancement chairman, awarded second class pins to Walter Chinnault and Donald Norris.

Steven Day was presented a Star Scout pin by Mr. Stein. Merit badges were awarded by Mr. Witt, camping and activities chairman and Melvin Dean, assistant scoutmaster. Receiving badges were Steven Day, Arthur Witt, James Stein Jr., Woodrow Dodril, Jerry Derryberry, Rickie Wiesenmiller and Pat Foley.

Willard Miller, committee secretary, introduced Joseph Minke, district game warden, who showed a film on wildlife.

John Derryberry, finance chairman, announced the sale of Christmas candles as a fund raising plan for the troop Light refreshments were served and the meeting closed with the "Good Night Circle."

Democrats Say Small's Charge Missed Mark

By The Associated Press

A charge made by Republican Frank Small Jr. and aimed at Democratic Gov. Tawes missed the mark, the statewide Democratic chairman said Tuesday night. Instead, he said, the broadside struck another Republican.

" . . . The GOP candidate for governor charged that there was some sort of deal involved in the sale of the land on which the new Department of Motor Vehicles is located," explained Herbert R. O'Conor Jr.

"The committee appointed to select the site for the motor vehicles building," O'Conor said, "was not appointed by Gov. Tawes. Rather, it was appointed by the previous Republican governor, Theodore R. McKeldin.

"Now, it seems to me," the Democratic leader added, "the Republican candidate for governor is stuck with a charge which was aimed at a Democrat but struck a Republican."

O'Conor cited Small's charge during a speech before the City-County Democratic Club in Baltimore.

"I have no doubt whatsoever that the GOP candidate for governor is aware that his charges are untrue," O'Conor said. "It is not his motive to put forth the truth."

O'Conor said that because of such charges, the Democratic ticket headed by Gov. Tawes is conducting a defensive campaign. "This is not a choice that we made," he said, "it is a choice forced upon us by circumstances."

Carlton R. Sickles, candidate for congressman-at-large on the Tawes ticket, reiterated his support of the Kennedy Administration's medical care and federal aid to education proposals in a speech prepared for a television appearance.

Sickles also said that his opponent, Republican Newton I. Steers, was not an experienced legislator. "He has never been elected to any public office," Sickles said.

On federal aid to education, the Democratic nominee said:

"I understand that my opponent is timid about federal aid to education—worried about federal control. Many millions of us were able to get our education because of a form of federal aid to education called the G. I. Bill of Rights.

"I received my legal education between wars under the G. I. Bill. But no federal control was exercised over my college, or over any other college that offered training under the G. I. Bill—and this is proof positive that you can have federal aid to education without federal control."

Ford and Duke Stern, professional magician, manager of the local OPO Clothing Store, combined forces for a lively magic act satiring the man's role as a chef. Stern also performed a solo act of magic wizardy for the huge audience.

Also on last night's schedule was the awarding a special opening session prize, a RCA-Victor Portable television set which was won by nine-year-old Patty Horwath 1600 Virginia Avenue.

Miss Hogan proved to be an entertaining lecturer as she demonstrated preparation of various cuts of meats and baked goods using lard. She maintained a terrific pace and dialogue as she worked with the assistance of Miss Turner preparing the food dishes and giving endless tips on cuts of meat, carving and measurements, and the proper use of kitchen equipment and cooking utensils.

She interrupted her work frequently during the evening to give surprise gifts to startled members of the audience.

Miss Hogan explained the importance of meat to a balanced diet. She said it takes 18 months to raise a meat producing animal while the homemaker can ruin it in 18 minutes by improper cooking.

A "Portraits Of Food" parade followed the lecture at which time all dishes prepared were awarded to members of the audience.

Prize Winners

Receiving the food dishes were Annette LaVelle, 218 Avirett Avenue, breaded pork steaks; Mrs. George Boch, RD 1, sunrise lamb chops; Mrs. Nellie Will, LaVale, ham and vegetable rarebit; Mrs. Zelma Isner, 7 Mary Street, veal Viennese; Mary McCabe, LaVale, highland cake; Ruth Iser, Ridgeley, liver and mushrooms; Mrs. Harry Yeager, 866 Sperry Terrace, Peach Princess bread pudding; Miss Joyia Rice, 162 North Mechanic Street, pot roast ala dill; Mrs. Dorothy Beal, RD 1, ribs of beef; Jean Mullan, 610 Fairview Avenue; Taylor meat thermometer; Geraldine Clark, RD 1, Hyndman, case of Seven-Up; Fern A. Brisson, RD 2, carving board; Mrs. George Keady, 215 Central Avenue, chip and dip plate.

Food baskets were received by Orpha Waiter, RD 1, Flintstone; Clara McCoy, RD 4; Mrs. Harry Davidson, 414 Furnace Street; Charlotte Lease, RD 1, Ridgeley; Mrs. Carl Dickle, Corriganville; Mary Grant, 825 Harvard Avenue; Mrs. H. M. Earle, 834 Green Street; Alice Barncord, LaVale; Annabelle Corrigan, LaVale; Mrs. Ida Lease, Midland, Lela Tenney, Ellerslie, and Mrs. T. G. Brook, 64 Greene Street.

During the course of today's program which begins at 1:30 p. m., Miss Hogan and Miss Turner will prepare the following nutrition-packed recipes; illustrating that a meal can be tasty and appealing as well as rating high on the nutritional scale: pot-roast caprice, apple crumb bread, beef biscuit squares, frosty pumpkinettes, tower veal salad, modern day pork roast, lamb shanks and zucchini, smoked pork shoulder butt, apricat glaze, cheese hashburgers, luncheon meat oriental, round steak superb,

Tax Relief Forced, GOP Rally Is Told

Shinnamon Urges Engineering Unit

With increased revenues and self-created surpluses, the Democrat county commissioners had no alternative but to give some relief to the already burdened taxpayer, James W. Bishop, Republican candidate for county treasurer, said last night at a Republican rally in Westernport.

The meeting was attended by some 100 citizens of the Tri-Towns who met in the home of Victory Post No. 155, American Legion.

The commissioners, Mr. Bishop said, did not cut the tax rate 25 cents by reducing expenditures, as the current budget is $5,961,952, a 32 per cent increase over the $4,526,334 budget adopted four years ago.

Income from every source except horse racing, he said, has increased and new sources of state and federal revenue have been tapped while real estate and personal property assessments have increased $20 millions.

He said another factor in the "well timed" tax reduction is the manner in which unexpended cash balances are created and used to advantage in election years.

"No one possesses a magic formula for tax reductions," he said. All that is needed is to create a surplus by collecting too much money for a year or two and then, in election year, lower the rate and become the bosom friend of the taxpayer."

Louis V. Shinnamon, Republican candidate for County Commissioner, said experience he has gained in the conduct of the affairs of the county "convince me that an Engineering department is absolutely necessary."

He said the department is needed to help solve county problems in such areas as sewage disposal, water supply, road and bridge planning and construction, land subdivision and building construction.

People of LaVale, the Georges Creek area, Bedford Road and Cresaptown, he said, have sewage disposal problems which must be solved, and there are problems of supplying water to most communities.

Mr. Shinnamon said county funds are being spent for all sorts of projects but there is no guarantee that the public interest is served.

He said the formation of an Engineering Department is a pressing need, adding it will give

Sweeper Crews Busy As Leaves Tumble Down

Supplies Offered As Garden Mulch

Street Department sweepers are trying to maintain their regular schedule this fall as the leaves come tumbling down.

Mrs. Lucile Roeder, commissioner of streets and public property, said leaves are heavy this fall but that the crews have been keeping up, except during rainy spells.

Three men and one truck, she said, are assigned to follow the sweepers and pick up piles of leaves.

People can help, she said, by sweeping leaves to the curb, where they can be picked up by city crews.

As usual, people are being urged not to burn leaves on the streets, as the heat causes severe damage, especially where streets are surfaced with blacktop.

Those who would like to have leaves to mulch their gardens may get a supply for the asking by calling the Street Department Warehouse on Valley Street.

The sweeper schedule follows:

Monday — South Cumbrland, from River Avenue to the Wiley Ford Bridge.

Tuesday—Oldtown Road north to Hill Top Drive and all of the Park Street section.

Wednesday—all of East Side and North Cumberland.

Thursday — West Side, from Mountain View Drive to north of Greene Street.

Friday—south of Greene Street to the Kelly-Springfield Tire plant.

Two Plead Guilty To Burglary Charge

Robert Lee Kerns, 21, and John Mark Riggleman, 22, both of Green Spring, W. Va., pleaded guilty to the first count of a criminal information charging that they broke into Long's Sunoco Service Station, Park and Williams streets, on September 1 from which $38.29 was taken.

They pleaded guilty to burglary but not guilty to petit larceny and receiving stolen goods, the other two counts in the criminal information. These were dismissed on motion of Donald W. Mason, assistant state's attorney.

The two West Virginians were represented by Attorney Fred H. Anderson, court-appointed. They were returned to the County Jail pending an investigation and report from James E. Lewis, parole and probation officer.

Rawlings Man Hurt As Truck Snaps Off Pole

A Rawlings man was admitted to Memorial Hospital late Monday night after the pickup truck he was driving crashed on U. S. 220 about 3.3 miles south of Cresaptown.

He is Clarence Wilbur Shook, 51, who was admitted for sutures and X-rays.

State Police said Shook, driving south, attempted to pass an unidentified motorist and lost control of the truck, which ran off the east side of the highway.

The vehicle snapped off a utility pole and continued on and struck a house before coming to rest against a tree.

Tfc. J. H. Sweitzer investigated.

By The Associated Press

A charge made by Republican Frank Small Jr. and aimed at Democratic Gov. Tawes missed the mark, the statewide Democratic chairman said Tuesday night. Instead, he said, the broadside struck another Republican.

". . . The GOP candidate for governor charged that there was some sort of deal involved in the sale of the land on which the new Department of Motor Vehicles is located," explained Herbert R. O'Conor Jr.

"The committee appointed to select the site for the motor vehicles building," O'Conor said, "was not appointed by Gov. Tawes. Rather, it was appointed by the previous Republican governor, Theodore R. McKeldin.

"Now, it seems to me," the Democratic leader added, "the Republican candidate for governor is stuck with a charge which was aimed at a Democrat but struck a Republican."

O'Conor cited Small's charge during a speech before the City-County Democratic Club in Baltimore.

"I have no doubt whatsoever that the GOP candidate for governor is aware that his charges are untrue," O'Conor said. "It is not his motive to put forth the truth."

O'Conor said that because of such charges, the Democratic ticket headed by Gov. Tawes is conducting a defensive campaign. "This is not a choice that we made," he said, "it is a choice forced upon us by circumstances."

Carlton R. Sickles, candidate for congressman-at-large on the Tawes ticket, reiterated his support of the Kennedy Administration's medical care and federal aid to education proposals in a speech prepared for a television appearance.

Sickles also said that his opponent, Republican Newton I. Steers, was not an experienced legislator. "He has never been elected to any public office," Sickles said.

On federal aid to education, the Democratic nominee said:

"I understand that my opponent is timid about federal aid to education—worried about federal control. Many millions of us were able to get our education because of a form of federal aid to education called the G. I. Bill of Rights.

"I received my legal education between wars under the G. I. Bill. But no federal control was exercised over my college, or over any other college that offered training under the G. I. Bill—and this is proof positive that you can have federal aid to education without federal control."
